The staff of the oldest hospital in the United States feel it necessary to express a desire that no bills be passed which would in any way interfere with the present efficient supervision of medical practice in the State of Pennsylvania. We feel a loosening of the present efficient laws to permit unlicensed individuals to continue to practice and serve in unapproved hospitals would be a step backward.

It is our sincere hope that the opinion of the Medical Board be made known to the members of the Senate.

Yours very truly

SAMUEL B. HADDEN, Secretary

The PRESIDENT. Further communication from the County of Allegheny, which will be read by the Clerk and spread upon the Journal:

To the Honorable, The Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania
Gentleman:

Again answering your proposal to amend the Act of 1938 which provided for the State assumption of Mental Indigents, we feel that this legislation discriminates against Allegheny County as evidenced by the following:

The Board of County Commissioners of Allegheny County vigorously opposes the enactment of the proposed legislation providing for a maintenance charge of $2.50 weekly per capita for the 2,341 mental indigent residents in the Woodville Institution.

The Board feels that this proposal is an unjust discrimination against the taxpayers of Allegheny County who will have to bear this burden by paying increased taxes. Not only is this proposed maintenance charge vicious class legislation but it also violates the spirit and intent of the legislature of 1938 which when it passed Act No. 21 provided for complete assumption of the mental hospitals.

Since the passage of this Act the history to date has been one rebuff after another with the real estate taxpayer being the loser. In 1939 an amendment to Act No. 21 provided for a two year deferment which upset the County's Budget and compelled the Commissioners to borrow one-half million dollars for the maintenance of these mental indigents.

To amend this legislation again, the real estate taxpayers of Allegheny County would be faced with an annual tax bill of 300 Thousand Dollars, despite the fact that the State now owns loc', stock and barrel our Woodville Mental Hospital originally paid for by the real estate taxpayers of Allegheny County.

For the Governor's information and for the benefit of the Legislature, the Board of County Commissioners would like to present the taxpayers' side of this proposed legislation.

The County taxpayers have an investment of over 8½ millions of dollars in the lands, buildings and equipment at Woodville. Of this amount there are bonds outstanding in the amount of $2,021,000 which the taxpayers of Allegheny County must pay off. Under the terms of the 1938 Act the title of the land and buildings are vested in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania despite the fact that the taxpayers must pay off these bonds.

Summing up, therefore, the State is not only taking over our modern buildings but also 30 thousand dollars worth of livestock plus 925 thousand dollars worth of furniture and furnishings.

Another item that should be considered is the unique set-up of our Allegheny County Institution District. Ours is one of the few institution districts in the State that is turning over to the State a Mental Hospital. The majority of the State's other 66 counties never provided for mental hospitals and consequently have none to turn over to the State, and yet under this proposed legislation it is contended that Allegheny County should pay the same as any other county despite the fact that we are turning over an 8½ million dollar plant to the State. We leave this to any fair-minded person that this is not being fair and equitable to the taxpayers of Allegheny County.

We think that the General Assembly should retain the spirit and intent of the 1938 Legislature which provided for complete State assumption of the costs of maintaining mental indigents and defeat this discriminatory and unfair proposal.

Yours very truly,

JOHN J. KANE,

Chairman Board of County Commissioners

The PRESIDENT. The communication will be referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire permission to address the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection the gentleman from Cambria will proceed.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, last Tuesday there was considerable discussion on this floor with reference to Resolution No. 118, pertaining to insurance that must be assigned by relief recipients before relief can be granted. I desire to ask the gentleman from Allegheny whether since that date he has had an opportunity to notice a release in practically all the papers, entitled: "Lift Aid Rule on Insurance" It further states "Relief recipients no longer limited to five hundred dollars, Russel announced."

Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman from Allegheny whether he has had an opportunity to read that statement in the papers.

Mr. GELTZ. I have not, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. The gentleman from Allegheny has not read that statement?

Mr. GELTZ. No, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Has the gentleman from Allegheny had an opportunity to read a letter dated June 11, 1941, sent to the Honorable Charles A. P. Bartlett, signed by Frank A. Robbins, Jr., Chairman of the State Board of Public Assistance on the same subject?

Mr. GELTZ. I have, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, in paragraph number 2, I might read the following, which appears at about the middle of the paragraph, stating:

"It was the opinion of each member of the State Board that a regulation allowing every member of an assistance family to have $1000 worth of insurance would raise a question as to the true assistance needs of such applicants or recipients." Can the gentleman from Allegheny state whether or not that corresponds with Resolution No. 118?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I do not recall the provisions of Resolution No. 118. I should think my colleague from Cambria would be able to take the resolution, if he is interested, and take that section of the letter, compare the two and answer the question himself.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I have knowledge of that, but I am wondering whether the gentleman from Allegheny has that knowledge.

Mr. GELTZ. The answer, Mr. President, is no, I have not.

Mr. HALUSKA. However, Mr. President, the gentleman from Allegheny does realize that last Tuesday I tried to put him in a position to have full knowledge of this matter, did I not?

Mr. GELTZ. I do not know. Did the gentleman?

Mr. HALUSKA. I offered a resolution asking for this information, and the record shows that the gentleman from Allegheny seriously objected to my resolution receiving any consideration in this matter.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I do not think the record shows anything like that at all. I did object to consideration of a resolution, which was attempted to be introduced by the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Haluska, because of the whereas clauses in the resolution, which we felt did not set forth the situation as it really exists, whereupon there was later introduced, I think, a summary or a redraft of the resolution, and I believe that went to the committee where it should have gone, although I am not sure.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, since the gentleman from Allegheny has no knowledge of the contents of this letter in connection with the resolution, I shall briefly outline it, but before I do that, I would like to ask the gentleman another question.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, can the gentleman from Allegheny tell me whether or not the Department of Public Assistance makes any allowance toward the payment of insurance to those who are receiving aid?

Mr. GELTZ. I do not understand that question, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, does the Department of Public Assistance allow in a weekly budget any additional sums of money to the relief recipients of this Commonwealth to enable them to pay for the insurance policies which they now hold?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, does my colleague from Cambria mean, does the Department of Public Assistance give relievers enough additional money to pay their insurance premiums?

Mr. HALUSKA. I am asking whether they give any at all, Mr. President.

Mr. GELTZ. I have not any idea, but I should hope not, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. And the gentleman from Allegheny sees no good reason, due to the fact a person might have seven hundred dollars of insurance rather than five hundred, that they should pay any money whatsoever toward the payment of that premium?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, the Senator from Cambria appears to have a letter under date of June 11, 1941, about which he originally interrogated me, signed by one Frank A. Robbins, Jr., and I think, instead of taking up a lot of time endeavoring to possibly make the newspapers through a speech on the floor of the Senate here, he should read that letter and study that letter, and he would then have some understanding of what the situation is today. The letter goes on to state that they went even further than was suggested in the resolution about which Senator Haluska is talking, in connection with the raising of insurance from five hundred to one thousand dollars. It goes on to state that they did not set any ceiling on the amount of insurance which a reliever carries, so long as he will make an assignment of the excess to cover the relief payments which he secures.

Mr. HALUSKA. Is it not a fact, Mr. President, under this ruling, that any person carrying insurance upwards of five hundred dollars must assign the balance in behalf of the Department of Public Assistance; is that not correct?

Mr. GELTZ. I do not think the letter states that, Mr. President. My understanding of the letter is that enough of the excess over five hundred dollars to cover relief payments must be assigned, but the excess above that need not be, and there is no ceiling on that excess, if I understand this letter correctly, although I just read it very hurriedly.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I want to get that last remark straight. Did I understand the gentleman from Allegheny to say a relief recipient need not assign anything in excess of five hundred dollars to the Department of Public Assistance; is that the remark of the gentleman from Allegheny?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I endeavored to state that whatever excess there is above five hundred dollars carried by a relief recipient does not need to be canceled, revoked or turned in, but only some part of that excess need to be assigned, and that part which needs to be assigned is that which is necessary to cover the relief grants which the relief recipient has received.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I might state that any person receiving relief must assign the entire amount in excess of five hundred dollars for repayment of any monies he receives to the Department of Public Assistance, the entire amount above five hundred dollars, not a portion of it.

Now, Mr. President, since the gentleman from Allegheny has not seen the release in the papers, and since he has asked me to compare this letter with the resolution that I introduced some time ago and which was passed by both Houses, I would like to quote the second paragraph of this letter which reads as follows:

"The responsibility of the State Board of Public Assistance is quite extensive, since the regulations adopted by it establish eligibility for assistance and the nature and extent of such eligibility. This responsibility is placed upon the State Board of Public Assistance by section 2504-A of Act No. 395 of 1937."

Mr. President, I have before me the laws of 1937, I have before me Act No. 395, and I have before me section 2504-A.

I would like to ask any of my colleagues to point out to me where section 2504-A gives the Department of Public Assistance any right whatsoever to make such rules and regulations under that section. It is a false report, and nothing in section 2504-A gives them that right.

Consequently, Mr. President, this afternoon I did call up the Department of Public Assistance. Mr. Russell was not in. I talked to Dr. Bowman and he tried to make me believe that resolution, serial 118, would permit every member of a family, as outlined in his letter that now appears on each Senator's desk, the sum of one thousand dollars insurance coverage. Mr. President, if you read that resolution, the wording is entirely different, and I read the resolution over the telephone to Dr. Bowman and he agreed very modestly that some one had erred. He agreed, after the board met, that they were of the firm opinion that under my resolution every member of a family would be permitted to carry the sum of one thousand dollars in life insurance, but after reading it the second time, which was this afternoon, he said they have made an error, and that they would call another meeting of the board, and he was hopeful, although he could not speak for the board, that the board might reconsider their action as stated in this letter of June 11th. So, Mr. President, that is the information that I tried to bring before this body last Tuesday, and now I am going to wait a few days hoping the board might meet this week. If they do not meet, of course further action must be taken by this Senate, because I am of the firm belief that this entire Senate, having passed this resolution without a negative vote, and the House having passed it, that they were sincere in their request that the Department of Public Assistance would grant relief to those people who are in need, without compelling them to cancel any policy under the principal sum of one thousand dollars. So, Mr. President, being hopeful that the board might meet, I will await further action.

REPORT OF PENNSYLVANIA WORLD FAIR COMMISSION

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to make a report of the Pennsylvania World's Fair Commission, if it is permissible.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection, the gentleman from Lackawanna may proceed.

Mr. COLEMAN. As Acting Chairman of the Pennsylvania World's Fair Commission, I desire to report to the Senate a summary of the history of the Commission and its accomplishments in the handling of Pennsylvania's participation in the New York World's Fair in 1939 and 1940.

When the New York World's Fair was decided upon to commemorate the 150th Anniversary of the Inauguration of George Washington, it occurred to me that our state ought to participate in the Fair in a fashion commensurate with the importance of the Commonwealth. I sponsored the legislation as a member of the House creating a Commission to handle Pennsylvania's participation.

Through Act 546, which was approved on the second day of July, 1937, by Governor George H. Earle, a State World's Fair Commission of five was created, and an appropriation of $75,000 was allocated to the Commission. It provided that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should participate in the New York World's Fair of 1939 and that a proper building should be erected in which all exhibits should show historic, scenic, industrial, scientific and agricultural advantages of Pennsylvania.

It was my belief that we ought to have the type of exhibit that would show that Pennsylvania had everything from the cradle of American democracy in Philadelphia to the bustling industrial life of Scranton and Pittsburgh; likewise it should show the natural resources, entrancing scenery and alluring vistas.

It was quite obvious that the money appropriated was not sufficient to carry out the plan of the commission in having an exhibit in keeping with the dignity of the Commonwealth. On the tenth day of February, 1939, an additional sum of $312,000 was allocated to the World's Fair Commission.

When the World's Fair Corporation announced its decision to open for a second year the Commission felt that it would be appropriate to reopen the Pennsylvania Building, as only very minor repairs would be necessary to put it in perfect condition. Since the State World's Fair Commission's appropriations were so nearly exhausted, it was necessary to appeal to several hundred industries, associations, and organizations in Pennsylvania, asking for their cooperation in order to reopen and maintain the building for a second year. The funds so raised amounted to $65,722.20. I am happy to report that after the close of the World's Fair, in 1940, it was possible to refund to the contributors $13,827.51 which represented a return of 21 per cent of the money collected.

The Pennsylvania Building had one of the outstanding locations in the Fair, as it spanned the Flushing River and on one side stood at the head of the Court of States, and on the other commanded a magnificent view of the Court of Peace and the Lagoon of Nations. The foreign area was entered from one wing of the Pennsylvania Building, and from the other wing the commercial and industrial section was entered. The amusement area started at the base of the Court of States.

The architecture of the building conformed to the lines of the most famous building in America, but it was not a replica of Independence Hall as the Pennsylvania Building was designed to house a modern exhibit.

The architects of the building were Walter Gropius and Marcel Breuer, and their aim was to graphically present the rich background and heritage of Pennsylvania, to show the growth of culture and science and industry and achievement today; the Keystone State.

The large exhibit was divided into three parts, the Hall of Tradition, the Hall of Progress, and the Hall of Democracy.

Since the history of the United States emanates like the rays of the sun from Pennsylvania, the Keystone State, it was only fitting that those days and events centering in Pennsylvania which concerned the birth of the colonies and the freedom of the states from England, as well as Pennsylvania's advances in culture and the sciences, should be high-lighted in the ten sections of the Hall of Tradition. To symbolize the slow but measured start of time, and its ceaseless advance and momentum, a pendulum swung in front of a wall of midnight blue glass, and from there the history of Pennsylvania spread itself throughout the Hall of Tradition.

The Hall of Progress, through the medium of illuminated and moving drums and dioramas, showed Pennsylvania's contemporary industries, commerce, and culture; her place in the nation and in the world.

The Hall of Democracy depicted Pennsylvania as a unit.

Entering from the Court of States one passed under an enlarged reproduction of the Liberty Bell, this emphasizing the architectural theme of the Building. Immediately beyond the Bridge of Unity, which stretched across the interior of the exhibit, was a photo-mural, covering the whole wall, 30 x 90 feet; a composite photograph taken in Pennsylvania's 67 counties.

The millions of visitors who came to the Pennsylvania Building and enjoyed its hospitality and its facilities, have spread good will, nation wide, for the Keystone State. Appreciation of Pennsylvania is growing within her own borders, and many Pennsylvanians discovered Pennsylvania at their World's Fair Building in 1939 and 1940.

Instead of a mental picture of Pennsylvania as a huge coal mine, edged with steel and history, visitors left the Fair with a realization of the importance of Pennsylvania for its diversity and culture, as well as a knowledge of its beauty and many resources.

In 1939 approximately 465,000 pieces of literature were distributed and in 1940 more than 750,000 pieces. The various Departments of the Commonwealth showed a fine spirit of cooperation in furnishing material for distribution to the visitors to the building.

It is pleasant to note that the building which represented our participation in the World's Fair in both 1939 and 1940 opened and closed on the same day as the Fair and was open every day during the two years of the exhibit.

In 1939, according to the statistics of the New York World's Fair Corporation, more than seven million persons visited the Pennsylvania building, more than visited any other building in the Court of States. In 1940 it was estimated by the World's Fair corporation that 18 per cent of all those attending the Fair came from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and was exceeded only by the number from the states of New York and New Jersey.

According to the same source, 28 per cent of the entire World's Fair attendance in 1940 visited the Pennsylvania Building, the total attendance at the Building for the two years was more than 12 million people.

The members of the Legislature and cabinet and other officials made the Pennsylvania Building their headquarters at the Fair.

This report is not intended to give a detailed account of the benefits derived from Pennsylvania's participation in the great show. The commission has in the process of preparation a detailed report, including a history of the exhibit from the time legislation was introduced until the commission formally completed their duties a month ago.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania appropriated $387,000 for use by the Commission in carrying out Pennsylvania's participation in the Fair and after the payment of the costs of the printing of the final report, returned to the general fund of the Commonwealth approximately $3,000.

Upon demolition of the Pennsylvania Building interior, completed early in 1941, the furnishings and murals, figures and flags were sent to the Department of Military Affairs for use in the recreational building at Indiantown Gap.

It is with very sincere appreciation that the State World's Fair Commission wishes to acknowledge the fine cooperation of the New York World's Fair Corporation and its representatives.

It would be impossible to list the names of all of the individuals and organizations who helped to make the Pennsylvania exhibit a success through donations, loans or suggestions.

The Commission desires to pay its respects to William Gore, General Manager of the Building, and to Mrs. Josephine Foster Bright, Assistant General Manager, who acted as official hostess during the two years of the exhibit, and to the many various other hostesses who exemplified the spirit of hospitality of Pennsylvania in their handling of the thousands of visitors to the Building.

I desire to express my sincere thanks for the splendid cooperation given to myself and the members of the Commission by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator John Walker, and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Dr. George Woodward, both of whom gave of their time and talent to help make Pennsylvania's exhibit the outstanding one in the Court of States.

It is the intention of the Commission to forward copies of the final report of the Commission to each member of the Legislature, cabinet members, various department heads and libraries throughout the Commonwealth.

To the members of the commission Pennsylvania owes a debt of gratitude, for they gave generously of their time, talent and energy to the cause of the Keystone State. I want to particularly thank Mrs. George H. Earle, who served as First Chairman of the Commission, Richard P. Brown, who succeeded her, likewise Representative Cadwalader, Former Senator Sam Gilson, Charles J. Graham, Mrs. John Y. Huber, Jr., George W. Huntley, Jr., John B. Kelly, Joe O'Minsky, Henry J. Pierson, the late Joseph Wear and Irwin D. Wolf, upon whose shoulders devolved much of the work in arranging the exhibit.

The attendance figures released by the New York World's Fair Corporation, the fine publicity given to the State throughout the nation, the benefits which will accrue to the Commonwealth from participation in the Fair, justified the action of the Legislature in making a substantial appropriation to handle Pennsylvania's part in the great show in keeping with the dignity and importance of this great Commonwealth.

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the same?

MOTION THAT SENATE NON-CONCUR IN AMENDMENTS

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate non-concur in the amendments.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny whether he is in favor of the city registration commission and the county registration commission being formed into one commission?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, it may be a good thing, I am not certain, but it seems every time we have one of these combines, for the purpose of expediency and efficiency we get more employes in the long run than we have with two separate set-ups, so I do not know whether this would accomplish what it is intended to accomplish or not.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire then to ask the gentleman from Allegheny if there is any reason why the people of Pittsburgh should not be treated the same as the people in Erie, Wilkes-Barre, or any other city, where there is one registration commission for the entire county, with the exception, of course, of Philadelphia, and their case is not like the City of Pittsburgh, where the county line and the city line is just the same. In other words, we will take Luzerne County, for example; a person who lives in Plymouth or lives in Wilkes-Barre, where they have one registration commission, and if he moves from Wilkes-Barre to Plymouth or vice versa he does not need to re-register. Does not the gentleman from Allegheny think that by having one commission we could give the voters better service?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I am not so certain the idea of having a set-up which eliminates re-registration is such a good one. I think re-registration gives the commission a better check-up on the legal and lawful voters. Of course, if one does not care who the legal voters are, it may be a much better set-up to have it the other way.

Mr. BARR. From the history of the Pittsburgh Registration Commissions, I think the gentleman from Allegheny will agree we have had both good commissions and bad commissions, am I right?

Mr. GELTZ. I think, Mr. President, that is probably the history of almost all commissions, whether it be Pittsburgh Commissions or Allegheny County Commissions or Philadelphia Commissions or any others.

Mr. BARR. I am referring, of course, to the Pittsburgh Registration Commissions. Does the gentleman from Allegheny think we have had both good and bad commissions?

Mr. GELTZ. Well, Mr. President, I suppose the commission has been good and bad at different times.

Mr. BARR. Maybe I should be a little more direct in my questions. Does the gentleman from Allegheny think the present registration commission is a good commission, in the City of Pittsburgh?

Mr. GETTZ. I do not know, Mr. President, whether it is a good commission or a bad commission. I have not heard much complaint about it.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, does the gentleman from Allegheny think the Board of County Commissioners has been a good Registration Commission in the County of Allegheny?

Mr. GELTZ. I think the County Election Bureau has been conducted in a very able manner.

Mr. BARR. Well then, why would the gentleman from Allegheny not be willing since he is sure the county registration commission is elected by the people and they are responsible to the people, why would not they be the best persons to conduct registrations throughout the county?

Mr. GELTZ. Well, Mr. President, I am not so sure that the same thing would continue. To tell the truth, I am just a little bit suspicious about this bill, since the House amended it in such a way as to offer the minority commissioner one-third of the patronage. That looks to me as if there is some political bartering in connection with this bill now, and it may be a good thing not to have the bill at all.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, that was put in by the Republicans. They were the ones who requested that amendment; it was not the Democrats.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, that is not quite a correct or an accurate statement. This bill passed the Senate, combining the two commissions, so that the Governor would have the appointment of the Registration Commissioners. That, Mr. President, was after Senator Barr informed me what a good bill he and Senator Walker were sponsoring, and he also informed me that he was not interested in who had the appointing power; he was interested in combining the commission so that it would operate more efficiently.

Mr. BARR. That is correct, Mr. President, and I do think when it comes to an election board or a registration commission that each party should have persons in that position and I still think so, but at present in Allegheny County, the majority of the county commissioners are Democratic. There are sixty-five employes in the Registration Commission, and the Democrats appointed twenty-seven Republicans, and when this bill went over to the House some of the Republican House members and some of the Republican Senators talked to me, and they thought as a guarantee that this should be written into the bill. Now, to be honest with you, that was written in for the Republicans, at their request, and not at my request.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I trust my colleague from Allegheny County, is not referring to me when he says a Republican Senator talked to him.

Mr. BARR. That is correct, Mr. President, I am not referring to Senator Geltz.

Now, Mr. President, I have finished with my interrogation and I would like to ask my colleagues to vote to concur in the amendments put in by the House.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the record shows that this bill passed the Senate by a vote of thirty-two to sixteen; sixteen Democrats voting against the bill as I recall it. Am I correct in the statement that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, voted for this bill when it passed the Senate?

Mr. GELTZ. The gentleman from Philadelphia is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, at the time the bill was first introduced, it was introduced in a form which did not provide for appointment of the commissioners by the Governor, but it was subsequently amended, I think by the gentleman from Allegheny, to include appointments, to change the bill so that appointments to the registration commission would be by the Governor. Am I correct in that?

Mr. GELTZ. I am not certain, Mr. President, whether I had anything to do with the amendment or not, but I would not be surprised if I had.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, may I suggest that one of the gentleman's reasons for voting against the bill is not that he objects to the combination of the two offices, but merely he objects on the ground that the appointing powers given to the Governor when the bill passed the Senate has been taken away?

Mr. GELTZ. That is not quite accurate, Mr. President. I can not see the necessity for combining the two offices, and I do not know definitely, and I do not think anybody else does know definitely, that there would be any improvement in the functioning of one commission instead of two commissions. However, I was willing to go along on the basis of having an appointing power which was somewhat detached from the scene of political activity, and I therefore voted for the bill. In that connection, Mr. President, I would like to state that the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, who was so interested in the efficiency that would come about by a combination of these two commissions, but who was not interested in who had the appointing power, voted against the bill, I believe, when the appointing power was changed from the commissioners to the Governor.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I understand then that when the bill provided the appointing power be in the Governor, the gentleman was satisfied with the bill, because he felt that somebody far from the scene would be better to appoint. Has the gentleman taken into consideration the result of somebody far from the scene now appointing them in Philadelphia?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I have not taken that into consideration, any more than I have taken into consideration some of the other numerous difficulties that great city of brotherly love seems to be having constantly.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Then, Mr. President, as I understand it, the gentleman from Allegheny paid no attention to the situation in Philadelphia.

Mr. GELTZ. Not particularly, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Does the gentleman know this bill passed the House by a vote of 183 to 0?

Mr. GELTZ. I did not know that, Mr. President, but that does not surprise me at all, after looking at the vote by which some other bills passed the House by such a majority, and it looks to me like some people are trying to save their necks.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Now, Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Will the gentleman who comes from the State of Allegheny say whether it is not true that it was he who introduced the amendment to this bill giving the appointing power to the Governor?

Mr. WALKER. I did, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Is it correct, Mr. President, that the gentleman from Allegheny said, when we were discussing this amendment, that he was not particularly interested in whether the Governor appointed these men or whether they were elected, but he was rather anxious to get a combination of the two offices and avoid a great deal of expense, confusion and difficulty.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I would not want to plead guilty to that entire statement. I think the record will show what I said. In order to clarify, let me say in all humility Mr. President, I am interested in consolidating these two boards, and I will repeat, so there is no misunderstanding, I do not care who makes the appointments to the board, whether it be the commissioners or the Governor, and may I say, Mr. President, so there is no misunderstanding, I personally assured my co-sponsor of this bill that if it were so amended, as the bill now appears, I personally would have no objection to it, and I would much rather see the registration commission consolidated than to get into a discussion as to who makes the appointments, and may I suggest, Mr. President, so there is no further misunderstanding, that the original idea of giving the minority commissioner one-third of the appointments did not originate in the Senate; that originated in the Board of Commissioners of Allegheny County, two of whom are Democrats.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, may I further interrogate the gentleman and ask whether or not he is in favor of the bill in its present form?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I will vote for the bill in its present form.

In further explanation of my position on this bill let me say that at the present time, in the County of Allegheny, the City of Pittsburgh has a registration board, which has been explained on the floor, and the County of Allegheny has a registration board. The county commissioners appoint all of the employees of the county registration board, and inasmuch as a majority of the commissioners are Democratic, it is safe to assume that the majority of employees of the county registration board are Democratic; that is a natural political following.

The registration commission in the City of Pittsburgh, being under the control at the present time of the Republican administration, the chances are that those employees and personnel are Republicans.

Now, Mr. President, I think it is important that these two boards be consolidated; whether we gain a few jobs in 1942 or in 1941, or lose a few jobs, is secondary to the efficiency that might be created by a consolidation of these two boards. I firmly think the county commissioners of Allegheny County, who are responsible for the conduct, and who are responsible for the salaries of the registration boards, should have the right to appoint them. I think that is a practical application of home rule.

Now, Mr. President, my distinguished colleague from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, does not quite agree with my position in this matter. However, the disagreement or the difference of opinion is an honest one, and it shows a very healthy condition in the County of Allegheny.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I understand the motion is that the Senate shall non-concur in the amendments made by the House.

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Therefore, Mr. President, a vote "no" will mean that we do concur in the amendments.

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate non-concur in the amendments?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 783, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the twenty-eighth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (P. L. 463) entitled as amended "An act providing for the incorporation as bodies corporate and politic of 'Authorities' for municipalities counties and townships defining the same prescribing the rights powers and duties of such Authorities authorizing such Authorities to acquire construct improve maintain and operate projects and to borrow money and issue bonds therefor providing for the payment of such bonds and prescribing the rights of the holders thereof conferring the right of eminent domain on such Authorities authorizing such Authorities to enter into contracts with and to accept grants from the Federal Government or any agency thereof and for other purposes" by changing the method by which notice of the formation of a municipal authority shall be made public further regulating incorporation purposes and existence of the authority defining procedure whereby an authority can enter into contracts and dispose of its bonds imposing additional qualifications and duties on members of the authority imposing civil liability on members of the board and officers of an authority in certain cases requiring annual audits imposing additional duties on the court of common pleas giving authorities right of eminent domain in certain cases extending with certain limitation the power of Authorities

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 783 is the result of several month's study of the municipal authorities in Pennsylvania.

We have now about sixty authorities which have been chartered in the way the Act of 1935 provides. Of those there are about twenty that either have abandoned their projects or else have never formally organized the projects, and there are perhaps thirty or more that have taken over certain projects which they are now administering under the terms of the Municipal Authority Act.

This bill, Senate Bill No. 783, provides for an amendment to the original act of 1935, as amended in 1937 and 1939, in several important particulars. It provides, first, that if an authority is to buy a utility, that they must have a certificate of public convenience from the Public Utility Commission, bearing in mind the public interest and what the public interest would require, and bearing also in mind that the financial plan of the authority is feasible. The bill provides, secondly, that the bonds of the authority must be sold at public sale, or at least, they must advertise and receive bids, and sell to the highest bidder, unless there are no bids at all, in which case they may make a private contract.

It provides in the third place that not more than two of the five members of an authority, of the governing board shall be members of the governing board of the municipality that creates the authority.

It provides, fourth, that if the authority contains a combination of several places, if the service area embraces several municipalities, each municipality which has more than ten per cent of the consuming power of the authority shall be entitled to membership on the board.

It has other provisions in there which have been studied with a great deal of care and I hope the bill will appeal to the members of the Senate as a non-partisan attempt to make authorities workable.

I may say when personally I began my study of this authorities question, I was of the opinion that the thing we ought to do was to repeal the Act of 1935 and those amendments of 1937 and 1939, but later on it seemed to me there were certain possible advantages that could be developed for this state by use of the authority device particularly where there are several contiguous municipalities that want to unite for a water system, or want to unite for a sewage system or want to unite for a disposal plant propositions that are beyond the financial range of one municipality, but which may be handled and carried satisfactorily by bringing together a group of municipalities and having them take part in the proposition.

Now, in the past few years, there have been certain cases in which municipal authorities have taken over projects where there has developed public criticism. I do not want to refer particularly either to Chester or to Beaver Falls, because in both of those cases there are matters pending in the courts and I do not think this is the proper time or place to consider them, but I do want to say this, that if the authority as a device is to be saved for Pennsylvania, we must do something like Senate Bill No. 783 proposes.

I am perfectly willing to admit it is probably not perfect, it is a difficult subject, and it may have to be worked with two or three or four times before it works out in a practical way, but I want to call the attention of the Senators to the fact that Pennsylvania is one of the states which has a very large number of private water companies and private sewer companies. Less than three months ago, when I inquired from the Public Utility Commission, there were 456 private utilities furnishing water supply in Pennsylvania and only 232 municipally owned plants. In the period from 1932 to 1941, public authorities acquired 44 private water plants, and most of those were acquired by contracts and purchases. Some of them have been acquired through the device of a municipal authority.

In the same way, 170 municipalities own and operate sewage facilities, but there are many more than that in which private arrangements or no arrangements at all have been made, and it seems to me evident that as this state increases in prosperity, there is bound to be an improvement in water and sewage and sewage disposal plants, and I recognize in the authority a way whereby this can be done by a community without placing too heavy a burden upon the taxpayers.

Therefore, Mr. President, I take great pleasure in commending this bill and stating to my colleagues on both sides of the aisle that there is no partisanship in this. The original bill was drafted by Commissioner Buchanan of the Public Utility Commission, and a number of amendments have been made, which have been helpful, from both sides of the aisle, and consequently this is not to be regarded as a piece of partisan legislation.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I agree with the gentleman from Montgomery, that certain safeguards should be put into the law to protect not only the bondholders but also the taxpayers, the rate payers as well.

Municipal Authority legislation, Mr. President, was the natural outgrowth of the era of reckless municipal spending that led to make-shift economies and broken down municipal government. When the Federal Government started handing out largesses in ample abundance, the stricture on municipal borrowing capacity prevented many municipalities of the Commonwealth from enjoying this munificence and the Legislature was forced to come to their rescue with passage of the Municipal Authorities Act in 1935. This piece of legislation enabled cities and boroughs, towns and townships, to undertake the acquisition and operation of projects, some self supporting, to issue additional financing and to generally carry on municipal activities and improvements that would have been otherwise impossible because their borrowing capacity had been exhausted.

I do object, Mr. President, to the amendment beginning at line 14, page 14, and going through to line 6 on page 16, wherein the Public Utilities Commission is given jurisdiction as to acquisition. The act as originally conceived in 1935 set up a self supporting institution entirely complete in all its details. The Legislature in bestowing on the Municipal Authorities the power to fix and collect rates for use of the facilities or services rendered by the projects under its authority, specifically designated the income to be used for the expenses of the Authority and maintenance and operation of the project producing the revenues, and the payment of principal and interest on any obligations issued on the security of such project. The board governing the Municipal Authority therefore needed no staff of rate experts, no engineers, no experts other than those needed to operate the project and competent auditors and accountants. In short, all that the Municipal Authority had to do was to collect enough money at reasonable rates for the type of service rendered by the project to pay its running and fixed charges. Rule of thumb methods to meet this condition have been devised and the Municipal Authorities have been running their affairs very successfully without the kind of studies required by the Public Utility Commission.

The amendments I have in mind, appearing on pages 14, 15 and 16, propose to change all of this, wants the Public Utility Commission to put its imprimatur on any project acquired for a cost above $250,000. It stands to reason, after studying the provisions of this amendment, that the Public Utility Commission can not by any stretch of the imagination, determine reasonable rates within thirty days or the acquisition price within thirty days—mind you it is in the act, on the pages designated by me—after an application is filed as required by the proposed amendment. We know that water rate cases take a long time under Public Utility Commission handling, and many of you will recall the famous Scranton Water Works rate case, which has now been pending for eight years. Consequently the injection of this requirement into the operation of the Municipal Authority Act is purely a blind. The sole purpose of this amendment, as I conceive it, is to give the Public Utility Commission the power to wield a club over negotiations between the municipal authority and the existing utility. The Public Utility Commission could, by repeated rejections, force the price up to some point satisfactory to the seller. That is only my opinion; I may be wrong. The provision for appeal to the Superior Court is even worse, as that court limited by the findings of the Public Utility Commission and a sketchy investigation of less than thirty days—and investigation of less than thirty days—could do no more than to uphold the hands of the Commission. An appeal under such circumstances would be a farce. Thus, the advantages of free negotiations that has benefited the municipal authorities purchases of utilities to date would be ruthlessly destroyed. Besides, there would be endless delay, endless bickering and the utility could with smugness assume that the Public Utility Commission would see to it that it got a better price than it could have obtained by direct, hard dealing with the municipal authority representing the immediate rights of the municipality that set it up. The Public Utility Commission could thus at one stroke destroy home rule, the very essence of the legislation creating the municipal authority, and dictate prices favorable to the utilities.

Mr. President, this bill is manifestly designed, on these pages I have enumerated, to give the Public Utility Commission supreme authority over the purchase by municipal authorities of the facilities and property of public utilities enumerated in the bill. It is apparently designed to preclude a recurrence of the situation involving the Chester Water Works. Unfortunately, the remedy embraced by this bill is worse than the disease it is designed to cure.

Briefly, the Public Utility Commission will be required to determine the fair value of the utility property which is to be conveyed by a private utility to the municipal authority concerned. This determination involves numerous elements which will seriously interfere with the broad objectives of the original Municipal Authority Act.

There is no yard stick today for properly determining fair value. The United States Supreme Court has never fixed any standard which can accurately measure fair value. The Federal Power Commission, in its determination of fair value for rate making purposes, has adhered to the rule of actual legitimate original cost. The United States Supreme Court, as well as other courts throughout the country, has indicated that numerous other elements must be considered, such as original cost, reproduction cost, historical cost, and more recently has emphasized prudent investment as an element to be considered.

Mr. President, it is one thing to determine fair value for rate making purposes, but it is still another thing to determine fair value for the purpose of sale by a private utility to a municipal authority. As difficult as it is to determine the fair value of a utility property to rate making purposes, it is even more complicated today to determine fair value for the purposes of sale.

This determination involves numerous elements which will seriously interfere with the broad objectives of the original Municipal Authority Act.

Assuming Mr. President, that there were a fixed yard stick for determining the fair value of a utility property for rate making purposes, such a value would not necessarily be the fair value for the purposes of sale. The present earnings of the company are an important factor in determining the fair value for the purposes of sale, but this element is of no consequence in determining the fair value for rate making purposes. In the latter event, after the fair value (rate base) is determined, the Commission will allow the utility to earn five or six per cent on this rate base. However, in the case of a sale which is contemplated by a municipal authority act, the situation is entirely different. For example, a utility property which is so determined as having a fair value of one million dollars for rate making purposes, would be allowed five to six per cent net income under our present day standards of rate making, however, the same utility, in the event of a sale, may properly insist on a much higher price than it would otherwise ask even with allowable earnings of five to six per cent.

With such property, let us assume that there are eight hundred thousand dollars in bonds at three per cent outstanding and two hundred thousand dollars in common stock which is owned by the operators of the utility, who are now being asked to dispose of their property to the municipal authority;

Allowable return, $1,000,000 at six per cent ..	$60,000
Interest on bonds, $800,000 at three per cent ..	$24,000
Common stock, $200,000 at eighteen per cent ..	$36,000

Let me state, for example, Mr. President, where there is property valued at ten million dollars, and there is an allowable return at six per cent, that would amount to $600,000. There would be $8,000,000 in bonds at three per cent, which would amount to $240,000. In other words, the common stock which amounts to $2,000,000, would get $360,000; in other words, about eighteen per cent return. That is one instance. They certainly would not want to sell and deprive themselves of that eighteen per cent unless they were to get a price which would net them at least eighteen per cent.

Let us take another example, where the value is $10,000,000 and they get six per cent, which would give them $600,000. The bonds would pay three per cent, which would get $60,000. The common stock which amounts to $8,000,000, would get about $540,000 which is about 6.75 per cent. They want at least six or seven per cent.

There is a third example. Six per cent on $10,000,000 would be $600,000, that is, the allowable return at six per cent. Assumed earnings, $200,000. $8,000,000 in bonds at three per cent, which would amount to $240,000. There would be a loss to the common stock holders of $40,000. They certainly would not stand for a loss and would not agree to the sale of the public utility property unless there would be some gain, yet for the sake of rate making purposes ten million dollars is the fair value of the property.

It is manifest, Mr. President, that the common stock holders of this utility, who are now earning eighteen per cent return on their investment, by the first example brought out, would obviously refuse to dispose of the property for one million dollars, as they would only be receiving two hundred thousand dollars, which they would find difficult to invest in any other enterprise returning such large dividends. In all probability the common stockholders of such a utility, who technically own the property, would want at least four or five hundred thousand dollars more for this property.

Now conversely, Mr. President, if the same property were just about earning a sufficient sum to pay the interest on its bonds, to wit, twenty-four thousand dollars even though it were allowed sixty thousand dollars in earnings, the value of the common stock in this situation would be virtually nothing. As a consequence, the property for the purposes of sale would be much less than one million dollars.

It is manifest, therefore, that if the Commission were to assume jurisdiction in determining the fair value for the purposes of sale, there would be endless delay in a proper determination and the result would, in all probability, prove of little value in determining the fair price to be paid for the utility property.

In view of the numerous elements involved, the most satisfactory manner of transferring ownership from a private utility to a municipal authority would be by the method of negotiation between the parties concerned. In this way, all technical factors which are usually considered in determining fair value are subordinated to bargaining between the parties.

The commission has long recognized the superiority of negotiating rate reductions against litigation. For the same reason, negotiating the sale of a utility property to the municipal authority is superior to any formal procedure which Senate Bill No. 783 contemplates.

The Public Utility Commission, under the present Public Utility Law of this state, has no jurisdiction whatever over the rates to be charged by a municipal authority, within the geographical area embraced by such an authority. As a consequence, even if the commission could assure that a fair price were paid for the utility property, it could not protect the consumers as to the rates which the municipal authority would charge.

In view of this, Senate Bill No. 783 would impose a great deal of work on the commission, when, its primary function is to protect the services and rates of consumers, and in doing this work the commission is compelled to neglect its other functions under the law. Besides, as the cost of maintaining the commission is allocated among all of the utilities in the state, Senate Bill No. 783 imposes expenses on the commission which other utilities or the tax payers will be obliged to assume, and there is no provision in this bill to take care of this added expense on the part of the commission, without the established mechanism by assessment of costs among all of the utilities.

The function which the commission will be required to perform under this bill is entirely foreign to the real purpose of the commission and it can only be accomplished at the expense of its primary function—namely, the protection of the utility rate-payers of the state.

Please note that municipal authorities have, by this bill, been stripped of their power in a large measure. First, as you know, it is necessary that municipal authorities apply for a certificate of public convenience, putting them in the same category as any corporation or individual, notwithstanding the fact that municipal authorities are municipal corporations as defined under the public utility laws of 1937. Therefore the law is changed with respect to definition of municipal authorities on page 9 of the Public Utility Law of 1937 and the definition of municipal corporations means all cities, boroughs, towns, townships or counties of this Commonwealth and also any public corporation authority, and I have in mind authorities therefore which have been classed and classed properly as municipal corporations.

Under the definition of corporation, under the same act, on page 8, paragraph 9, corporation means all corporate joint stock companies or associations and so forth, but shall not include municipal corporations. As I said a minute ago, under the definition of municipal corporation, authority is a part of it.

I repeat, Mr. President, it is necessary under this bill, as it has been amended, that municipal authorities apply for a certificate of public convenience, putting them in the same category as any other broker, any corporation or individual, notwithstanding the fact that municipal authorities are municipal corporations as defined. Why need they apply for a certificate of public convenience? The need has already been established if it is an existing utility. When they are ready to negotiate for the purchase of a public utility property, it is assumed that the utility property, being there and being operated, has already established need and is existing in the interest of the public, as is now brought out in this amendment on pages 14, 15 and 16. Otherwise they would never be operated.

If on the other hand the municipal authorities could exercise the right of eminent domain—and that right has been denied them under the acts of 1935, 1937 and 1939, and the present bill as well—and had the right to condemn property or build duplicate equipment then I could see and appreciate the need for this clause providing for a certificate of public convenience, unless it is an absolutely new project. Then of course utilities operating in nearby localities would object and nothing could be done within thirty days and therefore the application would be rejected.

Further, as indicated above, there is no scientific method establishing a basis for determining the value of public utility property, whether it might be five, ten or fifteen years from now. How it is possible to either accept or reject an application for a certificate within thirty days is beyond me to explain. Personally, I think it is both physically and mentally impossible. Those of us who are familiar with rate making, cases can appreciate that it takes many years to gauge the value of public utility property.

Needless to say, Mr. President, the law as regards to fair value has been changed from time to time, it either having been based on reproduction costs, original costs or prudent investment. But as to the sale of public utility property, the common stock holders' return on their investment is the key factor in determining the price at which they will dispose of their property. However, for rate making purposes, the fair value of the property has no relation to the stockholders' earnings.

The Commission can reject a sale but can not compel it. True, it gives the seller the right to appeal, but there is no need for appeal if the price fixed by the Commission is not satisfactory to him. If the buyer and seller agree, Commission will only serve as a redundant factor. The Commission is asked to act purely in an advisory capacity, as it has no power to enforce its own determination of a fair selling price. Common stockholders alone have this power and the only means of bringing about a sale satisfactory to all parties is by negotiation.

It seems strange that in 1939, with a Democratic Commission, an amendment was passed to the Public Utility Laws, relieving the Public Utility Commission of jurisdiction of municipally owned utilities, and in the same year, an amendment was passed amending the Municipal Authority Act which gave rise to the Chester Water Works scandal. Now, with a Republican Commission, utilities, apparently are satisfied and they are willing to have the power of the Public Utility Commission increased so as to control acquisition of utility property by municipal authorities.

It appears to me that the utilities feel safer under the present Commission. It seems that expediency is the rule with them rather than the exception. They are not concerned in the least with the ultimate rate payer. Here we are, ready to extend the authority of the Public Utility Commission over the acquisition of public utility property by the municipal authorities, but there is no concern about the service and the rates.

Yes, the price paid by the municipal authority may have some bearing in determining the rate, but who is to have control over the service and the rates? It goes back to the municipal authorities. The answer is the municipal authority and not the Public Utility Commission. They are only concerned with acquisition, not with service, and service is the important thing, and rates to the ultimate rate payer as the years go on.

Another point, Mr. President, brought out is the fact that no salaries are to be paid the directors of the municipal authority, to more or less discourage directors from devoting their entire time and efforts to accomplish the purposes of the municipal authority. Let us distinguish between these cases and the salaries paid to the officers and directors of utilities. Again and again we learn of instances where very high salaries and sometimes exorbitant salaries are paid to officers of the utilities, and certainly that will reflect, those high salaries, in the rate base, in addition to the interest on the bonds, preferred and common stock as well.

I could go on further explaining the inconsistencies of some of these amendments. I feel that there are sufficient safeguards to prevent a recurrence of certain transactions, without any need for giving the Public Utility Commission control over the acquisition of public utility property by the municipal authorities.

Personally I feel that these amendments sound like the beginning of the end and the death knell of the municipal authorities is being sounded. Again and again these municipal authorities, at least their directors, when questioned and asked as to how their operations were, said very successful. Yes, there are instances where it has not gone right but that is true in municipalities as well.

This bill as it is has many safeguards that are sufficient in themselves and certainly there is no need for giving the Public Utility Commission control as to acquisition, but if we are going to give them control as to acquisition let us finish the job and give them control as to service and as to rates to protect the ultimate rate payer as well, but you are not concerned about that.

I concede, Mr. President, that the Chester Water Company case proves that the municipal authority set-up at times can be abused, but you do not burn down a house because of a few rats in it, and you should not destroy home rule—and these very amendments in the bill destroy home rule in a large measure—and the effectiveness of municipal authority bargaining for the chimerical hope that the Public Utility Commission will forever abolish treachery in the municipal affairs. By and large, the men running the municipal authorities are the substantial and trusted men of each community which set up the municipal authority, and they are not likely to be blinded by greed or temptation and you must not forget, Mr. President, that in Pennsylvania there are more mind you in Pennsylvania, there are more privately owned water works than in the rest of the United States put together; in other words, we have more privately owned water works in the State of Pennsylvania than in the other forty-seven states combined.

They have for years, in line with the general policy of private-owned utilities in the state mercilessly mulcted millions of dollars from the public, for a natural resource as abundant as air itself.

Municipalities recognizing this state of affairs, have been buying these companies and restoring them to the public where they belong, and operating them at rates the public could pay with contentment, without huge salaries to officers, directors and overstuffed profits to common stockholders.

Mr. President, I have been reliably informed that there are seventy such purchases being negotiated now, and nothing could show to better advantage the reason why the municipal authorities were created and why they should not be forced to pay prices dictated by the Public Utility Commission or the utilities.

This bill was conceived in duplicity, with respect to pages 14, 15 and 16. I have the highest regard for the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds, and the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, and I do not think they would lend themselves to any such thing. However, I feel somebody may have misinformed them or not directed them properly.

This bill was spawned in bright daylight to fool and befuddle. If the municipal authority idea is sound leave it alone; if it is exploited on occasion for private gain, go after the exploiters but do not emasculate the act itself.

The Public Utility Commission has enough to do. Do not make the municipal authority act another expensive toy for it to play with. Do not make home rule home ruin. It is time to leave well enough alone.

Mr. President, I want to call your attention to page 14, at the bottom of the page, and page 15. I note that mention is made as to rate. Why is it that only a floor is put on the rates but not a ceiling? Protection is only had for the bondholders but not for the taxpayer and not for the ultimate rate payer. Yes, they may be able to determine their rates at the very outset, but can they enforce it after the deal is in effect? That is impossible under the present amendment.

Mr. President, I feel that there are many safeguards in this bill to protect the public. I do, however, feel with respect to the amendment dealing with giving the Public Utility Commission control as to acquisition, that should be stricken out.

And the question recurring.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, last week I listened very attentively to the remarks made by the gentleman from Clearfield, Senator Letzler, concerning the shortage and need for aluminum, and with that in mind he introduced a bill.

Having his thoughts in mind, I now call the attention of the Senate to the amendment on page 3, line 25, providing that "nothing contained in this act shall be construed to authorize the construction, maintenance or operation of any facilities, works or improvements for the development of water power." It is obvious that this provision has been inserted by the utility interests who are fearful that the water resources of our state may be utilized for the generation of electric power.

It is difficult to understand why, in our present national emergency, the utilities have not relaxed their efforts to prevent the utilization of our state's resources for the supply of a commodity so essential to our national welfare.

Flood control dams are so closely related to dams which can be utilized for the generation of electric power that it is highly questionable whether we can feasibly erect flood control dams for the protection of our property from the havoc of floods without seeking to recover some of the cost other than the generation of and sale of electric power. The nation is headed for a serious power shortage as a result of the acute international situation. The Federal Power Commission, in its recent reports to the President, has plainly indicated that Pennsylvania is faced with a serious power shortage within another year or two as a result of the large volume of defense production which has been allocated to this state.

Without power, not only will Pennsylvania be prevented from doing its share in manufacturing materials and equipment for our national defense, but our country will be severely handicapped. Furthermore, in the face of a acute shortage of power in this state, our federal government will hesitate to award contracts to our industries for the manufacture of additional supplies and equipment in this national emergency if there is no assurance of an adequate power supply. Such contracts will be awarded to the industries in other sections of the country and our state will thereby be deprived of the economical benefits which would naturally flow from such activity.

It is quite obvious that the utilities would rather see our state lose the contracts for the products of our own industries and even jeopardize our national defense effort than permit the utilization of our water resources for the supply of power, which is so vital in the present emergency.

We all know what the aluminum trust has already done to our national defense effort by the same short-sighted policy. A shortage of power will result in a far more serious situation. Such a provision, prohibiting the construction of facilities for the development of water power is definitely anti-American and is plainly a fifth-column provision to undermine the efforts of our country to preserve our present way of life.

The welfare of our nation transcends that of our vested interests, but this provision manifestly places the welfare of the vested interests above that of our country. If the utilities are so concerned about preservation of their business, even to the extent of jeopardizing our national welfare, let us all show our patriotism by deleting this provision and removing any obstacle for the proper development of our state's resources as an integral part of our national wellbeing.

On this floor, in the name of patriotism, I have heard Senators Miller and DiSilvestro make speeches and introduce resolutions and bills. Their work in this regard can only receive the highest commendation. In so many words they have stated that our spirit is in our hearts and minds, in our devotion to our land, our liberties, our ideals, our hopes for ourselves and our children and mankind—all in the name of patriotism.

We are asked to make sacrifices and willingly respond, but unfortunately for us the utilities in this state have not responded.

May I read to you an article appearing in Sunday's Inquirer.

8 STATES ORDERED TO CUT POWER USE

Washington, June 29 (U. P.).—The Federal Power Commission declared existence of an electric power emergency in the southeastern United States tonight and called for immediate curtailment of street and ornamental lighting in the eight States affected.

Those States are Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Mississippi and Florida. The declaration gave the commission a basis for invoking emergency powers provided by the Federal Power Act.

Can Integrate Facilities

Under these powers the FPC can order an integration of power facilities to alleviate a shortage. The initial interconnections will be announced Tuesday, the commission said.

Simultaneously, Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes—who was warned of petroleum and power shortages—predicted a possible soft coal shortage next fall when defense demands are likely to overburden the railroads.

The critical power shortage in the Southeast was brought about, the commission said, by defense demands that exceeded expectations and by severe drought which curtailed seasonal power upon which aluminum and other defense industries were depending.

Production Imperiled

Production of strategic defense materials, particularly aluminum, will be impeded seriously unless immediate steps are taken to curtail all non-defense uses of electricity and to provide additional transmission interconnections to assure a wide availability of power, the commission added.

In addition to threatened transportation difficulties, Ickes said that experts in the Bituminous Coal Division had reported that "there is no guarantee that mine production capacity will be adequate to meet requirements for all grades and sizes of coal."

Isn't this sufficient evidence that there is need for co-operation on the part of everyone, including corporations and utilities?

Why should our government be hampered in any way? We should not hesitate in removing this amendment, particularly at the present time.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the proposed amendment to the 1936 act originated in the House, which was an amendment to give to the municipalities, with the consent of the Water Board, the right in case of flood to allow certain waters to flow over the highways.

Now, Mr. President, when this bill came to the Senate, there was added to it the objectionable provision which is that none of the waters—certainly it does not mean waters flowing over the roads—but no waters shall be used for the purpose of generating current.

When this bill was passed in 1936, the Democratic side of the House made it their party policy to adopt a flood control bill, in view of the fact that, I think, very shortly before that time, the State of Pennsylvania had gone through a flood which had caused considerable damage. One of the issues in the passage of this bill was whether or not there should be a provision inserted in the law restricting it to flood control, and prohibiting the use of the waters arising from the reservation of water in reservoirs built for that purpose for electric power. Of course, Mr. President, the proposal of the Republicans to insert that amendment was defeated.

The very objection of the Republican Party at that time is now sought through the means of this bill. This amendment is certainly not germane to the terms of the bill, and it comes with bad grace at this time, and certainly with poor policy, to say nothing of bad politics, at a time, as has been pointed out by the gentleman from Philadelphia, when we all know that there is a shortage of current and as we go on there will be a continued shortage of current.

If you read the papers this morning and yesterday, the National Association of Manufacturers pointed out that there had been spent in 1940 for national defense $1,700,000,000, and that the estimated amount to be spent in 1941 would be $17,000,000,000. You can therefore assume that the amount of current that will be consumed this year, compared to last year, will be tremendous.

In view of that fact, it seems rather foolhardy for this Legislature at this time to restrict or prohibit in any way the acquisition of facilities or the use of available facilities for electric power generation, and under those circumstances, while we are in hearty accord with the purposes of the amendments, as the bill was introduced in the House, namely, to give to the government the right to flood roads and highways, we are certainly opposed to the amendment which is injected into the bill, nor necessary to accomplish the purposes for which this amendment was proposed or introduced in the House, and under those circumstances, I shall vote "no", and ask my colleagues to join with me.

Mr. MALLERY. I desire to explain my vote on this bill. I have been interested in flood control legislation for some time, and I know of no legislation that permits the use of flood dams or dams constructed for flood purposes, to be used for the generation of power. I may be wrong, but it seems to me there is no legislation of that kind on the statute books.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1281, entitled:

A Joint Resoution proposing an amendment to Article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COLEMAN. Rather hurriedly, Mr. President, I desire to call the attention of the members of the Senate to the fact that this is a tremendously important bill. This is another attempt on the part of the gentleman from Philadelphia to tamper with the basic structure of the Constitution of the Commonwealth, and this bill, had it been in effect, or had it passed two sessions of the Legislature and been voted on by the people of the Commonwealth and approved, and had it become a part of the basic law of the Commonwealth, the vast construction work done by the General State Authority would have been, of course, but an idle dream.

Mr. President, this is a bill that abolishes all existing authorities in the Commonwealth just as soon as they have liquidated their affairs, and it prevents the creation of any future authorities. I think this is a very bad bill and I think the members of the Senate ought to vote it down. I propose for one to vote against it, and I think anybody else who has the interest of the Commonwealth at heart ought to follow me in that vote.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, if this were an act instead of a proposed constitutional amendment, I am quite sure the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds, in view of his statements concerning authorities on the floor of this Senate, would find himself in a position where he could not vote for this bill, because he would not only belie what he has said, but this would also prevent the building of an Executive Mansion, which is now, I understand, a new project to be built by the State Authority.

Not only that, as has been pointed out, but this is a bill which says that never, never shall the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania engage in that kind of work which could only have been accomplished in the last five or six years through the medium of the Authority, and once you make a proposal of that kind, I think you are trying to legislate a little too far ahead.

I agree with the gentleman who previously spoke, that his bill ought to be voted down.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, in order to satisfy the anxiety of the Senator from Philadelphia, I will say to him that I expect to vote for this amendment and vote for it with very great hearty good will. This amendment says no to a practice of very unusual financing, which may have won the temporary approval of the Supreme Court, but is opposed to the sense of thrift and repugnant to the mass of the people. I think the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Woodward, is trying to bring our finances in the state into harmony with the way in which we try to run our personal finances, and I think in so doing he deserves our hearty support. So personally I shall vote for the amendments.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

(During the calling of the roll the following occurred.)

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I ask for a verification of the roll.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, before the roll is verified, if the gentleman from Philadelphia will yield for just a moment, I believe I heard a rather feeble voice answer "aye" in contrast with the usual stentorian voice of the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Miller.

Mr. President, I desire to know how the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Miller, is recorded as having voted.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is informed that the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Miller, is not recorded.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, for the information of the gentleman from Lackawanna, there was no answer to Senator Miller's name.

The PRESIDENT. There has been a request for a verification of the roll.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Yes, Mr. President, I made that request.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, may I just make a brief explanation? At the time that Senator Miller's name was called, it may or may not have been a coincidence, but somebody said "aye", and I assumed that the record clerk may have recorded him as voting "aye" in error.

Mr. DEITRICK. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye".

The PRESIDENT. The vote of the gentleman from Northumberland will be so recorded.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The PRESIDENT. The roll will be so verified.

The Clerk read the names of those voting in the affirmative as follows:

Bartlett,	Edmonds,	Mallery,	Watkins,
Becker,	Farrell,	Snowden,	Wilson, H. I.,
Carr,	Geltz,	Stevenson,	Wilson, T. B.,

Crowe,	Kephart,	Wade,	Pres. Pro. Tem.
Deitrick,	Letzler,	Walker,

The PRESIDENT. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none.

The affirmative vote will stand as verified.

Barr,	Frey,	Lanius,	Mundy,

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I think this bill we have just acted upon is of sufficient importance for me to register my reasons for voting "no."

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, in the 1939 session, after a thorough investigation by all persons who had any interest and who had any experience in the parole system—I would not say all, but a majority of the people—we passed a bill in the Senate and in the House changing our parole system and creating a parole commission. We sat here in committee and listened to some of the most intelligent discussions on the bill I have had the pleasure of listening to since I have been a member of this body, and they were discussions by men who knew, men who had made this their life work.

The parole system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, particularly in many of the counties, is atrocious, reprehensible and dangerous. Criminals are allowed at large who should be in jail, just because they have received a minimum sentence and the minimum sentence has expired; others are kept in jail, just because they have been given a sentence by a judge who may not have been feeling well on the particular morning, or he did not understand all of the circumstances, or to whom the facts were not properly presented, and yet we allow that condition to go on, in spite of the fact that we have heard from men who know this work. We had a commission appointed. I think Judge Gordon, of Philadelphia, made a special study along with other members of the judiciary. We had a bill presented and we had it passed by both Houses, and it was vetoed only because there was no appropriation to carry out the purposes of the bill.

In this session of the Legislature the House has passed a bill and it is my impression that bill is in a committee in the Senate. There is an appropriation provided for. I understand the Governor has expressed his agreement. It is only a question of the amount of the appropriation, and now, after all of that, we are asked to pass a bill creating another committee to investigate that which has already been thoroughly investigated by people who are experienced, capable and understanding, and it is because of that, and because I think it is a waste of time and money, and because I think it is criminal negligence on our part to delay this matter which requires correction, and correction now, that I voted against this bill.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 700, (House Bill No. 99), on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend sections one and two of the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 806), entitled "An act limiting the number of licenses for the retail sale of liquor, malt or brewed beverages, or malt and brewed beverages, to be issued by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board; defining hotels, and prescribing the accommodations required of hotels in certain municipalities," by exempting certain clubs from such limitation and by providing that retail dispenser's licenses may be exchanged or surrendered for liquor licenses without violating the limits upon the number of licenses imposed by such act; and authorizing the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board to effect exchange or substitution upon compliance with certain conditions go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Allegheny tell me why this bill is once again going over in order?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, for the reason it is necessary to have the amendments thoroughly checked.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, is it not a fact that these amendments have been placed in this bill for the last two weeks?

Mr. GELTZ. No, Mr. President, that is not correct, and I think our colleague from Cambria County knows that is not a fact.

Mr. HALUSKA. I think it is a fact, Mr. President.

Mr. GELTZ. That is a difference of opinion.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, this is a very important bill, and if the gentleman from Allegheny wishes to study the bill further, I have no objection, of course, but I do think the bill should be acted upon within the next day or so, because it is an important bill, affecting a great many persons.

The amendments were inserted or were placed in the bill at least the early part of last week, and I think each and every one of my colleagues has had opportunity to study the amendments. However, I am willing to let it go over in order for another day or so, but certainly I hope we will get some action on it tomorrow or the next day.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 739, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Forests and Waters for the use of the Valley Forge Park Commission in restoring and maintaining the original valley forge at Valley Forge Park

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the Department of Forests and Waters for the use of the Valley Forge Park Commission in restoring the recently discovered original valley forge and for the care preservation protection and maintenance of the same

And said bill having been read at length the third time, And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EDMONDS. With great pleasure, Mr. President, if the gentleman will be audible.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I desire to know whose land is involved in this particular bill.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, this is the land of the state, at Valley Forge Park.

Mr. JASPAN. And it only involves land of the state, Mr. President—is that correct?

Mr. EDMONDS. Exactly, Mr. President. Where Valley Creek runs into the Schuylkill, a part of the park, they discovered a year or so ago the original site of the Valley Forge that gave its name to the park, and what we want is to purchase a good deal of wood work and some machinery there that has been wasting away, through the elements for a great many years. They want that protected and that is the object of this appropriation.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I desire to know to whom this appropriation is to be made.

Mr. EDMONDS. The appropriation is to be made to the Department of Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

Mr. JASPAN. To whom is it to be made?

Mr. EDMONDS. The Department of Forests and Waters, Game and Fish, for the use of the Park in restoring the old forge.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, on April 18, a group of Senators visited this locality and were very much impressed by the magnitude of the task undertaken at Valley Forge, and I believe it is our duty, and the duty of each Pennsylvanian and American to vote for this great measure, because I believe the restoration of the original forge will inure to the benefit of the citizens of Pennsylvania.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to explain my vote on the bill which just passed.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Allegheny may proceed.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I think that veterans are well protected under civil service today, and I do not think any one should be appointed or promoted as a police lieutenant or fire captain just because of the fact that he is a veteran. I think those matters should be decided on a man's ability as a police officer or a fire fighter, and the same basis should apply to all others.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in as much as those who voted "no" have some word of explanation, maybe some of those who voted "aye" should have a word of explanation.

It may be remembered that a great many men who are now veterans went into the army in 1916, 1917 and 1918 without opportunity of getting the educational requirements are now required in civil service examinations. They certainly are entitled now to some little advantages over those who stayed at home and enjoyed the advantages the veterans did not get. Therefore, Mr. President, I voted "aye".

SECOND READING CALENDAR

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 399, on second reading, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Treasury Department for the use of the Board of Finance and Revenue in granting refunds of "store and theatre" tax go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. COLEMAN. I desire to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, at the risk of being repetitious and incurring the ill will of the Majority Floor Leader, I should like to ask him why he asks that this bill go over in order, since it is a Senate bill.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, there is some question about this bill in the minds of some of the Senators, and if the bill is to receive favorable action, I think it is wise to have it go over in order. However, if the gentleman from Lackawanna, Senator Coleman, objects to its going over in order, I am perfectly willing to have it voted on at this time.

Mr. COLEMAN. It is only a second reading, Mr. President, and if the gentleman from Allegheny will allow it to pass second reading, I shall be delighted to ask the same question tomorrow, when it is on third reading.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I withdraw my request.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

MOTION THAT SENATE BILL No. 399

GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 399 go over in order.

Mr. EDMONDS. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I have always been a great believer in the philosophy that you can get more under the spur of encouragement than from the lash of criticism, and I do not want to incur the enmity of the men who have some doubt about the merits of this bill, but I should like to call the attention of the Senate to the fact that in 1937, there were two bills passed by the General Assembly, one bill taxing theatres and chain stores of the Commonwealth, and a companion bill appropriating the money derived therefrom, to increase the pay of teachers in fourth class school districts. The theatre tax and chain store tax bill was subsequently declared unconstitutional, and accordingly the companion bill became inoperative since there was no money to pay the increase in salaries.

Most of the chain stores in the Commonwealth paid the tax, but two major chain stores, which would pay probably seventy-five per cent of the tax, while stating they were paying under protest, actually paid nothing.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, my point of order is that the gentleman from Lackawanna is discussing the merits of this bill, which is not before the Senate at this time.

The PRESIDENT. The motion was that the bill go over in order.

Mr. COLEMAN. I will save the presiding officer the trouble of making a ruling on the point of order. The gentleman from Allegheny is definitely right. My only thought is to impress upon the members of the Senate that I have some information from the grape vine system that we are likely to get out of here this week.

Mr. President, this bill still has to pass second reading, and it has to go to the House. I have some grave doubt, even if it gets out of the Senate, as to whether or not it will pass the House. I think the Commonwealth has a tremendous obligation. I am very much interested, but if it is going to cost me any votes I will yield to the Minority Floor Leader, notwithstanding I am a trifle inconsistent as I objected when the Majority Floor Leader asked that this bill go over in its order.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the motion?
It was agreed to.

REQUEST THAT HOUSE BILLS GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask that all House bills on page 21 on the second reading Calendar go over in order.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I object, for the simple reason that we are getting nowhere very fast. Here we are dilly-dallying and we are letting House bills go over in order, and certainly the House will take the same position, because to a certain extent they look to the Senate for guidance. We have dilly-dallied for over six months down here, letting House bills go over in order, and then the House lets Senate bills go over in order, and week after week we come back here to be ridiculed by the newspapers in the state and by the taxpayers. If these bills are no good, let us kill them, but if they are good, let us pass them. Let us do our job, and let the House attend to itself in its own capacity. Let us do our business here. Why let House bills stick and stay on the Calendar week after week and day after day? What is it, a joke?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I observed that a good number of the Senators were here doing their business this evening, much before the Senator from Westmoreland County was here.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I was here, maybe I was not here as much as the Senator from Allegheny, but I was here.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, may I interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, may I ask the Senator from Allegheny if he has taken into consideration the increased cost in printing we have incurred by constantly putting these bills over, and the increased amount of work on the clerical staff of the Senate here in putting these bills over constantly, day after day, and going back on the Calendar to be reprinted? I think, Mr. President, we could practice some economy here by disposing of these bills, either passing them or defeating them, and I suggest that we cut down some of this work and some of this printing, so we can get somewhere.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, in answer to that interrogation, I should like to say I have considered that, but I have come to the conclusion that cost is not nearly so great as the cost of taking down in shorthand and transcribing all of the "gas" we have had in this Senate for the last five months.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I just want to place on the record this, to repeat, there is such a thing as courtesy in the Senate, and that courtesy should be exemplified in the leadership of both parties, particularly by the leadership of the majority party of this Senate. We have repeatedly heard on this floor the leader of the majority party make answers which were not pertinent to the question, and we have heard him brutally and bluntly answer interrogations, and we have peaceably submitted to it, but we do say we come here with some background and we do feel that when we ask a question we should have some respectful answer, and all we ask of this gentleman is to exemplify the ideals that he would lead us to believe the Republican Party represents. We want from its leadership a courteous reply when we ask a civil question.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, perhaps there has been a lot of so-called "gas" which at times might have caused some inconvenience in transcribing and so forth, but I want to say that the Senate of Pennsylvania is supposed to be the greatest forum in the State of Pennsylvania and it is here that we who come from the various districts have the right, the privilege and the duty, if you please, to come here and say the things we think our people back home would want us to say, and it is better that it is so, rather than in the old days, when the state was controlled by that old reactionary group, when all the talking was done behind closed doors, and the people in Pennsylvania interested in knowing what was happening in the state never knew what discussions went on. This way we may gas a little, but the people of Pennsylvania at least know what we are gassing about; they can read it and they can hear it, and they can stand here any time of the day or night when we are in session and see us in action.

In the old days they met behind closed doors; committee meetings were a thing that never happened, they did not have committee meetings, and they did not have open discussions. We have them, and although you may not agree with us and maybe you do not like what we say but at least as long as we are in the Senate of Pennsylvania we are going to say the things we ought to say and I say to you that you are passing House Bills over in order for no reason at all except political connivance, political strategy, if you please, hoping to put the House in a position where they will disgorge Senate bills; we will pass House bills over hoping that Senate bills may get fair treatment in the House. I want to say to you it is an unfair proposition to say that we gas too much and spend too much time talking. Maybe if the Majority Floor Leader would talk a little more about what they are doing on that side, we Democrats would not have to talk so much about how little is being done.

The PRESIDENT. There is objection to the House bills going over in order. The next bill for consideration of the Senate is Senate Bill No. 468 (House Bill No. 70).

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 468, (House Bill No. 70), entitled:

An Act to amend section seven hundred three of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 1206) entitled "An act concerning townships of the first class amending, revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" by providing for the compensation paid to township commissioners.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,
The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,
The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 606, (House Bill No. 434), entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Pennsylvania Department of Highways for the improvement of roads and parking areas within the Daniel Boone Homestead.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, and agreed to,
Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 707, (House Bill No. 1023), on second reading, entitled:

An Act prohibiting employers from directly or indirectly offering for sale selling procuring for sale having in possession or under control for sale to employes or others any merchandise not produced by employers or not handled in the regular course of employer's business providing exceptions thereto declaring such prohibited sales to be unfair competition and repealing prior inconsistent legislation

go over in its order.
The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I object to this bill going over. This is the bill we discussed last week; we had it go over in order so that the gentleman from Philadelphia could read it and study it over the weekend. This is a bill which stops the sale, at wholesale, of merchandise, by manufacturers who do not deal in that merchandise. We defeated an amendment to the first section. There was an amendment proposed to the second section which would strike out from the bill the words "or any other persons." We discussed that and the gentleman from Philadelphia was supposed to read the bill over the weekend. This is an important bill and should be passed now.

MOTION THAT SENATE BILL No. 707 GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 707, go over in order.
Mr. MILLER. I second the motion, Mr. President.
On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the motion?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I object to the motion and rise to a point of order.
The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.
Mr. SHAPIRO. There was a motion on the floor not disposed of at the time the gentleman from Allegheny made his motion.
The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia state what the motion was.
Mr. SHAPIRO. There was a motion that the bill go over in order, and I objected to the motion.

The PRESIDENT. That is motion that is made now. Mr. SHAPIRO. That was the motion that was made before, Mr. President.
Mr. GELTZ. That was a request, Mr. President. I have now made the motion.
The PRESIDENT. The Chair understood there was first a request, there was objection to the request, and now a motion has been made.
Mr. SHAPIRO. I object and ask for a roll call.
Mr. MUNDY. I object and ask that the roll be called.
The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SHAPIRO and Mr. MUNDY and were as follows, viz:

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.
Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I want to know if the Senator from Allegheny, in his capacity as Floor Leader of the majority, when he brusquely answers interrogations of minority members, and he dismisses them in such a manner, if he is speaking for himself, or if he is speaking for some of the very fine gentlemen I know on the other side.
Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I consider that a very impertinent question, but I will answer it. I am speaking for myself, Mr. President, and also as the Majority Floor Leader.

Now, Mr. President, as to whether or not my answers are brusque is a matter of opinion. Some of my colleagues on the other side might feel that way because they do not get the answers to questions they would like to get, although they may be wrong that those answers are brusque.
In further answer I would like to state, Mr. President, that for a period of about five months in this session I was on my feet very little in this Senate, and my colleague, who is interrogating me at this time, can not say that for himself, so I think maybe I am entitled to have the floor for a little while right at this time.
Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, without any egotism, I want to say when I get on the floor I feel I speak with intelligence. I have tried to elucidate the points at hand very clearly. I have tried to play the game very fairly and honestly. I have never knowingly answered a colleague on this floor flippantly, or, let us put it more frankly, brutally dismissed what I thought were some intelligent questions.
Now, Mr. President, I do take exception, and I believe I have average intelligence, to some of the methods and tactics of the legislative procedure on this floor. I have seen other men in a capacity of leadership who have stood the strain, who have stood the test, and who have not become so excited or tense or irritable, in other sessions and who have always first hand tried to consider that some others on the floor of the Senate have stayed just as long as he has and have undergone the same things as he has, and they have been subjected to the same irritations as he has.

So, Mr. President, if the gentleman from Allegheny objects to the fact that I get on the floor at intervals, I am very, very sorry, because if by my getting on the floor I have in any way taxed his capacity or patience, then I apologize to the gentleman, but I do know that way down in the lower form of animal life there is such a thing they call a sponge, which will absorb just so much moisture and when it gets to that degree it is saturated.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, the apology of my colleague from Luzerne, Dr. Mundy, is accepted.

SENATE BILL No. 1306 ON SECOND READING CALLED UP

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I now call up Senate Bill No. 1306 on second reading, page 28 of the Calendar.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I second the motion. The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1306, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Trustees of the Pennsylvania State College for the use of the School of Mineral Industries.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

MOTION TO PROCEED WITH CALENDAR

Mr. DENT. In order that we may carry on the business of the session orderly, I now ask that the Chair take up the Calendar where we left off, on page 21, Senate Bill No. 774, and I ask that it be read for the second time.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, was Senate Bill No. 1306 read the second time?

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. It was.

MOTION THAT SENATE RECESS

Mr. GELTZ. Then, Mr. President, at this time I move that the Senate recess for ten minutes.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not object to a recess, and I do not doubt you have the votes and they can do as they please, but motions are always in order, I believe.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. It has been moved by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, that we take a recess for ten minutes.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, a motion to adjourn is always in order, but a motion to recess is like any other motion. There was a motion made by the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, which was seconded, and which I think should be disposed of before any other motion can be acted on.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair did not hear any seconding of the motion.

Mr. SHAPIRO. It was seconded by two people, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. In view of the statement of the Senator from Philadelphia, that there was a motion made by the Senator from Westmoreland, and that it was seconded, the Chair feels that motion should be disposed of first.

Will the gentleman from Westmoreland repeat his motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I know there is no use butting your head against a stone wall. I am not one who runs from a fight or shirks a battle. However, I know the motion will be voted down.

MOTION WITHDRAWN

Mr. DENT. Therefore, Mr. President, I withdraw my motion, with permission of the Democratic Senators who seconded the motion, so that the motion of the gentleman from Allegheny that we take a recess will be in order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair understands the gentlemen who seconded the motion of the gentleman from Westmoreland have withdrawn the seconding. Therefore, the motion of the Senator from Allegheny is now before the Senate.

Mr. GELTZ. In explanation, Mr. President, of the motion to recess, I might state the reason for the request was to enable the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions and the Committee on Education to each hold a short meeting.

RECESS

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for ten minutes.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. LETZLER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

He also, from the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance, and Pensions, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 1317, entitled:

An Act to reenact and further amend the title and section one of the act, approved the twenty-fifth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 707), entitled "An act fixing the liability of the counties, poor districts, and the Commonwealth for the support of the indigent and partly indigent insane in State institutions," by reviving the provisions of said act for a limited period of time; further fixing the liability of counties, institution districts and the Commonwealth; and conforming the title and the act to existing law.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WADE, from the Committee on State Government reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 1314, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies to acquire on behalf of the Commonwealth, certain land upon which the historic Fort Roberdeau once stood in Blair County as a memorial; providing for the control, management, supervision, restoration and maintenance thereof; authorizing the Pennsylvania Historical Commission to make and enforce rules and regulations for the preservation and visitation thereof; and making an appropriation.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HOMSHER, from the Committee on Education, reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 598, entitled:

An Act to add section two thousand two and one-tenth to the act approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred eleven, (P. L. 309), entitled "An Act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," providing for the cooperation with other agencies in furthering national defense programs and activities.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unananimous consent that Senate Bill No. 774, (House Bill No. 1282), on second reading, entitled:

An Act providing that taxes on unseated lands shall be collected and returned in the same manner and at the same time as taxes on seated lands.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 851, (House Bill No. 1442), entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Commerce out of the Motor License Fund for the proper conduct of a specific portion of its work.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 890, (House Bill No. 139), on second reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act which became effective on the seventh day of July one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine (P. L. 194) entitled "An act to enlarge the jurisdiction of justices of peace and regulating the fees of constables making sales under this act" further enlarging the jurisdiction of justices of the peace and extending the provisions of said act to aldermen.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. DENT. Before the request of the gentleman from Philadelphia is acted upon, may I interrogate the gentleman?

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STIEFEL. Gladly, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Philadelphia state why he is asking that this bill go over in order?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I have given this bill a lot of study, and I feel that the bill ought to be amended. I have completed my amendments, but I am not ready to introduce the amendments before tomorrow, and for that reason, I ask that the bill go over in order.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, out of consideration for the gentleman from Philadelphia, if he says he will offer his amendments tomorrow, I will agree that the bill go over in order, but if the gentleman from Philadelphia does not offer his amendments tomorrow, I will oppose any further delay on the bill.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I am very bitterly opposed to this bill, as everybody knows, that is now before this Senate and I object to it going over in order. It has been on this Calendar for a long time and it has been considered, and I want a roll call on it. I refuse to consent to it going over in order. I refuse.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. There is objection to the bill going over in order.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, may I interrogate the gentleman from McKean?

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from McKean permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am in the same position as the gentleman from McKean. I oppose this bill, but I should like to call to the attention of the gentleman from McKean the fact that there may be more votes in favor of the bill than against it.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I expect the bill to pass in spite of everything I can say against it. I might say to the Senator from Philadelphia that I expect to take the floor against this bill and oppose it. It is opposed to the policies of Pennsylvania for over a hundred years, and is one of the worst bills that has been before this Senate in the last fifty years, I expect the bill to pass in spite of everything I can say, but I am still going to oppose it.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, may I interrogate the gentleman from McKean?

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from McKean permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I will be very glad to be interrogated, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. This bill not only enlarges the jurisdiction of aldermen and justices of the peace, but it takes away from magistrates in Philadelphia the existing jurisdiction which they now have. I think that was probably inadvertently done. Will the gentleman from McKean have objection to this bill going over in order to take out the brackets that bracket out the magistrates, so in case the bill does pass, at least we will get the protection we are entitled to, and I think that is the purpose of the amendment to be offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, may I say to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, that this is the most peculiar bill that has ever been presented to the Legislature. It does not say "we now enlarge the jurisdiction of the court," but it goes back to 1879, and takes a bill that the courts of Pennsylvania have construed, and have said it means certain things, and this bill says we now change and reverse the courts of Pennsylvania when they said it means those things, and say it means something else. The act of 1879 attempted to do this same thing, but the courts of Pennsylvania said it did not do it, and now this peculiar act of Assembly attempts to go back and read into the act of 1879 an interpretation of what that act means, after sixty-two years. This bill says the act does not mean what the courts of Pennsylvania says it means, sixty-two years later.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, will the gentleman from McKean object to our protecting ourselves against the inevitable passage of this bill, by permitting us to strike out the amendment which takes away from the magistrates in Philadelphia the jurisdiction which they now have. That is all I want. I would like the gentleman from McKean give us opportunity to make those amendments on second reading, because if this bill now passes second reading, we will have to have unanimous consent to make the amendments.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Of course, Mr. President, I will have to accede to the request of the gentleman from Philadelphia, as any Senator would, but I do say this bill has been on the Calendar for a long time, and it is one of the most miserable bills presented to this Legislature. There is not any member of this Senate who can sit down and take that bill and tell us what it means unless you diagram it. However, I must accede to the request of the gentleman from Philadelphia, because the bill is a miserable bill, and I can not see anything else to do.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the question of whether or not it is a miserable bill is just a matter of opinion.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. That is right, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, we laymen here who are not lawyers thing it is a pretty good bill, and I predict now there will not be a lawyer that will vote for the bill for obvious reasons.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1118, (House Bill No. 687), on second reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend the title and section one of the act approved the third day of May one thousand nine hundred and nine (P. L. 424) entitled "An act providing that in all counties having more than five hundred thousand inhabitants advertisements and notices required by law or rules of court to be published in newspapers of general circulation unless dispensed with by special order of court shall be published in the legal newspapers issued at least weekly of the proper county designated by rules of court for the publication of court or other legal notices" as amended extending the provisions of the said act to counties of the sixth class go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1121, (House Bill No. 909), on second reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend section three hundred three of and to add section three hundred seven of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of November one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 15, 1933-34), entitled as amended "An act to regulate and restrain the sale manufacture possession transportation importance traffic in and use of alcohol and alcoholic and malt or brewed beverages conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board and its agents the Department of Public Instruction other officers of the State government courts and district attorneys authorizing the establishment and operation of State stores for the sale of such beverages not for consumption on the premises and the granting of licenses subject to local option to sell such beverages for consumption on and off the premises forbidding importation or bringing of such beverages into the State except as herein provided prohibiting certain sales or practices in connection with and transactions in such beverages by licensees and others providing for the forfeiture of certain property making disposition of the receipts from State stores and of fees and imposing penalties" by providing for the appointment of assistant managers in Pennsylvania Liquor Stores and by establishing minimum salaries for certain employes of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board working in Pennsylvania Liquor Stores

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection? Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I object.

MOTION THAT SENATE BILL, No. 1121 (HOUSE BILL No. 909) GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 1121, (House Bill No. 909), go over in its order.

Mr. MILLER. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Allegheny state the reason for asking that this bill go over in its order.

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President. A sub-committee has been appointed to investigate into some matters in connection with this bill, particularly for the reason that this bill, if passed, will be the first bill of this kind, to set salaries of employes in various state departments, and the committee is trying to see if some arrangement can not be worked out so that a satisfactory agreement can be reached in connection with the subject matter of this bill.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, may I interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny?

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, does the gentleman from Allegheny have any knowledge when the sub-committee might report its findings?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, unfortunately I am not a member of the sub-committee and therefore I have no knowledge as to when it will make its report, but I would think it would be very shortly, because there is not too much time left.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, can the gentleman from Allegheny tell me what date the sub-committee was picked?

Mr. GELTZ. The sub-committee was picked today. I do not know what difference that makes, but if it makes any difference, it was today.

Mr. HALUSKA. It makes a lot of difference. Would the gentleman from Allegheny mind reading me the names of the sub-committee?

Mr. GELTZ. I do mind, Mr. President, and I refuse to give the names of the sub-committee.

Mr. HALUSKA. Thank you.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, do I understand that the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Haluska, insists on his objection? If he does, I would like to suggest to him that it is our understanding that the Liquor Control Board can increase salaries without an act of the Legislature, and what we are trying to work out is this: nobody is more deeply interested in seeing that there is a fair wage for persons employed by the Commonwealth, including the Liquor Control Board, than are the members on the right side of the aisle. The problem is this, as has been explained or suggested by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, that this will be the first time that the Legislature has ever built a floor on the salaries paid state employes. Under these classifications, the Liquor Control Board is faced with the peculiar situation where they have the responsibility, as well as the right, under our present setup, to recommend salaries of certain classifications to the salary board, those salaries must be approved by the Salary Board, the Liquor Control Board would like to make certain recommendations. However, they have to work out with the salary board the classifications of these employes that are involved. Some members of the salary board are of the opinion that if we increase these wages, we should in turn increase the wages of similar classifications, and they are trying to point out the work done by the employes involved in this particular bill, and compared it to the work done, for example, by hundreds of stenographers employed on Capitol Hill, and the Liquor Control Board is trying to keep the classifications correct and we are trying to work out something with them so we do not destroy the precedent that has been established here in the Commonwealth. It is not our desire to kill the bill, it is our desire to work something out that will not haunt us in years to come, because as the gentleman from Cambria well knows, we are not legislating for today or tomorrow, but for a long line of tomorrows I remember very distinctly last week the gentleman from Cambria was willing to make the supreme sacrifice and offer himself as a candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania, and I am sure if he becomes Governor of the Commonwealth he will not want this precedent that has been established by a long line of famous Governors broken at this time.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I will withdraw my objection. I am fully aware of the fact that the Liquor Control Board can raise salaries of their employes, but they have not. I have been aware of that fact for many many years, but when they fail to do so, I think the employes have a right to bring their problem to this body, which they have done now, and when that board fails to act we should act.

I think every man in this body agrees that the employes of the Liquor Control Board are very much underpaid, and as my colleague from Westmoreland has said, we have been dilly-dallying around now for four or five months getting no place.

Mr. President, I will withdraw my objection, but I sincerely hope that within the next day or two this bill will receive due consideration.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I might suggest to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, that when he has the salary board in the mood of working out something, that they might work out better than eighty-five dollars a month for the men and women in the state employ, particularly those persons who work around the Capitol, running elevators and so on, who have to buy a loaf of bread, the same as the rest of us, and who have to pay the increased prices for potatoes, and butter and eggs and so on.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I assure the gentleman from Westmoreland if and when I get the salary board in the mood, I will see that everybody gets an increase in wages.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1135, (House Bill No. 223), entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies to acquire on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania certain land upon which is still standing the birthplace of Robert Fulton in Fulton Township Lancaster County or so much thereof as may be necessary as a memorial providing for the control management supervision improvement restoration and maintenance thereof authorizing the Pennsylvania Historical Commission to make and enforce rules and regulations for the preservation and visitation thereof and making an appropriation.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1166, (House Bill No. 1686), on second reading, entitled:

An Act relating to certain civil rights and liabilities of persons in the armed service of the United States providing for the suspension of the enforcement of certain civil liabilities providing for the re-employment of such persons upon completion of such service and imposing penalties go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Allegheny tell me why he wishes this bill to go over in order?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask that this bill go over in order so that some of the Senators who are very much interested in the bill may have a little further time for study. This bill is twenty-eight and one quarter pages long, to be exact, and some of the Senators feel they have not had sufficient time to make as complete a study as they would like to make.

Mr. HALUSKA. I thank the gentleman from Allegheny. I will withdraw my objection, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the motion?
It was agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1174, entitled:

An Act to amend the act, approved the twentieth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 728), entitled "An act providing for the creation of a Board of Arbitration of Claims arising from contracts with the Commonwealth; providing for and regulating the procedure in prosecuting claims before such board; defining the powers of the board; and fixing the compensation of members and employes thereof; providing that the awards of such board shall be final; providing for the payment of awards; and authorizing an appropriation," as amended, by providing for the payment of fees and expenses of the members of said board not properly chargeable as costs of proceedings before it, further prescribing procedure, and further defining the jurisdiction of said board

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EDMONDS. I will, Mr. President, with pleasure.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I would like to direct the attention of the gentleman from Montgomery to page nine of the bill. I am reading from printer's number 557. I would like to inquire from the gentleman—at the beginning of line 7—when this act will become effective? There are two effective dates in there, and they are slightly confusing and I thought perhaps the gentleman from Montgomery could straighten me out on that.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I had not noticed that. I think possibly there is an error there, and I think this bill ought to go over in order, if the Senator from Allegheny has no objection. This is an administration bill, and I do not know what the desire of the administration is in this matter.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am not desirous of having this bill go over in order another day, but it simply is very confusing.

Mr. EDMONDS. Being confusing, Mr. President, it will have to be amended; and I do not know which date will be the amended date.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, we do not know which date will be the amended date.

Mr. EDMONDS. We can amend it on third reading.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, this bill does not require amendment. This bill, according section 8, provides that this mandatory act shall become effective the first day of June, 1941. Section 14 is the old act, and this merely rectifies the original effective date of the old act. The mandatory act has the proper effective date and does not require amendment.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, is that not an impossible date, June 1, 1941?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Not an impossible date, Mr. President; retroactive. I do not see why this bill can not be made retroactive. As I understand it, these are expenses that have been incurred or might be incurred by the Board of Arbitration on a particular case. I can see no reason why there can be any particular objection to making this act effective as of June 1st.

Mr. EDMONDS. All right, I will withdraw my request that it go over in order.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, this effects only the Commonwealth. The Commonwealth pays these costs.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

It was agreed to.

And having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1206, (House Bill No. 1621), on second reading, entitled:

An Act to add section forty-three to the act approved the twentieth day of June one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (P. On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I suggest that the hit and run amender stay here while these amendments, which are wrong, are being re-checked. If this gentleman wants to hit and run, it is too late in the night to do it.

I would like the Reading Clerk to begin on page 3, line 3, and let us have the beginning of that amendment, that long amendment.

The clerk re-read the amendment.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Where does the bracket before that begin? Will the Clerk return to section 1, page 2, line 7, after the word "penalties"?"

The Clerk again read the amendment.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Then we have a long amendment. What is after the long amendment?

The Clerk again read from the amendment.

Mr. SHAPIRO. You have left all that in. That leaves all of line 7, after the word "penalties" in the bill, and of course, confuses the amendment. You have a new description of what the words mean. What is the last part of that amendment?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, this bill was introduced by the Honorable President Pro Tempore by request.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Not the amendments.

Mr. HEYBURN. The amendments came from the Department of Agriculture, and were compared by the Attorney General's department. I assume they are right, I do not know; Attorney General Shapiro does not think so, however, but maybe Attorney General Shapiro is wrong. No one knows.

The Clerk again read the amendments.

AMENDMENTS WITHDRAWN

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I withdraw the amendments.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Senator from Warren will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President,

WHATS WRONG WITH THE UNITED STATES

In a recent address, the Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Episcopal Bishop of Washington, sounded a note that must be listened to by every man, woman and child in the United States. In commenting on the situation faced by the United States in the present World crisis he said: "America must wake up to the fact that she has an army in the field. When we think of our honored dead, let us also think of the honored living. The security of this nation is not in its armed forces alone. We need an aroused and an awakened people. America is taking the situation sitting down. It is unbecoming of the church to advocate war, but I say to you: 'Look to it that all the decencies of this life are maintained. Take your Christian religion as you have never taken it before, else the fate of France be the fate of America."

Into those words are packed the most thought provoking ideas that it is possible to utter. There is aroused a picture of our marching armies being trained in the most modern methods of mass killing: The youthful faces under the grim tin hats; the young powerful arms bearing most modern rifles with the bayonets that tear into the vitals of an enemy; the tanks spewing fire; the flame throwers with white hot heat that burns away fortifications and roasts alive, the men in pill box gun emplacements are all destroyed. Then, too, comes the picture of the factories wherein the instruments of war are fashioned; the cupola where molten metal runs into moulds for gun, shell and battleship; the long assembly lines where the motorized equipment is formed; the planes winging from factories and into the air; the girls working with high explosives and putting caps, detonators on bombs and shells. And finally the home and church, calm and placid where the alarms of war scarcely enter and where there is little change in thought or mode of living despite the fact that sons have marched away "to train" and fathers are working overtime to provide the sinews of war for the sons.

Yes, "America is taking the situation sitting down." Despite the forceful appeal of the officials of the government and by the Commander-in-Chief of our Army and Navy, the direful threats of our nation are not being realized. The same demeanor that has marked our way of life for years is being followed. The zest of pleasure continues. The bigger payrolls are affording more opportunity to take pleasures than the depression denied to many. The expanding demand for men and women in factory and shops has seemingly only enlarged the scope of the fun to be enjoyed. The appeal to reason and to the consciousness that America faces the greatest crisis since the Revolutionary War has not been driven into the hearts and minds of the people.

While America's industry strains to fulfill the demands of our leaders for "guns and more guns," "ships and more ships," "planes and more planes," "shells and more shells" the average man in the street seemingly has little realization that these are fateful hours.

America is endeavoring to do its utmost to protect its people from the ravages of the war-mad dictators and their panzer formations; their bombers and bombs; their subtle propaganda that would lull to sleep fears that are roused by the onward march of Hitler's hordes. There must be united effort if we are to continue our way of life.

Over the past week end, I saw groups of smiling, ruddy faced youngsters attired in the Boy Scout uniform proudly waving their flags, bearing packs on their backs, marching away to scout camp. What a picture it was of a way of life under the Stars and Stripes. Out to the wooded dells to camp and learn of the trees and birds. To hear the song of the forest, chirp of crickets, the hum of bees and the lilting trill of birds swinging from green branches in the trees. Imbiding the air of freedom from the rocks and rills amid the woody hills. Contrast that, if you will with the boys of Germany and Italy of the same age as our Scouts marching off to camp. German lads goose-stepping in close formation being given the rudiments of army drill and being inoculated with a desire for war and being taught to "die for the Fuhrer." No love of nature for them, no song of birds, and no thrill for native land except as it affects "der Fuhrer." Parentage is forgotten and the words "Father and Mother" have lost their savor. Then to Italy where "The Sons of the Wolfe" drill and march, march and drill endlessly, that Il Duce may have glory. Family life is secondary; only the state is supreme.

Shall we lose our right to have our sons free and untrammelled by the shackles of government? Shall we continue to have our laddies enjoy the woodlands and meadows? Shall we turn them from laughing, sunny faced youngsters into grim, smileless independents, drilling endlessly to become cannon fodder? Shall our camps for boys and girls turn into such things as they have abroad, where promiscuous mixing of sexes occurs, that more armies may be bred and the dictators have more souls to use as pawns in the game of war?

And when one thinks over the decencies of life as enjoyed under our free form of government, the truth of the words of Bishop Freeman rings out. "Look to it that all the decencies of this life are maintained. Take your Christian religion, as you have never taken it before, else the fate of France will be the fate of America."

I for one am justly wrought in heart and soul over the future. There does not seem to be in the hearts and minds of the people, a realization that we must lay aside our pleasures, many of them; that we must cease useless expenditures and give to the government for bonds that will pay for the huge armaments that are needed for defense. We must give to the various organizations that are working hard to maintain the morale of our boys in camps, on ship and at the new far flung army posts. It calls for a deep searching of hearts to find what each of us can do to help in this hour of need.

As I see it every day witnesses a further lowering of the curtain on the free people of the world. Gradually there is a sinking of heart and hope, and only by united effort can we avert a catastrophe in our nation. We must awaken!

One of the efforts to which we must all give our best endeavors is in the formation of the local branches of the State Council of Defense. Proclaimed by our Governor after a careful scanning of the situation our State Council of Defense is a part of a great National Group. From it will spring the men and women who will co-ordinate our efforts at protecting our homes. Should the great planes of any enemy threaten our homes and shops, men and women from civil life must swing into action. They must act as observers, wardens for fire protection, nurses to care for wounded, care tenderly for children, and perform a thousand and one duties to preserve morale, save life and preserve to the last vestige the freedom of life.

While threat of invasion seems far away, there must be a keener effort displayed in every effort to halt invaders at our shores. We must be organized to meet any emergency and the civilians of the land will bear much of the burden of war. The brave men and women of Great Britain have set a noble example as contrasted with the pleasure living French. France bared its teeth in laughter and Great Britain bared its back in travail and is nobly holding up the lamp of faith and liberty.

God grant that we have the strength to lay aside paltry pleasures and face without fear or misgivings the great tasks that lie ahead. We have just celebrated the Fourth of July, our birthday of independence, and in the spirit of justice and liberty for all, may we unite and take up the burdens that will chafe our bodies and souls. Make us strong, Oh! God and make us brave that at home we may ably second the armies in the field and let us not forget that "our native land" demands that we be true, prayerful and united in our endeavors to rid the earth of the ideology that our Democracy is the wrong form of government and that only under dictators are we strong.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Donald McFall, offered the following prayer:

Eternal God, our Father, Thou who hast placed us into a world of grave problems and perils, give us grace, we beseech Thee, to live for Thee in a difficult time. In the hard fight between truth and falsehood, help each of us to exact truthfulness. In the desperate struggle between love and hatred, may love be victorious. In the bitter controversy between right and wrong, help us to take our place on the side of that which is right no matter what the cost may be. Keep our motives clean and our purposes honest at all times.

Tonight, our Father, we would ask Thy blessing upon this House of Representatives. Bless each member and each officer in the dispatch of the business of the House. Bless too each guest who has assembled here to observe the conduct of the House while in session. Be with our State and Nation. May those in high places not only be wisely guided but divinely guided to the end that justice and goodness shall come to all men. Amen.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. WEISS asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Municipal Corporations to meet during the session of the House for the purpose of considering Senate Bill No. 801.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. O'BRIEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in the Pittsburgh Press of July 1st, is contained the following article, I quote:

"The house, on motion of Representative Brown, later accepted amendments to three pending anti-red bills, to provide for appeals to the courts on the part of public employes fired for subversive activities, relieves denied relief grants for the same reason, or parties barred from the ballot on grounds of subversive aims.

"Democrats supported the amendments, but in caucus Mr. O'Brien of the Philadelphia group, author of one of the measures, said he personally accused Mr. Brown of representing the Communists.

"I told the caucus that a Communist leader had informed me the bills were to be amended in the same manner proposed by Mr. Brown, so they must have been working together," Mr. O'Brien related.

He added that when Mr. Brown denied it, he took him to the Communist who had told him of the amendments, but that the latter backed 'down.'"

This article, Mr. Speaker, was written by Robert Taylor, Pittsburgh Press staff writer. For the information of the Speaker and the members of the House, I never met Mr. Taylor until this evening, yet I happened to be quoted in the Pittsburgh Press.

I publicly admit, Mr. Speaker, that the amendments offered in the first bills by Mr. Brown were the amendments suggested and authorized by a sub-committee of the Democratic caucus. In addition to that Mr. Speaker, certain amendments were offered by Mr. Cordier of Lackawanna County, which were opposed by Mr. Brown. In asking unanimous consent, Mr. Speaker, I am only too willing to defend any statements that I personally made, but when I am quoted by either a member of the press or any Member of the House whom I have never met, I think it is time to rise in defense of the Member whom I am quoted as accusing.

I say to you, Mr. Speaker, that at any time under the good graces of the House of Representatives I am called "the gentleman from Philadelphia," I will try to live up to that and be a gentleman from Philadelphia, and make my accusations or make my statements direct to the Speaker and the Members of the House.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. HARKINS.

HOUSE BILL No. 1963.

An Act to add clause (i) to section seven hundred and four of the act approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. Referred to the Committee on Elections.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CORDIER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I wish to rise at this time to say that I have served for several sessions with the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown. I have found him open, honest and sincere in all of his deliberations and all his actions, both on the floor and in the committee rooms.

With reference to the news item read by Mr. O'Brien of Philadelphia I wish to say that I am certain the amendments offered by Mr. Brown, these particular amendments, were not dictated by any subversive group. In fact, one of the amendments submitted was agreed to by me and had the approval of the Department of Public Assistance. That particular amendment to House Bill 448 provided for a method of appeal for the general assistance recipient. I am certain that the gentleman from Allegheny possesses sufficient intelligence and sufficient courage and independence to do his own thinking and not be subject to any pressure groups. I am certain that he is a true, loyal American and one of the ablest Members of the General Assembly, who should in no way be tied up with any of these subversive groups. I am happy as the sponsor of this piece of legislation to make this statement.

Mr. SHAW. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Shaw.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker—

Mr. SHAW. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BROWN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Allegheny Mr. Shaw for yielding so that my remarks may follow the remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. O'Brien and the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Cordier.

I want to express my appreciation to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. O'Brien, and to the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Cordier, for correcting the statement that appeared in the Press. I was somewhat hurt by the statement. Not that I wouldn't talk to a Communist or anybody else. I haven't risen so far, and I think I shall never rise so far that I will not speak to any man, but I was hurt when I was accused of telling what went on in committee, knowing full well that we went from Room 246 in the Capitol Building to the Legislative Reference Bureau and put in the amendments—the thought of the committee—returned to the House, and then on the next day the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Cordier, handed me a group of amendments clarifying a motion I had made, and which were presented here. I think the matter cast a reflection upon me and upon my honesty. I sincerely hold, Mr. Speaker, that above everything else we ought to be honest with those with whom we serve, and because of the fact that these statements may clear up the reflections cast upon me, I want to express my deep appreciation for the gentlemen's remarks.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON SEWING PROJECTS

Mr. SHAW. Mr. Speaker, as Chairman of your Special Committee named on the first day of the Session to investigate the troubles connected with the sewing projects of the W. P. A., I am, not making a final and formal report, but in view of the very drastic cuts which are presently being made in W. P. A. employment—and may I add that these cuts are necessitated by the reduced appropriation made by the Congress of the United States. I feel and my Committee feels that a short statement showing the Members of this House, the various things we have encountered and which are coming to us almost weekly should be made.

In the first place, Mr. Speaker, the members of your Special Committee appreciate very deeply the support given by every one of you to this Committee, and I as chairman of the Committee wish to express my gratitude to the members of the Committee for their very unselfish work and their untiring labors in trying to reach sensible conclusions on these problems.

Sometime ago I found it necessary, since the work has become so heavy, to ask another member to act as secretary of the Committee, and I asked the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. D'Ortona, to act in that capacity. My thanks are due also to him.

Within the past two weeks, Mr. Speaker, one of the most worthy projects, in my opinion, that has been conducted by W. P. A. has been closed throughout the State. Some of them are now being reopened. To show what one of those projects is, a nursery school, and what it means particularly to the people in the congested districts, I wish to read into the record one of the letters I have received from mothers in Philadelphia. It says:

"Dear Mr. Shaw: I am one of the many mothers who have a small child in the House of Industry Nursery School near Seventh and Catharine Streets which has been ordered closed this past Friday. We live in an apartment, have no yard for my child's recreation, cannot afford a private nurse or nursery or help. Physically I am not very strong and soon expect another child. In the past six months that my child has been at the nursery he has improved in many ways, and I also have benefitted very much. Us mothers have paid for our children's food and helped in many ways to keep the school open. It would be a crime to have these nurseries closed to deprive our children and us mothers of its manifold benefits which contribute to the physical welfare of our future citizens. I hope and pray that you will do all in your power to see that this nursery school is reopened as soon as possible. Very truly yours, Mrs. Rose Testa, 802 South 8th Street, Philadelphia, Pa."

Mr. Speaker, that is just one of the things with which your Committee has had to contend, and I submit to you and to all the Members of this House certainly there should be some agency in this Commonwealth empowered under the law to take up these relief projects and continue them. I am hopeful that some sort of arrangement may be reached under which all of these projects not only the nursery schools, but other projects which have employed people can be reopened, and in that way help these people. This is an informal report of my Committee. Thank you very much.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, this is another one of those bills which has been allowed to arrive at third reading and, no doubt, final passage by the long process of insinuation. This bill was referred to the Committee on Labor on the 10th day of April, and there it was allowed to languish for exactly two months to the very day. And yet, Mr. Speaker, this bill deals with a subject of extreme importance. Its passage could have very far reaching effect. Therefore, before the Members of this House are called upon to act on this bill I think it is right and proper that they should have more than a perfunctory understanding of these bills which are involved in this proposal.

House Bill No. 1231 proposes to supplement the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 by extending many of the provisions of that act to all employers and employees in this state, with certain specific exemptions.

Mr. Speaker, I believe we might all agree that an intra-state wage hour law if so drawn that it could be administered without confusion—with reasonable effort and reasonable cost to the people—might be of benefit to certain wage earners and to certain employers in our Commonwealth. Such a law would very likely result in adjustments in conditions of employment and working conditions for some employees, bringing these conditions in line with the modern concept of what they should be. Employees not presently affected by the Federal Labor Standard Act of 1938 and the myriads of bulletins, rulings, interpretations and court edicts that have grown out of that act, might benefit, to the extent of a better balance between the social and the working periods of their time. A well devised wage-hour law might bring about better adjustments of the family life of some workers in our state, and it could result in some extensions of opportunity for employment. All of this would be desirable.

If all of such benefits could be brought about for those workers not presently affected by the Federal Wage-Hour Act there would also be some benefits for certain classes of employers—particularly in merchandising lines in intra-state trade.

Some employers, under a well planned state wage-hour act might be relieved, to a certain extent at least, from competitive conditions based in some cases, upon tricky schedules of working hours and equally tricky wage arrangements.

I am trying to make very clear, Mr. Speaker, that I do not find fault with the principle underlying the bill which is now before us.

This bill, House Bill No. 1231, supplements the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 by extending many of the provisions of that Act to all employers and employees in the state with certain specific exemptions.

The Federal Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 applies to all employers and employees engaged in interstate commerce, and the term "interstate commerce" has been so liberally defined as to include a large proportion of the employers and employees in the state.

Mr. Speaker, I remember well, the Federal Wage-Hour law, from the day of its proposal to the day of its enactment was the subject of nation-wide interest. It was the subject of wide-spread debate in and out of Congress. It was the subject of countless trade and labor associations, of opinions—of public hearings—of committee hearings—and finally it was looked over, amended and otherwise altered so as to harmonize, as far as possible, a wide variety of circumstances and conditions either existing or projected—within the general economy of the nation.

Mr. Speaker, when the Federal Wage-Hour Act was under consideration it was regarded, not only by the Congress and the National administration, but by labor, industry and the public as drastic legislation, capable of far-reaching changes in the character and fundamentals of commerce and trade within the nation and in our National position in world trade.

Nevertheless, Mr. Speaker, in spite of the amazing thoroughness with which the Federal Act was prepared, it has been necessary, in administering the law to interpret, clarify and define nearly every word and phrase of the act and to issue volumes of bulletins and rulings. In a number of cases it has been deemed necessary to institute test suits in order to compose differences of opinion between industries and labor and the administration concerning interpretations of the statute. With the example before us of both the Federal act and the experiences of its administration we are now about to act upon a proposed state Wage-Hour law.

It may be argued here, that the Federal Act provides a model for this state and that we need only enact House Bill No. 1231 to bring wage and hour conditions in the State's commerce into harmony with conditions in interstate commerce. No argument could be more misleading.

To give first one of many examples of the inadequacies of this proposed law: we have in Pennsylvania many meat packing concerns doing a strictly intra-state business. Nevertheless nothing in the proposed law would provide for the exceptions necessary in that industry and which are fully recognized by the Federal administration whereby employes in that industry are exempted from the maximum hour provisions of the act for fourteen weeks per calendar year in order to handle fluctuations in live stock receipts.

Mr. Speaker, we are dealing here with a proposal in House Bill No. 1231 that is just as peculiar to Pennsylvania's intra-state commerce as the Federal Act is peculiar to inter-state commerce. But our problem is even greater by reason of the Federal Act by which many employes and many employers in Pennsylvania are inescapably bound.

It becomes very important, therefore, that any state wage-hour law shall provide for every wage-hour problem that is peculiar to intra-state trade and at the same time provide against any conflict between the state and federal acts.

I do not believe that this bill even remotely approaches that problem. The administrative agency, the Secretary of Labor and Industry in this case, would have the power to make rulings and interpretations, but only within the limits of the provisions of the act itself. He would need far more latitude than this act permits. Yet if adequate latitude were provided he would have a power so extensive as to make him absolute ruler of all industry, commerce and trade within the boundaries of the state.

Mr. Speaker, this bill has been written within the limited view of a few people. To say that they or any small group could possibly write an adequate wage-hour law for Pennsylvania, particularly in the light of experience with the national law, would be to raise these few to the status of gods. This bill was casually considered, if indeed it was considered at all by the Committee on Labor of this House for not more than one meeting of the Committee, without benefit of able expert advice, without opinion from the public, without anything.

To say that any part or all of our Labor Committee is competent to pass final approval on this type of legislation without benefit of great study, public hearings and competent expert advice, is to raise the gentlemen to the standing of geniuses.

I want to call to the attention of this House just a few of the wide open questions that are of importance and which clearly have not been considered at all by either the sponsors of this bill or the Committee on Labor.

House Bill 1231 does not exempt employers and employes already subject to the Federal Labor Standards Act. These employers and employes are governed by that act and by the very voluminous interpretation bulletins and regulations issued by the Administrator of that Act. A few of the points in question are as follows:

a. What constitutes the regular rate of wages in cases where the rate varies, where there is piece work or where there is travel time and so forth?

b. What must be considered as work time in connection with training work, special meetings, educational work and so forth?

c. What is an outside salesman and what constitutes agricultural labor?

d. Who are the executives and professional employes in an organization?

e. What are wages where there are other considerations such as board, lodging, traveling expenses, tips and so forth?

As the act stands, and even before regulations and orders are issued by the Secretary of Labor and Industry, there are vital differences between this bill and the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act which the Secretary of Labor and Industry will be powerless to rectify, as he cannot change the provisions of the Act itself.

No employer will be able consistently to observe both acts, and employes will be unable definitely to determine their rights where they are engaged in interstate commerce and subject to both Acts.

Political Sub-Divisions. Page 4, Section 2 (c) does not exempt the political sub-divisions of the state although it does exempt the state from the provisions of the Act.

Wages, Page 4, Section 2 (f) makes no provision to include board and lodging as a part of wages, and definitely states that tips or gratuities are not to be included. Board and lodging are definitely a part of wages in many cases within the State.

Daily Overtime. Page 5, Section 4 (a) this Section provides that one and one-half times the regular rate of pay shall be given for the hours in a day in excess of 8. This is in addition to the limit placed on the hours per week in excess of which time and one-half must be paid. It is not clear whether the hours paid for at time and a half daily would offset the hours to be paid for at time and a half because they exceed the weekly limit. For example: if the excess hours on Monday and Tuesday exactly equal the number of hours in excess of the weekly limit, would it be necessary also to pay time and a half for the hours in excess of the weekly limit?

This requirement of paying time and a half for all hours in excess of 8 in any one day will be a very onerous provision in many cases. It was not included as a provision of the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act.

Administration. Page 6, Section 6, authorizes the Department of Labor and Industry to set up a new bureau. Enforcement of this Act among all employers in the state would require a large force of inspectors and would lead to many court cases to determine the liability of employers under the act.

Records. Page 8, Section 8 (b)—employers are required to keep a record of the name, address, occupation, hours worked and amount paid each employe in or about the premises where any such employe is employed. Many concerns in the State have workers at scattered places and maintain centralized records containing this information. It would be impossible in many cases to keep these records at the place where work was performed. This provision could be changed so as to authorize central record keeping with a provision for producing the records at any place of employment on reasonable notice.

Mr. Speaker, any bill that proposes far reaching changes in the relations between employes and employers and the public should have the most intense and earnest consideration and study, and it should be subjected to criticism and opinion of all groups affected by its provisions.

There is a challenge in this subject of wages and hours. There may be a need in this state for a law that will protect certain classes of workers in intra-state trade from certain wage and hour practices. The same law should protect their employers from certain kinds of unhealthy competition. Thus there might be a law firmly rooted in the principle of equal justice to worker and employer alike and with due consideration for the public. If sincere and honest and enlightened leaders of workers and genuine friends of industrial peace in this or another legislature bend their energies to it, a Pennsylvania wage-hour law could be devised to which all could subscribe. Such a law must be developed in serious study and council and perfected by the aid of wide interest and advice. We should be against any such empty gestures as House Bill 1231, no matter what anyone may choose to do about it, and by the same token we should urge both the Democratic and Republican parties to support any effort to build a workable and just wage-hour law, no matter from what source the beginning may come. As a mark of genuine interest in the problem of wages and hours in intra-state commerce and industry, and as a token of a sincere desire eventually to achieve a real solution to that problem I believe that every Member of this House should vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I am not going to endeavor to answer the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. James, at length, but I do wish to read into the record a few brief comments on House Bill 1231.

House Bill 1231 is a new attempt to regulate minimum wage and maximum hour standards in Pennsylvania industry. The Legislature in 1937 attempted to pass similar legislation, which was held unconstitutional because it delegated legislative power to the Secretary of Labor and Industry. This act does not make the same mistake that was made in the so-called twenty-four hour week statute.

There is no unconstitutional delegation of legislative power in House Bill 1231, because Section 3 thereof sets forth the minimum wage rate specifically, while Section 4 sets forth just as specifically the maximum hours. Deviations from these limits are impossible, but the act is flexible in providing for wage boards to raise the standards in certain localities and industries. The broad sustaining principle which underlies all wage and hour legislation is that such legislation is a valid exercise of the police power of the General Assembly. The cases are extremely numerous which hold that the right to contract is subject to the police power of the sovereign state. There can be no question but that there is a definite relationship between the limitations of hours of employment and wages paid therefor and the public welfare of the citizens of the Commonwealth.

On the question of fixing wages the attention of the General Assembly is called to the line of cases sustaining the Act of April 24, 1913, generally known as the "Wage Collection Act", which cases were cited by myself a few days ago.

Since no article of the Pennsylvania Constitution is transgressed by this legislation, and since it is a valid exercise of the police power inherent in the Legislature, from a constitutional viewpoint, the act should be sustained.

Mr. Speaker, this proposed legislation is consistent in that it provides for labor in intra-state commerce the same as the Federal Wage and Hour Act provides for labor in inter-state commerce.

May I also supplement these remarks by saying that this bill will promote fair and decent competition for legitimate businesses and will eliminate the abuses that now occur in many industries whose employers deprive their employes of the American standard of living. May I also cite to you a paragraph from a paper which I noticed this evening relative to a ruling that was first handed down by the head of the department of Labor and Industry, Mr. Hines, in fixing the minimum wage in the laundry industry for those persons under twenty-one years of age. That ruling was upheld by the Dauphin County Court, and in the same instance the Attorney General, Claude T. Reno, upheld the act and in his argument said:

"It was designed to cure the evil of low wages."

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I submit for your favorable action House Bill 1231 and urge that you support the same.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

REASON FOR VOTE

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE filed the following reason for his vote.

I am voting in the affirmative on House Bill 329 only because I support its intent to abolish one of the unworkable requirements in liquor control enforcement which has helped to maintain the "speak easy" atmosphere in the traffic. I lament the poor manner in which the end is sought to be attained.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section four hundred two of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 905), entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety regulating the use of highways and the operation of vehicles tractors street cars trackless trolley omnibuses bicycles pedestrians and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth providing for the titling including liens encumbrances and legal claims registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribed fees prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue the Department of Highways peace officers mayors burgesses magistrates aldermen justices of the peace the courts and the clerks thereof owners of vehicles and garage keepers providing that records are admissible as evidence imposing upon owners counties cities boroughs incorporated towns townships within the Commonwealth liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles imposing penalties imposing certain costs upon counties providing for the disposition of fines forfeitures fees and miscellaneous receipts making an appropriation and providing for refunds" is hereby amended by adding thereto after clause (c) a new clause to read as follows

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the sponsor of the bill, Mr. Prosen of Philadelphia, to explain the provisions, and what he expects to accomplish by this legislation.

Mr. PROSEN. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Trout?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TROUT. I shall, Mr. Speaker,

Mr. PROSEN. Mr. Speaker, has the gentleman from Lancaster read the bill? I ask that because the bill is very short and there is no purpose in the bill other than that which is expressed in the eight or nine lines that constitute the bill.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, one of the questions I asked the gentleman from Philadelphia was what he expected to accomplish by the bill. I don't know that that is expressed in the bill.

Mr. PROSEN. Mr. Speaker, there is no purpose other than that which is expressed in the bill.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, I think there must be some purpose and there must be something the gentleman from Philadelphia wishes to accomplish by this proposed legislation. If there is no purpose in the bill there does not seem to me to be any reason why it should be enacted.

Mr. PROSEN. Mr. Speaker, I think I have answered the gentleman. Either vote for the bill or against it. There is no purpose other than what is stated in the bill. This bill happens to be a clean, innocent, so-called lawyers' bill.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, I thought probably he included the minor judiciary also. I would not have any particular objection to this bill if I could see where anything could be accomplished, but this bill if enacted would certainly give the Department of Revenue an untold amount of work, and any person, whether for his own personal curiosity or any other reason, could make a request of the Department of Revenue and find out how or where the owner was insured, if he carried insurance. Then again if a new registration is taken out or there is a renewal, or a change of insurance, it would be necessary to state that. If it is a lawyers' bill, I notice it was first made for attorneys at law and then afterward changed to any person, and I do not see any reason why the Department of Revenue should be placed in that position and given that amount of work without some real purpose in mind.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1462, as follows:

An Act to regulate the locating drilling casing filling and abandoning of natural gas and petroleum wells on property underlaid with workable bituminous coal beds having for its object the protection of life and property by preventing intrusion of oil and gas therefrom into coal mines in territory containing workable coal beds and conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Mines and providing penalties

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Article I

Definitions

Section 1 For the purpose of this act the following words terms and phrases shall have the meaning ascribed to them in this section except where the context clearly indicates a different meaning

Well The term "well" shall mean any bore hole drilled for the purpose of developing natural gas or petroleum or a bore hole producing natural gas or petroleum

Well Operator The term "well operator" shall include any person persons firm partnership corporation company or association that proposes to or does drill operate or abandon a well at a location shown by reliable records of the Department of Mines to be underlaid with a workable coal bed

Coal Operator The term "coal operator" shall include any person firm partnership corporation company or association that proposes to or does operate a coal mine in territory known or reputed to be underlain with oil or gas bearing strata

Department or Department of Mines The terms "Department" or "Department of Mines" shall mean the duly constituted authority under the laws of this state having jurisdiction over coal mine operations and oil and gas well operations as herein provided

Plat The term "plat" shall mean a map drawing or print made in accordance with the provisions of this act and showing the location of well or wells as herein defined

Casing The term "casing" shall mean a string or strings of pipe commonly placed in wells drilled for natural gas or petroleum

Oil and Gas The terms oil and "gas" shall be synonyms respectively for petroleum and natural gas

Cement The term "cement" shall mean hydraulic cement properly mixed with water only

Clay The term "clay" means a red clay impervious to water which when thoroughly mixed with water shall be used instead of cement when and where agreed upon by the coal operator the well operator and the Department of Mines

Workable Coal Bed The term "workable coal bed" shall mean any seam of coal twenty-four inches or more in thickness in the now known coal areas and a coal bed from which it is physically and economically feasible to remove coal and in which in the judgment of the Department of Mines protection of life and property is required when the wells are drilled through it The provisions of this act in so far as the casing of wells is concerned shall not apply to coal seams where in the opinion of the Department of Mines such well will be abandoned and plugged in accordance with the provisions of this act before mining operations reach the well location

Article II

Location of Well

Section 201 Before drilling a well on property underlaid with one or more known and workable coal beds the well operator shall notify the Department of Mines in writing of his desire to drill and send therewith a description and plat showing the proposed location

Section 202 The location of the well shall be determined by survey and the description and plat shall give the course and distance from two permanent points on the tract of land to be drilled together with the name of the tract and the names of the adjoining owners as well as the township and county in which it is to be located

Section 203 The location made in accordance with the provisions of section two shall be the final location unless objections thereto shall be made by either the coal operator or the Department of Mines within five days of receipt of the notice aforesaid In the event of such objection a final location shall be fixed in accordance with the majority opinion of the group of three persons made up of a representative of the Department of Mines the coal operator and the well operator and the record of it made a part of the permanent records of the Department of Mines Should the first location be final the plat showing it shall be filed among the permanent records of the Department of Mines

Section 204 Locations shall be made in such manner as to preclude the possibility of the passing of wells through traveling air haulage drainage or other passage ways of operating coal mines and in such manner as will obviate danger to mine operations and necessary surface structures The precaution here required shall apply also to workings and improvements which have been projected but not developed or made

A location which does not contemplate the retention of a pillar of coal surrounding the well for protection of the mine and the protection of the well itself shall not be approved except as hereinafter provided The sizes of such pillars as well as the distances of wells from passage ways mine openings and surface structures shall be jointly fixed by the majority opinion of the group of three comprised of a representative of the well operator the coal operator and the Department of Mines

Article III

Drilling of Wells and Protection of Wells and Workable Coal Beds

Section 301 A well penetrating one or more workable coal beds shall be drilled to such a depth and of such a size as will permit the placing of casing and packers in the hole at such points and in such manner as will exclude all oil gas or gas pressure from the coal bed except such as may be found in the coal bed itself

Each string of casing to be installed in the hole shall be provided with a steel casing shoe or collar to be firmly fixed on the bottom of the string of casing

Each string of casing run through a workable coal bed shall be seated at least thirty feet below said coal bed in twenty feet of cement mud clay or other non-porous material which will make an effective seal After the first string of casing has been so seated drilling may proceed to any required depth and a second string running through a workable coal bed as well as succeeding strings may be set in a similar manner

Section 302 In the event that gas is found beneath a workable coal bed before the hole has been reduced from the size it had been at the coal bed a packer shall be placed below the coal bed and the gas by means of it diverted to the inside of the adjacent string of casing through perforations made in said casing and through it passed to the surface without contact with the coal bed Should gas be found between two workable beds of coal in a hole of the same diameter from bed to bed two packers shall be placed with perforations in the casing between them permitting the gas to pass to the surface inside the adjacent casing In either of the cases here specified the strings of casing shall extend from their seats to the surface at the top of the well

Section 303 In the event that a well becomes productive of natural gas or petroleum all coal-protecting strings of casing shall remain in place during the life of the well During the life of the well the annular spaces between the various strings of casing adjacent to workable coal beds shall be kept open and the tops of the said casings shall be provided with casingheads or other suitable devices which will permit the free passage of gas but prevent accidental or malicious filling of the said annular spaces with dirt or debris

being concluded and the coal removed the hole shall be drilled at least thirty feet below the coal bed of a size sufficient to permit the placing of a liner which shall start not less than twenty feet beneath the horizon of the coal bed and extend not less than twenty feet above it Within this liner which may be welded to the casing to be used shall be centrally placed the largest sized casing to be used in the well and the space between the liner and casing shall be filled with cement as they are lowered into the hole Cement shall be placed in the bottom of the hole to a depth of twenty feet to form a sealed seat for both liner and casing Beyond this point drilling shall proceed in the manner named in previous sections of this article

Should it be necessary to drill through the horizon of two or more workable coal beds in which mining has been concluded and the coal removed the liner as aforesaid shall be started not less than twenty feet below the lowest horizon penetrated and be extended to a point not less than twenty feet above the highest

Article IV

Plugging and Abandonment of Wells

Section 401 Prior to the abandonment of a well within the area as defined by Article 2 the well operator shall notify in writing the coal operator if there be one involved and if known and the State Mining Department of his intention so to do in order that representatives of either or both may have opportunity to inspect the work of plugging and filing Whether or not such representatives be present five days after delivery of notice as aforesaid the well operator may proceed to plug and fill in the manner hereinafter described When said plugging and filling shall have been completed two experienced men who have performed the work shall make affidavit that it has been properly performed Said affidavit shall be made in triplicate and filed among the permanent records of the well operator the coal operator and the Department of Mines

Section 402 Where the well has penetrated one or more workable coal beds it shall be filled to and securely plugged at a point twenty feet above the top of the highest oil or gas-bearing stratum From this point the hole shall be solidly filled to the surface with mud clay or other non-porous material or it may be filled to the surface in the same manner starting from a securely anchored bridge not less than forty feet below the lowest workable coal bed

It is provided however that if in the judgment of the well operator the coal operator and the Department of Mines a permanent outlet to the surface is required such outlet shall be provided in the following manner

A plug of cement or other suitable material shall be placed in the well at a point not less than thirty feet below the lowest workable coal bed In this plug and penetrating it shall be securely fastened a two-inch pipe without obstructions which shall extend from the plug to a point five feet above the surface where it shall be provided with a "U" shaped bend

Following the setting of the cement plug and two-inch outlet pipe as aforesaid the hole shall be filled with cement to a point twenty feet above the lowest workable coal bed From this point the hole shall be filled with mud clay or other non-porous material to a point thirty feet beneath the next overlying workable coal bed if such there be and the next succeeding fifty feet of the hole filled with cement From the point last named the remainder of the hole shall be filled with mud clay or other non-porous material Should there be more than two workable coal beds each shall be protected and the hole finally filled in the manner heretofore described in this same paragraph

Article V

Coal Mining

Section 501 Before opening a mine on property known or reputed to be underlain with oil or gas-bearing strata turn the coal operator shall notify the well operator or operators in possession of the rights to drill in such oil or gas-bearing stratum when known of his intention to do so and shall send therewith a plat showing the proposed location of the mine and having projected thereon as nearly as may be the proposed manner of operation on said property. He shall at the same time and in the same manner notify the Department of Mines of his intention.

Section 502 The location and projection shown on the plat aforesaid shall be final unless objection thereto shall be made by either the well operator or the State Department of Mines within five days of receipt of the notice aforesaid. In the event of such objection another and final location and projection shall be fixed in accordance with the majority opinion of the group of three persons made up of a representative of the Department of Mines the coal operator and the well operator and the record of it made a part of the permanent records of the Department of Mines. Should the first location and projection be final the plat on which they are shown shall be made a part of the permanent records of the Department of Mines.

Section 503 Changes in the final location herein specified may be made by the coal operator provided that the well operator and the Department of Mines shall have had five days' prior notice which notice shall describe the change proposed and provided further that the change proposed shall not interfere with work already performed by the well operator.

Article VI

Administration

Section 601 It shall be the duty of the Department of Mines acting through its mine inspectors to exercise general supervision over the drilling and abandoning of all wells drilled in the Bituminous Coal region of Pennsylvania within the area as defined in Article 2 for the production of natural gas or petroleum and the records and operations of well operators and coal operators so far as may be necessary for the proper administration of the provisions of this act shall at all times be open for examination by the duly authorized deputies of the Department.

Section 602 All expenditures necessary for the proper performance of the requirements imposed by these regulations shall be made by well operators and coal operators as and when their needs shall appear and shall be collectible by each from the other in proportion as their respective rights are established in any particular property which is by them jointly owned or operated.

Section 603 Whether or not it is expressly stated hereinbefore appeal from any decision agreement interpretation or modification made under the provisions of this act may be made to the court of common pleas of the county in which the property involved is located by any of the interested parties. All operations affected by such an appeal shall be suspended pending its hearing and the decision of the court of common pleas in any such appeal shall be final.

Article VII

In the House of Representatives, July 7, 1941.

Whereas, The House of Representatives has been profoundly shocked to learn of the sudden death in an automobile accident of the Honorable Lee S. Fake, seventy-two year old attorney, and a former member of the House; and

Whereas, Lee S. Fake was known throughout the County of York, where he practiced law, both for his knowledge of the law and for his ethical conduct which was of the highest; and

Whereas, He was prominent in all the communal activities of his home, and a leading member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Stoverstown; and

Whereas, Throughout his lifetime, he devoted himself to the improvement of his community, and to the highest principles of the American Bar; be it therefore

Resolved, That the House of Representatives mourns the passing of so distinguished a citizen of this Commonwealth; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House mail a copy of this resolution to the family of the deceased as a token of the most sincere sympathy of the House of Representatives for them in so great a bereavement.

Resolved, That the House of Representatives congratulates the Honorable James R. Rooney on his natal day and wishes him many happy returns of the day.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WATKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I hesitate at this late moment to call your attention to a bill which I figure is a very important bill, which goes to make up a part that we have undone in the 1939 session, and which leaves the commissioners of the various counties throughout the Commonwealth holding what I might call the bag in the sale of property for taxes.

This bill was introduced on April 2nd and referred to the Committee on Municipal Corporations on April 7th. It was reported as committed May 12th, passed first and second reading, and with the understanding by myself as a member of that committee, I returned it to the Committee on Municipal Corporations on May 19th. I deem it highly important to let the Members of the House know just exactly what this bill means. Mr. Speaker, if I did not think this was an important bill, I would hesitate to bring it to your attention.

Section 1. This bill provides for the discharge of mortgages against real property when sold at county treasurers' tax sale, and also on property purchased at such sales and now in the possession of the county commissioners when they sell the same at public sale.

A procedure is set up by the bill which gives adequate notice to all interested parties, as follows:

Subsection (a). The purchaser at the tax sale must, before period of redemption expires, petition court giving facts concerning the sale, the mortgages charged against the property, and the names and addresses of the holders, etc. The court issues a rule on the mortgage holders to answer the petition. If he does answer, the court fixes a date for hearing. If he fails to answer, or if upon hearing he can show no legal objections to the proceedings, the court makes the rule absolute, and after the period of redemption expires a decree is entered discharging the lien of such mortgage and providing for the proper entry thereof on the mortgage record.

The notice of such proceedings is served on the mortgage holder who lives in the county, the same as writs of summons are served. If he lives in another county he is served by the sheriff of that county. If he lives out of the Commonwealth he may be served by registered letter, and by posting a notice of the proceedings on the property involved.

If property is redeemed any time during the redemption period, the proceedings are ended, and the person redeeming the same pays the costs involved in such proceedings.

Subsection (b). Property now in possession of the county commissioners must be sold at public sale (a) if the period of redemption has heretofore expired, within two years after this act is approved; (b) if the period has not yet expired, within one year after it does expire. At least six months before the sale, the county commissioners petition court in the same manner as above described and the same service of notice is provided for as in the other proceedings. If no legal objection is shown the court orders the public sale of the property, to be held at least six months after the date of the petition, freed and discharged from the lien of the said mortgage.

Section 2. The bill requires the county commissioners to sell at public sale real property within one year (now six months) after the redemption period shall expire. Property now in their possession and for which the period of redemption has expired, must be sold within two years (now six months) after the approval of this act.

Section 3. The bill provides for the distribution to the various taxing authorities, of the proceeds of all treasurers' sales, sales by the county commissioners, and moneys received from redemptions. (This is badly needed as the present law does not have such provision).

If there is any balance remaining after the tax claims are paid, it goes to the payment of other claims against the property according to their priority.

Mr. Speaker, I especially would ask the majority of the House, my good friend, the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Weiss, who is Chairman of the Municipal Corporations Committee, and my other good friend, Mr. Achterman, the floor-leader on that side of the House, to give this bill their honest consideration. I personally, being the sponsor of the bill, have not heard any objections to it, and I ask you in all fairness, because I think consideration is due it to give it your consideration and bring the bill back on the floor of the House and let us vote on it and pass it before we adjourn. Thank you very kindly.

RESOLUTION No. 107

Mr. TATE. Mr. Speaker, I call up at this time Resolution No. 107, Printer's No. 1110.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 23, 1941.

Whereas By virtue of Act No. 3 approved March 19th 1941 a State Council of Defense was established and

Whereas Under Section 4 of the aforesaid act the State Council of Defense was given the following powers

"(e) To supervise and direct investigations and report to the Governor with recommendations for legislation or other appropriate action as it may deem necessary with respect to the following matters in so far as they are or may be related to defense

* * * *

(6) Consumers and consumer protection" and

Whereas There has been an unjustifiable increase in the price of food stuffs and commodities to the consumers of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania which is not predicated on any shortage of such food stuffs and commodities but rather appears to be based purely on motives of profiteering and

Whereas Immediate steps should be taken to stop such unjustifiable increases in the prices of food stuffs and commodities be it therefore

Resolved That the House of Representatives requests the State Council of Defense to immediately take such action commensurate with its powers to prevent any further increase in such food stuffs and commodities and be it further

Resolved That the State Council of Defense immediately notify the National authorities so that all possible steps shall be taken to protect the consumers of this Commonwealth from exploitation and be it further

Resolved That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives forward a copy of this resolution to the chairman of the State Council of Defense immediately upon its final adoption

On the question,
Will the House adopt the resolution?
It was adopted.

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from McKean will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, on what page of the Calendar does the bill appear?

The PRESIDENT. This bill is not on the Calendar at all. It just came over from the House, was laid on the table temporarily, and taken from the table at the request of the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, who now moves that the Senate non-concur.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I might explain to the gentleman from McKean that this is the so-called unfair sales bill, which was amended several times in the Senate, sent over to the House, and the House has stricken out most of the Senate amendments, and some taken out by the House were amendments placed in by the Senate in order to avoid various controversial subjects.

Mr. President, I might say to my colleagues I think the bill is bound for a conference committee, and I would like to get it on its way, because we have hopes we are going to adjourn this week, and I therefore would like to have it started on its way.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 501, (House Bill No. 710), on final passage, entitled:

An Act to enable tax collectors and receivers of taxes to make return to the county commissioners of unpaid taxes assessed on seated lands for certain years; and validating the liens of such taxes

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like the Majority Floor Leader to explain or state whether or not Senate Bill No. 500 on the Calendar is to be passed, because these two bills seem to me to deal with the same subject, except that Senate Bill No. 501, which is now before us for action, deals with counties and the other deals with the whole state. Senate Bills No. 500 and No. 501 deal with the same subject matter and allow tax collectors to sue and collect for taxes of prior years. Senate Bill No. 501 restricts it to three particular years back of 1943. Senate Bill No. 500 is a broad authority to every tax collector in every part of the state and it does not restrict. Mr. President, the two bills are quite inconsistent. We are now talking about Senate Bill No. 501, which is before us at this time.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I do not think I understand the question, if I was asked a question, and I would ask that it be repeated.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the question is Senate Bill No. 501, which we are now acting on, deals, as I read it, with the same subject matter as Senate Bill No. 500, which is on page 2 of the Calendar. They both give the right to collect back taxes; the first one restricts it to three years back of 1942. The other one, Senate Bill No. 500 is a broad power and does not restrict it, and that bill gives tax collectors the right to collect taxes back for twenty-five years if they want to.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I understand the one bill refers to tax warrants and the other refers to unpaid taxes which was confined by an amendment. I believe yesterday, to just three years. I do not believe these bills are inconsistent, but I will say I am not a tax expert, and it may be that somebody else here is in better position to answer that question than I am. I do not believe however they are inconsistent.

Mr. SHAPIRO. I do not really know, Mr. President. The reason I asked the question is that I am not familiar with the counties, institutions and small districts to know whether there is any real difference between a warrant and the tax referred to in these bills.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, as I understand Senate Bill No. 501, (House Bill No. 710), it extends the warrants of collectors which would have or did expire in the last two or three years; I think it extends the warrants of collectors 1938, 1939 and 1940. Senate Bill No. 500, (House Bill No. 708), allows tax collectors to make returns for those years in which they had failed to make returns.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, since the gentleman from Somerset has undertaken to answer, I would like to call his attention to page 2 of Senate Bill No. 500 line 2: "tax collectors have heretofore expired or will expire during" subsequent years and Senate Bill No. 500, Section 1, reads: "In all cases in which the period of limitation of the warrants of the duplicates of the county, poor institution, districts, road, city, township, ward, school and borough tax collectors have heretofore expired or will expire during the years 1941 and 1942." In other words, Senate Bill No. 500 goes all the way back where Senate Bill No. 501 only covers three years.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, one is returns; the other is warrants.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Does it make any difference? If the gentlemen on the other side know what it is, it is all right with me.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I notice that both Senate Bill No. 501 and Senate Bill No. 500 are House bills, and therefore I do not see that it would do any harm to have both of those bills go over in order for further study.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1274, (House Bill No. 1178), entitled:

An Act providing that the compensation of tax collectors shall be fixed by the taxing authorities at least ninety days prior to their election.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,
On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I wonder if all the members of the Senate know what this bill provides. The title provides "that compensation of tax collectors shall be fixed by the taxing authorities at least ninety days prior to their election." That means, when you read the bill, ninety days prior to the election of the tax collector. You can take a school board, let us say. The school boards change every other year, there are different school directors elected. How can they fix the compensation of a tax collector who has been elected before they have been elected? Then, the school code provides that the school directors shall fix their salary and the salary fluctuates, one year they might make it two, the next year two and one half and maybe the year after they might make it one and a half. I can not see the wisdom or the necessity of this bill at all. This is a very bad bill in my judgment, and should not be here at all. It is impractical for the levying authorities to fix the salaries of the tax collectors in advance, or before the tax collector is elected.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I am going to ask unanimous consent to introduce amendments to Senate Bill No. 1308, but first I think I should make a short explanation.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Delaware will proceed.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 1308 was introduced by my colleague from Somerset, Senator Ealy, at the request of the Department of Agriculture. It is an attempt to amend a law passed in 1933 licensing bakers, which had an exemption in it of those bakers using less than fifty pounds of flour per week. This act was held unconstitutional by Judge Sarah M. Soffel, of the Allegheny County Court, and this bill now has to be amended to change the definition of bakers to exclude those not using more than fifty pounds of flour per week.

These amendments were offered yesterday, but my very learned colleague from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, objected to them, claiming they were not in order. Today I again took the amendments up with the Attorney General's Department and they tell me the amendments are in order and fit like a new shoe.

Therefore, Mr. President, I submit the identical amendments again.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to amend the title, page 1, first line of title by inserting after the word "To" the words: "amend section one"; Amend the title, page 1, first line of title by striking out the words "the first paragraph of"; Amend the title, page 1, first line of title, by inserting after the word "three" the words: "and to reenact section six"; Amend the title, page 1, next to last line of title by striking out the word "extending" and inserting in lieu thereof the words: "redefining 'bakery'; removing"; Amend the title, page 1, last line of title by inserting after the word "requirements" the following: "requiring registered bakery products to show the fact of such registration; making it unlawful for any person to sell, offer for sale or have in possession with intent to sell unregistered bakery products or to import bakery products, from bakeries not licensed hereunder; and making possession prima facie evidence of intention to sell"; Amend sec. 1, page 1, line 1, by striking out the words "The first paragraph of section three" and inserting in lieu thereof the words: "Section 1"; Amend sec. 1, page 2, line 5, by striking out the word "manufactue" and inserting in lieu thereof the word: "manufacture"; Amend sec. 1, page 2, line 7, by inserting after the word "penalties" the following: "is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1. Be it enacted, etc., That—Definitions—The following words and terms, as used in this act, shall be construed as follows:

"Bakery" means and includes all buildings, and parts of buildings, cellars and basements, used for the manufacture and handling of bakery products intended for sale, and for the mixing and other preparation of ingredients and materials entering into the manufacture of bakery products, where more than fifty pounds of flour, flour substitute, flour mixture, or potatoes are used each week in the preparation of such products.

"Bakery products" means and includes bread, rolls, cakes, cookies, crackers, ice cream cones, crullers, doughnuts, biscuits, pies, macaroni, spaghetti, noodles, alimentary pastes, pretzels, potato chips, and all other products whatever manufactured in a bakery and intended for human consumption, as well as the ingredients and materials entering into their manufacture.

"Person" means an individual, copartnership, association, and corporation.

"Department" means the Department of Agriculture of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Section 2. Section three of said act,

Amend sec. 1, (sec. 3), page 2, line 23, by striking out the word "bakeies" and inserting in lieu thereof the word: "bakeries"; Amend sec. 1, (sec. 3), page 2, line 27, by inserting a light-face bracket before the word "Provided"; Amend sec. 1, (sec. 3), page 2, line 27, by striking out the light-face bracket before the word "in"; Amend sec. 1, (sec. 3), page 2, line 28, by striking out the light-face bracket after the word "Pennsylvania"; Amend sec. 1, (sec. 3), page 3, line 1, by striking out the word "productst" and inserting the word "products"; Amend sec. 1, (sec. 3), page 3, line 3, by inserting a light-face bracket after the word "license"; Amend the bill, page 3, by inserting between lines 3 and 4, the following:

The application for a license and registration shall be made on a form to be supplied by the department, and shall show trade names of all products and principal address of bakery. The application shall have attached thereto the affidavit of the person applying for the license that the facts set forth therein are true and correct.

From and after the first day of January, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four, it shall be unlawful for any person to operate a bakery for the manufacture of bakery products unless said bakery is duly licensed in accordance with the provisions of this act.

Upon approval of application for registration and license and payment of required license fee, and also upon approval of sanitary conditions in a bakery and every store or shop connected therewith, the Department of Agriculture shall issue to each applicant a license or certificate of registration, which shall expire at the end of each calendar year, and which will authorize the operation of said bakery and the baking, compounding, manufacturing, and sale of said bakery products for the calendar year, or portion thereof, for which a license or certificate of registration shall be issued.

Section 3. Section 6 of said act, as added by section two of the act approved the first day of July, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven, (P. L. 2676), is hereby reenacted as follows:

Section 6. Sale and Importation of Bakery Products—It shall be unlawful for any person—

(a) To sell, offer for sale, or have in his possession with intent to sell, a bakery product which is not registered with the department as provided in this act. Possession of any bakery product shall be deemed prima facie evidence of an intent to sell such bakery product.

(b) To import into this Commonwealth for sale within this Commonwealth any bakery products manufactured in a bakery in another state that is not licensed according to the laws of this Commonwealth.

Amend sec. 2, page 3, line 4, by striking out the figure "2" and inserting in lieu thereof the figure "4."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, in view of the fact that I raised an objection to these amendments yesterday, I think it only fair to state that I went over these amendments this morning with the gentleman who offered them, and while they do fit like a new shoe, they were pretty tight, and it took an hour's time to figure them out, but I think they are now in shape where the gentleman is correct. I have followed the bill very carefully now and very thoroughly, and I think there is no objection to them.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Fayette will state his point of order.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, the section of the act which these amendments affect is not contained in the bill on our desks.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware explain.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, it looks to me like I am having trouble with another lawyer. We had this bill up for amendment last night, as the Chair knows.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair was not here last night.

Mr. HEYBURN. That is right, Mr. President, the Chair was down in York County attending to public business. The gentleman from Somerset, Senator Ealy, was in the Chair, and at that time I offered amendments. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, made some objection and, after a conference in the Attorney General's office this morning, at which time I understand they brought over a marked copy, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, is convinced the amendments do fit.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, some of these days we members of this body who fortunately or unfortunately belong to the legal profession are going to feel themselves hurt by this constant reflection upon the legal profession.

Now, Mr. President, the gentleman from Delaware is not arguing with another attorney at all, he is now arguing with another member of this Senate of Pennsylvania, duly elected under the Constitution to represent the people of this Commonwealth.

My objection to the present amendments is on the point of order that the section of the Act of Assembly the gentleman is here amending is not contained in the bill on my desk. The only section of the act of May 22, 1933 that it on my desk for amendment is section 3 of that act, and the amendments now introduced by the gentleman from Delaware, pertain to a section of that act which is not on my desk and I can not follow these amendments.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, may I point out to the gentleman from Fayette that one of the amendments to this proposed bill is to amend the numeral "3" on page 1 of the bill, line 1, by changing it to section 1 instead of section 3. My recollection is that is what has happened and has resulted in the confusion. The first amendment, as I recall from last night, is to amend page 1, section 1, line 1, by striking out the words "section 3," and inserting in lieu thereof "section 1."

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, may I inquire of the gentleman from Delaware whether there is an amendment to the title?

Mr. HEYBURN. There is, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Does the gentleman from Fayette still wish to retain the floor?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Certainly, Mr. President, I still retain the floor.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Fayette will proceed.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I still stand on my point of order because the bill, as it now rests on our desks, printer's number 563, is a bill to amend section 3 of the act of May 22, 1933.

The gentleman from Delaware has changed that line 1 on page 1, to apply to section 1. That is perfectly all right, but his amendments then do not only amend section 1 of that act of 1933, but amends other sections of that act which are not on my desk and I cannot follow his amendments.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I here have this marked copy. I might suggest to the gentleman from Fayette that he examine it.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair may be in error in permitting the reading of all the sections. However, that has been the custom of the Senate, in order to facilitate matters. As the Chair understands the first section, if the present amendment is adopted to the first section, that would change it and make it legal.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, that only applies to one section, section 1.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I would like first to say to the gentleman from Fayette, as well as the rest of the members of this Senate, Senate Bill No. 1308 is a very important bill, which was introduced late in the session, because Judge Soffel, of the Allegheny County Court, did not rule on this matter until a few days ago.

Mr. President, this is a Senate bill and it must be sent over to the House and I do not know whether or not the delay of one day, yesterday, has prevented the adoption of this legislation (but I am quite sure a delay of another day might do so, and I suggest to the gentleman from Fayette that he accept my word that these amendments are proper and that he examine the bill when it is printed. If the gentleman from Fayette tomorrow objects to the bill why, of course, then he can suggest further amendments. Meanwhile, I will furnish to the gentleman from Fayette a marked copy of the bill as amended.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair adheres to the position formerly stated. The Clerk will again read the amendments.

The Clerk again read the amendments.

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the Senate the amendments just read refer to Section 1.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, the Chair has stated that he stood on his position that the amendments referred only to section 1 of the Act of 1933, but the three amendments offered and read and inserted in the title are for the purpose of reenacting section 6, and section 6 is not on my desk, in printer's number 563 of this bill.

Mr. EALY. I do not understand, Mr. President, that there is any legal objection or constitutional objection to inserting amendments to other sections, but I wish the Senator from Fayette would allow this to go through on third reading. As I understand it, Judge Soffel has ruled that the old regulatory act was unconstitutional. That means, Mr. President, the Department of Agriculture will have no control should the ruling by Judge Soffel stand, in connection with the matter of bakery products.

I believe this case arose through the sale of noodles in boxes, which were not branded properly. When the bill was introduced the Department of Agriculture did not have a copy of the decision of Judge Soffel. That decision was later obtained and that is the reason for submitting the present amendments.

I recall during the first World War, when there was less regulation upon bakery products, that a number of bakers put almost anything into their loaves of bread, and with this emergency coming along it would seem to me there should be some control over those products. I do not know whether I am in favor of the bill as amended or not, but I feel if this bill is to pass at all, the amendments should be inserted today.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair may not understand the point of order raised by the Senator from Fayette, but it is the understanding of the Chair this bill originally intended to amend just one section of the act.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. That is correct, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Let the Chair finish his statement. It is the understanding of the Chair this bill originally intended to amend one section of the act, and now it is intended to amend another section of the act. Is that the objection of the Senator from Fayette?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Yes, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. That particular point of order was raised earlier in the present session, but this is not an amendment to any section; this is an amendment to the act. The Chair ruled previously that any section of an act could be amended, notwithstanding the fact that the original bill as introduced referred to one section only. If the Chair recalls correctly, that point of order was raised in connection with amendments which were proposed by one of the departments and the matter was then referred to the Attorney General. That bill originally referred to but one section to be amended, and the Attorney General agreed with the position of the Chair, that the subsequent amendments were to the act and did not vitiate or void the bill.

The Chair will adhere to that original ruling.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The amendments were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That said bill as amended be printed for the use of the Senate.

Mr. KEPHART. May I suggest, Mr. President, that this bill be not read the second time today, so that it may be printed and be before the Senators tomorrow.

The PRESIDENT. The regular orderly procedure would be to consider section by section, but where there is no objection, or the Chair assumes there is no objection, then the practice has been to vote on amendments collectively. Of course, the Chair will entertain a point of order at any time to change that procedure.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, is it the intention that we vote on these amendments now?

The PRESIDENT. It is.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I thought the plan was to have the bill, with the amendments, printed.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 707, (House Bill No. 1023), on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, before the bill goes over in order, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Luzerne, Dr. Mundy.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Luzerne permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MUNDY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, when this bill was before us last week I understood, in substance, the gentleman from Luzerne to say that because I made remarks in opposition to this bill that I had ceased to be the champion of the little man and had become the godfather of the vested interests. Am I correct in that?

Mr. MUNDY. I will say the gentleman is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I want to defend myself against that reflection, at this time before this bill goes over, and now read from the bill in its condition as it appears in Printer's No. 1045, as it was before us last week. On page 2, section 2, the bill provides:

"No person, partnership, corporation or association engaged in any business or trade in this Commonwealth"—I hope the gentleman from Luzerne is following me.) "shall by any method or procedure directly or indirectly by itself or through a subsidiary agency sell or procure for sale or have in its possession or under its control for sale to its employees or to any other person any article, material, product or merchandise of whatever nature not of his or its own production or not handled in his or its regular course of trade or business."

Then, at that part of the section appears the first exception, or proviso: "Provided, That this section shall not apply to the sale or distribution of (1) meals, candy, cigarettes, cigars, tobacco or (2) tools and material used or worn by employees in such trade or business or appliances and products which are used and worn by employees and are or may be beneficial to the safety, health and working conditions of such employees."

Then, Mr. President, at that place appears the second exception, which reads as follows: "And provided further, That the provisions of this act shall not apply to co-operative associations organized under the laws of this Commonwealth."

Then, Mr. President, comes the third exception, a tail so large that the rest of the body of the bill is—and I want the gentleman from Luzerne to pay particular attention to it: "And provided further, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit or prevent any person, firm or corporation engaged in any industry, business or trade from owning and operating either directly by itself or through any agency or subsidiary a bona fide store or stores for the sale of goods to his or its employees and others."

Will the gentleman from Luzerne, Dr. Mundy, tell us who that particular exception excludes from the provisions of this bill?

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I think the gentleman from Fayette is discussing some of the amendments that were placed in the bill by the Senate. I ask if we were discussing amendments placed in the bill in the Senate?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. I am, Mr. President, because this last exception or provision in the bill apparently was inserted by the Senate after the bill came to the Senate from the House. I want to be fair to the gentleman from Luzerne. I feel that those remarks made by him last week were made without him having knowledge that the committee that reported this bill out in the Senate attached that exception, which reminds you of an animal whose tail is six or seven or a hundred times longer than the animal. That is what this bill is in its present form. This exception to it is, in substance this, that no person, partnership, corporation or association shall do a particular act, and then section three says the bill shall not be construed to apply to any person, firm or corporation that has a bona fide store. In other words, it is like passing a bill making an act unlawful and then saying in a provision that this bill shall not apply to any resident of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Now, Mr. President, this second exception that I have read excludes from the provisions of this bill certain individuals, and I am wondering whether the gentleman from Luzerne, Dr. Mundy, knows what persons, firms or corporations this particular provision excludes from the provisions of the bill.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I might say to the gentleman from Fayette that one of the amendments put in there, and I was thoroughly familiar with it, was put in for the specific purpose of protecting the mining industry, in which I think the Senator himself is very much interested, due to the fact that the operators have sold to miners hats and helmets and materials with which they work.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. I think then that the gentleman from Luzerne agrees with me that this excludes big business, the bill does not apply to big business? Not only does it exclude mining companies that he represents, and I represent, but it says that nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit or prevent any person, firm or corporation engaged in any industry, business or trade from owning and operating stores wherein they can sell to their employes and other persons.

With that exception in the bill, will the gentleman from Luzerne kindly tell us to whom the bill applies?

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I do not see anything in the bill that says a coal company could sell its employes a piano or an automobile or anything else; it simply states they could sell to them materials they need to use in the industry in which they are engaged.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. That is correct, Mr. President, but will the gentleman from Luzerne permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. MUNDY. I will, Mr. President, gladly.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Does not the exception also exclude from its provisions other industries, other businesses and other trades, besides the coal mining industry?

Mr. MUNDY. I do not so interpret the bill.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Then, Mr. President, what do the words mean, "that nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit or prevent any person, firm or corporation engaged in any industry, business, or trade?"

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, the gentleman, of course, is confusing the issue by reading a portion of the bill and not reading the bill in continuity. To point to any section or extract of a section sounds very well, but if the gentleman will, if he cares to, start at the beginning of the bill and read it all the way from beginning to end, instead of taking some extract, that makes a nice false basis on which to build up a beautiful logic, I will be glad to have him read the whole bill.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. That is all. Thank you, Dr. Mundy.

Mr. President, I was hoping the gentleman from Luzerne would have seen the error of his remarks made last week, but apparently he wishes to adhere dogmatically to them, and for that I am not going to quarrel with him, but I wish to state at this moment that it is the gentleman from Luzerne who is interested in the protection of the vested interests and not me, because this exception to the bill specifically excludes the vested interests and applies only to the little country store and the little independent retailer on the street corner, and I doubt very seriously whether it applies to him now, with this exception which excludes everybody from the provisions of the bill. It is a bill that first says you can not do this act, and then someone attaches a tail to the bill that is about a hundred times larger and more powerful than the bill itself.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, may I interrogate the Senator from Fayette?

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Fayette permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MUNDY. May I ask the Senator from Fayette—he is familiar with the old-fashioned company store, about which he has now spent about fifteen minutes eulogizing or talking about—if he knows of any time within his knowledge that his old store, on which there is an exception, has refused to sell anything to the public generally, in a mining settlement, at the same price as they sold to their own people?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I will answer the gentleman from Luzerne in these words. As far as the bituminous coal mining districts of this state are concerned, they do not need this bill, because at the present time we still have those stores that probably the gentleman from Luzerne remembers were called the "pluck me" stores, and in the western part of this state, through Fayette, Westmoreland and Washington counties, the United States Steel Corporation has a subsidiary, the Union Supply Company, which maintains a company store, as we call them, at every coal plant, and they have conducted that business for years and years. This particular bill does not affect them at all, because they are too big, they are too powerful—it is the United States Steel Corporation. This bill, as it is drawn up now with these exceptions, excludes the United States Steel. I imagine they are not the vested interests the gentleman referred to last week, and applies only to the small, independent grocer or retailer in all of the bituminous coal fields. They can not do what this bill permits the United States Steel Corporation to do.

Mr. MUNDY. I still think maybe I am obtuse and I do not know whether I can grasp this situation properly, but the point the Senator seems to want to drive home is that he still remains the champion of the common people. Will the Senator be content with the fact that I have only stated that he wandered from the beaten path on one occasion, and this is the specific occasion, and that I still think within his heart and his mind and by experience, he really is and wants to be the champion of the common people.

Now, Mr. President, if the Senators will indulge me a moment and the Chair will grant me permission, I would like to read into the record—since this bill is under discussion—a few facts relative to this bill.

The PRESIDENT. With reference to Senate Bill No. 707?

Mr. MUNDY. Yes, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection, the Senator from Luzerne may proceed.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I will request the Senator from Fayette, as he requested me, to pay very careful attention to the remarks that I am going to make.

Those of us who ask the Pennsylvania Legislature to enact House Bill No. 1023 are not motivated by a selfish attempt to secure perpetuation of any system of distribution nor do we ask to alter the trend of evolution in this important phase of the nation's economy. We are interested in stopping those acts and trends which, allowed to go unchecked, would undoubtedly scuttle our major system of distribution.

It has become an American axiom that in open competition, the lowest costs and prices will be reached, and that our economy exists for the public and not the public for the economy. Our distribution system must be sound, and if in time consumer cooperatives or government owned distribution should prove that it can care for the needs of the public at a lower cost than retailing, then such a system of distribution should be afforded the protection we now ask for retailing.

The American consumer relies upon retailing to obtain for him what he wants, when he wants it, at the lowest possible price, and in order for retailing to do so, it must have the cooperation of the consumer to bring out into the open the semi-secretive, non-competitive, and therefore un-American methods which strike at the very foundation of our economy and affect the virility of all those who compete openly for American markets.

During the past ten years, our distribution system has been beset by many ills, not the least of which is the alarming competition that has arisen from curbstome brokers, wholesalers who sell at retail, and large industrial organizations who offer employees discount privileges. These three aforementioned non-competitive forces perform none of the functions of retailing, which we Americans have come to believe to be fundamental services upon which a country wide distribution is based, namely:

1. Available Inventories
2. Display
3. Demonstration
4. Delivery
5. Servicing
6. Financing

At first, these "discount outlets" were in the nature of a nuisance, but in the last couple of years, the total business of the non-retailer began to play a very important part in the total buying of practically every item sold by retailers. A national retail association recently disclosed information obtained from a survey conducted in metropolitan Boston by Gerald B. Tallman, a professor at Harvard University, whose findings were published in the Harvard Business Review; such survey disclosing that in the area covered, "the total retail sales volume was $600,000,000. About $450,000,000 of the total retail sales were made by food, general merchandise, apparel, restaurant, and other retail stores that are not bothered much by the problem herein considered. For the kinds of business represented in the remaining $150,000,000 sales, it is reasonable to believe that sales at a discount may have been equal to from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000, or from 5% to 7% of the total sales in these latter businesses."

This disclosure prompted Pennsylvania Retail Groups to investigate conditions in this State, and it was found that because of the highly industrial nature of Pennsylvania, this percentage is much higher. Pennsylvania had a retail sales volume of approximately $3,600,000,000. About $2,000,000,00 of the total retail sales were made by retailers not affected by these discount problems. For the business represented by the remaining $1,600,000,000, it was discovered that about $192,000,000 sales were made at a discount, and of this $192,000,000, about $109,000,000 was sold by large industrial organizations to their employees at a discount.

In discussing House Bill No. 1023, we are particularly interested in the $109,000,000 figure. This amount to a difference between profit and loss to many smaller retailers and does not always amount to a savings to the consumer. We found that in many cases, standard price articles are used as "bait." As for instance, a $50 radio advertised nationally at such price may be offered at a 40% discount, but when items that do not carry a uniform standard price are sold, the price very often is from 10% to 50% higher than the price retailers obtain.

It would be false, of course, to state that the average savings to this "special class" is nil. There is an average savings of approximately 15%. This means that this $109,000,000 figure would grow to $125,350,000 in retail sales and this lends itself to an interesting observation.

In Pennsylvania we have a Mercantile Tax Law levying a $\frac{1}{2}$ mill tax on the gross volume of a wholesaler and 1 mill tax on the gross volume of a retailer. Employers who offer their employees the privilege of buying at a discount are classed neither as wholesalers nor as retailers, therefore making no return to the State, and as a result pay no tax. The wholesaler who sells at retail pays a tax upon his retail sales at the same rate as he does for his wholesale business. This naturally means a loss to the State in much needed revenue. Taking the \$192,000,000 sales diverted from retailing and adding 15% discount that we admit the "special class" saves, this would mean an added volume to retailing of \$220,800,000, thereby enabling the State to collect additional taxes. As the situation now stands, the Mercantile Tax Division of the Department of Revenue is unable, though willing, to keep a constant check on manufacturers and wholesalers who sell at retail in order to collect the true amount of taxes due the State, and the result is that the State collects only an estimated \$42,500 on these diverted sales, whereas, it should collect approximately \$221,000. This is definitely not the fault of the authorities in charge of the collection of this tax. They have been very cooperative and even anxious to obtain information of this leakage, but it would be humanly impossible to check on thousands of discount outlets without increasing the cost of collection to such an extent that nothing would be left for the State.

Another phase that lends itself to consideration is who saves this 15%. It is the low income group that is able to better itself and its living conditions by obtaining a 15% discount on their purchases? It is not. A survey, made by Gene J. Guttman of the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce of the University of Pennsylvania, disclosed that 8% of discount purchases are made by the lower income groups, 36% by the middle income groups, and 56% by the higher income groups. We therefore must conclude that if this unfair, un-American method of competition were stopped, it would not affect the standard of living of the greatest majority of our people. We believe that our economy must be geared for the greatest good for the greatest number.

Information released by the United States Department of Commerce, Bureau of Census, revealed that in 1939, Pennsylvania had 134,543 retail stores, representing an active proprietorship of 125,532, and employing 348,390 people. Comparing the number employed by retailing in 1939 with the number employed by the same group in 1929, we found that there are 16% less people employed by retailing now than there was in 1929. We submit that this is due entirely to the fact that the $220,800,000 retail sales volume has been diverted from regular retail channels. The Bill under consideration here would undoubtedly bring back most of the $109,000,000 diverted by industrial sales, thereby enabling retailing to expand, thereby bringing down the cost of distribution, and effect a savings of millions of dollars to the consuming public. We further submit that in such expansion, more people would have to be employed by retailing, and that the 16% unemployed now as compared with 1929 would be easily absorbed, and the need for additional help, because of the Wage and Hour Laws, would soon become apparent.

If the situation herein under discussion, however, is allowed to run rampant, it will grow like a leech upon our economy and the following important results are immediately discernible:

1. There will be empty stores in every city and town.
2. There will be decreased public demand for transportation to downtown and shopping centers.
3. Real estate values will fall and everyone owning property will suffer.
4. Power consumption will drop.
5. The tax income of the community will be drastically curtailed.
6. The actual volume of distribution will immediately suffer and mills will slow down.
7. All the advertising on earth will be unable to stem the downward spiral because advertising is built on the axiom that it is a support for and not an alternative to a strong retail stores system of display and distribution.
8. There will be more jobless in every branch of private and public enterprise and consequently more social unrest.

Once this spiral should get well started, it would be difficult to stage a revival because these trends will, unless drastically reversed by the conscious demand of society, be of a permanent rather than a temporary measure. We will continue to have the scientific knowledge which will make increased and more efficient production possible, but we will be less able to take care of what we produce and to see that it is quickly and efficiently promoted, advertised, sold, and consumed.

We admit that the retail store is imperfect, but whatever shall replace it must unquestionably fill everyone of the functional requirements which retailing now meets. Nothing must be eliminated—Nothing can be eliminated; and until the American public finds a suitable substitute for retailing, it would be economically unwise to allow retailing to get into such a position that it would adversely affect our whole economy.

It is peculiar that retailing cannot make arrangements with railroads, banks, and manufacturers, for employees of retailers to borrow money from the banks at a discount, obtain transportation from the railroads at a discount, or buy manufacturer's products at a discount, simply because such a person is employed by a retailer, and yet banking, transportation, and manufacturing is more dependent upon retailing than retailing is upon them, and yet these same groups feel that simply because they are large operators, retailing should allow discounts to their employees. They forget that each consumer is a worker or dependent upon a worker, and that if these workers who are employed by retailing are eventually forced out of their jobs, their business too will be affected. We feel that retailing is rising in justifiable protest at these trends, and therefore, we respectfully urge that, in the interest of the well-being of the people of this Commonwealth, House Bill No. 1023 should be enacted without controversy.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, the interesting address of the Senator from Luzerne quoted from a publication by a member of the faculty of the Wharton School. Can the gentleman from Luzerne tell me who wrote that report, and if he has a copy of it, I would like very much to examine it. I think those figures are very helpful.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, may I say to the Senator from Montgomery if he is interested I will furnish him a copy within the next day or two.

Mr. EDMONDS. Thank you very much.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I would be very much pleased also if the gentleman from Luzerne would tell us, when the bill comes up again, just what is the average wage of the poor boys and girls that are employed in these little retail shops at every street corner and out in the country, to see whether their wages of twelve or thirteen dollars a week will permit them to pay the prices for many conveniences we modern people enjoy today. I wish the gentleman from Luzerne would give that a little thought, and see whether he would begrudge a girl, earning thirteen dollars a week in these retail shops, that little discount the employer allows them in order that they may enjoy many of the conveniences they would not otherwise be able to enjoy.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I still say I can not follow what I consider an absolute perversion of facts as presented. If I wanted to build up an argument, I could start out here on a false illogical basis and deliver a beautiful oration, if I were permitted, from that improper start. The thing I object to, with the Senator from Fayette, is the fact that he makes a statement of fact which is not founded on fact, and then builds up a beautiful oration from that false basis. There has been no objection from those people about whom he lays awake at night and worries and frets so diligently. There are others of us here in this Senate who possess at least some responsive heart, and some responsive mind to the interests of the down-trodden individual. I do not think the Senator from Fayette can claim to have a corner upon all the sympathy and all the kindness and all the generosity in the world, but if he still persists in putting across the opinion he still remains the outstanding champion of the down-trodden and the common people and an advocate of this vast cause of democracy, I shall not deny the Senator the pleasure of enjoying that title, and without further adieu I confer upon you, sir, the gentleman from Fayette, the title of outstanding champion of the down-trodden common people.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 774, (House Bill No. 1282), entitled:

An Act providing that taxes on unseated lands shall be collected and returned in the same manner and at the same time as taxes on seated lands.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 890, (House Bill No. 139), entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act which became effective on the seventh day of July one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine (P. L. 194) entitled "An act to enlarge the jurisdiction of justices of the peace and regulating the fees of constables making sales under this act" further enlarging the jurisdiction of justices of the peace and extending the provisions of said act to aldermen

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I was very much alarmed yesterday by the statement of the gentleman from McKean that this bill would pass this Senate. I am not so much concerned about the amendment conferring additional jurisdiction upon the magistrates and aldermen as I am upon the fact there is an additional amendment to this bill which strikes out the word "magistrate" from the jurisdiction conferred by the original act of 1879. The original act read:

"Section 1. Be it enacted, etc. That the aldermen, magistrates and justices of the peace, in this Commonwealth, shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the courts of common pleas of all actions arising from contract, either express or implied, and of all actions of trespass," and so forth.

Mr. President, this amendment as it reads is that the alderman and the justices of the peace shall have that jurisdiction but not the magistrates. That means the present jurisdiction of magistrates in Philadelphia will be reduced to what is now the amended portion of the act, and if that is declared unconstitutional we will have our magistrates and we will be paying them salaries and they will have no duties to perform, excepting possibly criminal cases that might come before them, unless this bill in some other section includes criminal jurisdiction, I do not know—but in order to protect against that contingency I am offering the following amendment to the bill, the effect of which is to strike out the brackets from around the word "magistrate" and restore the word "magistrate" to the bill.

"Amend Section 1, page 2, line 4, by striking out before and after the word "magistrates" the light faced brackets."

Mr. BECKER. Mr. President, may I interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Certainly, Mr. President.

Mr. BECKER. Am I correct, Mr. President, that in Philadelphia the jurisdiction of magistrates and the Municipal Court in civil actions, for damages up to three hundred dollars is concurrent?

Mr. SHAPIRO. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. BECKER. I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. BECKER. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia happen to know why this word "magistrate" was eliminated from this amendment?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Well, Mr. President, all I know is that yesterday on the floor of this Senate somebody interested in this bill—whom I do not know—asked me my objection to the bill, and I explained it to him, and he suggested that was so but they could take the cases to the Municipal Court. In other words, we have a Municipal Court in Philadelphia and this gentleman wants to load the Municipal Court with five and ten dollar cases, which are now brought before magistrates, and which will of necessity now be brought before the Municipal Court. That is apparently back of the amendment to take the jurisdiction of magistrates away in these cases.

Mr. BECKER. Mr. President, I happen to be very much interested in this bill and I am also very much interested in this amendment, as I think it is a good amendment, and I ask my colleagues to vote to support the amendment.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I am very much not interested in this bill, but I think the amendment is a proper amendment and before we get to any of the clauses in the bill I think it is very proper to adopt this amendment. I agree with the gentleman from Lebanon it is a proper amendment and should be adopted.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

The first section of the bill was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to offer an amendment.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

"Amend Section 1, page 2, line 4, by striking out before and after the word "magistrates" the light faced brackets."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The title was read and agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I offer the following amendments.

The amendments were read as follows:

Amend title, page 1, by striking out in lines 6 and 7 the following: "further enlarging the jurisdiction of justices of the peace and"; Amend section 1, page 2, by striking out in lines 14 and 15 the following: "arising from claims for damages recoverable at the common law in actions"; Amend section 1, page 2, line 16, by inserting before the word "tover" the following: "and of"; Amend section 1, page 2, line 16, by striking out the following: "or trespass on the case"; Amend section 1, page 2, line 17, by inserting after the word "existing" the following: "between such actions."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. BECKER. Mr. President, I object to these amendments, and in support of my objection, I desire to make a very brief statement in connection with this bill.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Lebanon may proceed.

Mr. BECKER. Mr. President, this bill is now on second reading, and in view of the fact that what I shall have to say in connection with these amendments might again become pertinent on third reading, if the bill reaches third reading, I therefore desire that what I shall have to say now be deemed to have been said on third reading of this bill, if it gets to third reading.

There has been much controversy over this little bill. I should not say it has been one of the most important pieces of legislation proposed in the General Assembly, that is, at this session; at the same time I think there is a question here that is of importance to a certain class of litigants in the State of Pennsylvania who are entitled to consideration.

There is a legal question involved in this bill. My colleague, the distinguished Senator from McKean, Senator Wilson, has interested himself very seriously in the legal question involved, and I should not like to disagree with him too seriously, lest I might come off second best. However, I think there is also a practical question involved, and in order to state the practical question it is necessary to state very briefly and as simply as possible the legal question.

Under the common law forms and pleadings which we have had for many years in Pennsylvania, there have been terms of technicality in our litigation, of which this proposed Act of Assembly involves two. One is trespass and the other is trespass on the case.

In order as briefly and as clearly as possible to define the difference between these two terms, I might say that if this morning, as I was driving my automobile to Harrisburg, sitting at the wheel, I hit a pedestrian, in view of the fact that the cause of the collision was direct and occasioned by myself, the trespass in law is presumed to be a direct act, and in those cases the Act of Assembly to which this proposed amendment is introduced would apply, and the pedestrian whom I struck, if I were responsible in damages for the collision, could recover.

There is another type of accident in which, if, for instance, this afternoon while I am here in the Senate Chamber, someone driving my car under my direction or in my employ were to hit a pedestrian and cause injury, and the pedestrian were to seek a remedy against me, he would be obliged to bring his action in an action of trespass on the case; consequential damages, as we call them in the law, because the injury arose in consequence of the fact that I permitted somebody else or directed somebody else to drive my car.

The jurisdiction of aldermen, magistrates and justices of the peace at the present time, in cases of direct trespass, is fixed at a maximum of three hundred dollars. This proposed amendment to the Act of Assembly brings in the jurisdiction of magistrates, aldermen and justices of the peace in actions of trespass on the case to three hundred dollars. The argument will probably be made that it is unsafe to entrust to the minds of the minor judiciary, not learned in the law, the difference between an action of trespass and an action of trespass on the case, but that is not the question involved in this proposed legislation.

If this amendment is adopted that question will drop out, and magistrates, aldermen and justices of the peace will have jurisdiction in all of these cases, as I contend they should have, for the reason that it seems unwise and an unnecessary burden upon our courts of record to have them try all of the accident cases which arise at the present time.

Thus, if I become the victim of a reckless driver and it so happens that the trespass was not direct but was occasioned by someone on his behalf and he is financially irresponsible, and the action is in trespass on the case, and the bill is $45.50, I have no remedy before the minor judiciary to collect the $45.50, but I am obliged to incur counsel fees and the greater costs of filing fees with the prothonotary of the court of record and with the sheriff for making service of the writ, so that the cost of my remedy under those circumstances is almost prohibitive.

It will be stated in opposition to this bill that unfortunately in so many cases brought before justices of the peace that eventually the judgment is for the plaintiff—so that it is sometimes facetiously said among lawyers that J. P. stands not for justice of the peace but judgment for the plaintiff. I say in answer to that, first, I am not willing to admit that the minor judiciary in Pennsylvania is not administering justice as it should be administered. If they are, then they should be continued. I am not willing to label them as being incompetent to perform the duties the law assigns to them.

On the other hand, I do say if we take this class of cases and keep them out of the hands of the minor judiciary—for the reasons I have stated a few minutes ago, because of the amount of these small claims—and impose that duty upon legitimate claimants for damages against irresponsible tortfeasers, then, by reason of the fact that they can not afford to bring suit on account of the costs involved, we might as well say, on the other hand, that at the instant of the collision there is judgment for the defendant, so I say, in support of this bill and in answer to the statements that will be made, that in all cases before magistrates and the minor judiciary, if judgment is likely to follow for the plaintiff, so do I say that in most instances, if we lack a quick expeditious jurisdiction and procedure to collect these small claims, that we might as well say in the first instance that judgment is for the defendant.

There is another very important reason in this day and generation why I think this jurisdiction should be conferred upon this minor judiciary. We have a great many of these automobile cases, particularly at the present time, in which the amount of the claim is under three hundred dollars, and in many instances, where the parties involved and responsible for damages are not irresponsible and are insured, they are represented by insurance companies, and there is no one better trained and in possession of better knowledge of the fact that they have the weapon and defense of forcing an honest and legitimate claimant into the Court of Common Pleas, where the expense is greater and the costs are greater, than insurance companies in defending these claims. I think there is not anything in the way of legislation of this type—in view of what has been said this afternoon about a champion of the common people by the distinguished Senators on the other side—I do not think there is any legislation that we could pass in this session of the General Assembly that would serve a more useful purpose for this class of litigants who find themselves in a situation where they have a small number of dollars involved and the cost of prosecuting their claims in the Courts of Common Pleas is prohibitive.

On second reading, and I hope on third reading, I ask my colleagues to vote for this bill with the Shapiro amendments, and on second reading I ask my colleagues to vote against the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel.

Mr. COX. Mr. President I stand shoulder to shoulder with my friend from Lebanon, Senator Becker, in his support of this bill, with the Shapiro amendments. I want to congratulate him on the fine manner in which he has explained the importance of this bill to the average man.

There is much that could be said relative to the legal history of our jurisprudence system in Pennsylvania, but this is not the time nor the place for that.

I know from my practical experience as a lawyer, and I know from my experience as a member of the community, that one of the most important of all our judicial offices is that of the minor judiciary. I have noticed, in years gone by, frequent attacks on the minor judiciary and those attacks have been occasioned for the most part not because a great majority of the minor judiciary failed to do their job in a fair and equitable manner but because, just as in every other vocation and just as in every other profession, there have been a few people who have taken advantage of the situation, and for that reason have cast disfavor on the rest of the members of their profession.

The minor judiciary is the poor man's court. The magistrate or the justice of the peace is well acquainted with the people in his community and many times simple matters can be brought before him and they can be settled without any great expense, either in money or in time.

This question of distinction between trespass and trespass in the case, and many other forms, we learned when, in law school, has come out of the past, it is a by-product of the English system of law which we inherited in this Commonwealth.

There are many, many cases in our Commonwealth, in our courts, in which the courts have held that justices of the peace do have jurisdiction in cases of trespass in the case, but there are other lists of cases which have held justices of the peace or the minor judiciary do not have that power or that authority. There is no reason in fact why he should not have it; there is no reason for that distinction.

I feel if the members of the Senate support this bill, with the Shapiro amendments, they will be doing something that is truly good for the small man.

One of the big difficulties in the practice of law is that the cost of justice is too high. If a person is obligated to you for a small amount, as an example we will say ten dollars, you are in no position to go to a lawyer and enter suit in the Common Pleas Court, and a result of that fact, many times when an injustice has been done there is no remedy provided.

I might also cite as an example, supplemental to the example given by my friend, the gentleman from Lebanon, Senator Becker, a situation such as this, if I were to throw a wrench at you and hit you, that would be direct trespass, and if the damages did not exceed the sum of five hundred dollars, you could go before a member of the minor judiciary and you could enter suit, but if I were to place the wrench on the window sill of my hotel and the wind would blow that wrench off the sill and it should fall and strike you while passing below, in the street, you would have no recourse before the minor judiciary. It is a technical matter and it is rather difficult in a limited time to attempt to explain it, but I feel that every lawyer in the Senate agrees with me, even my friend from McKean, Senator Wilson and I sincerely urge you to support this bill.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I have been somewhat surprised at the arguments made for this bill. They have been conducted in entirely too narrow a range, and that is because the question is not limited to automobiles.

If this bill passes in its present form it will give aldermen and justices of the peace jurisdiction to try any case in which anyone has failed to perform their duty to someone else. That is a jurisdiction that has never been given to a judge in Pennsylvania. Our Common Pleas judges do not have the right to fix the amount of damages in a damage case.

Under the laws of Pennsylvania, as they have come down and been worked up by the members of the legal profession, we sometimes take judgment on the pleadings in damage cases. In other words, we get a judgment that the defendant was negligent in the manner the plaintiff asserts and that he is liable to the plaintiff, but when we get that, the court can not fix the amount of damages, the Common Pleas Court can not fix the amount of damages; he has to call in a jury to fix them.

These matters are not an assistance to the poor, they are a detriment to the poor, and it is a surprising thing to hear on this floor the argument that this bill will help the poor.

A man that has means and who is sued before a justice of the peace can take an appeal and have his case decided before a jury under the instructions of the court, but the poor man that these gentlemen stand here to defend has either to give bail, real estate bail in double the amount of the debt, interest and costs, or he has to give bail for the costs that have ensued and will ensue and pay the costs up to date.

Let me make myself plain. If a poor man is sued for one hundred and fifty dollars and a judgment is recovered against him before an alderman or a justice of the peace, in order to get that tried in a Court of Common Pleas before a jury he has to give bail, real estate bail, either in double the amount of the debt, interest and costs, or he has to give bail for the costs that have ensued and will ensue and to pay the costs up to date, and I say to you this bill will put the poor man of Pennsylvania where his case will be tried before a justice of the peace and where he can not take an appeal, and where he will have to have his matters decided by a man who three months before was wheeling a wheelbarrow in a brick yard or carrying a hod, and I submit to the members of the Senate that is absolutely unfair to say to the poor man of Pennsylvania, you shall have your case tried before a man whose only qualification is that he got more votes than somebody else in the election.

Now, Mr. President, I want to say this to the Senate of Pennsylvania, that I do not expect to change anybody's vote in this Senate. I am asking the indulgence of my colleagues in the Senate, because I feel strongly on this matter. I do not think, I am sure, there is not any member in this Senate, unless it is my beloved colleague, Senator Henry I. Wilson, who has any justice of the peace experience that approaches mine, because I come from a generation when we studied law in an office before we went to law school; after that I became a district attorney and I think that I know justices of the peace. They are my friends, and whether I oppose this bill or not, I think I will have the support of the justices of the peace of my community.

This bill has two reasons for passing. One has been expressed by the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Becker, that it will remove little trivial cases from the Courts of Common Pleas of our counties. God forbid the day will ever come in Pennsylvania when the small case, when the poor man's case that involves one hundred or two hundred dollars will be a nuisance on the dockets of the courts of this Commonwealth. The purpose of the courts is not to try cases involving large sums of money, but rather to hear the causes of the poor and give them relief when they are in distress. You are committing these cases, involving small amounts of money, the poor man's litigation, to the custody of men with no training and with no knowledge of the law.

May I say this to the Senate, I say again I do not expect to influence or change a vote upon this bill, but I speak because these matters are matters of deep conviction with me.

This does not only include automobile accidents; this trespass on the case goes back five or six hundred years before the automobile was dreamed of. May I ask the Senate of Pennsylvania how a justice of the peace will determine when a car driven by a daughter or by a wife is used in the family business and when the owner of the car becomes responsible; how and under what process a bricklayer or a hod carrier can determine whether or not, when I have a property and somebody falls on the property, whether or not I am responsible, whether or not my duty to that man has been performed, and when I begin to be responsible to him.

The gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Becker, has very properly mentioned something which he knew—and I bow to his adroitness and his cleverness in mentioning it—the fact that we commit the poor man to a tribunal where causes are tried and are decided on whether or not the judicial officers shall receive money or not. If we had a judge that was financially interested in a case before him, if we had a jurymen who was interested in a case, he would be thereby disqualified from hearing that case but it has been notorious in Pennsylvania, as Senator Becker has almost admitted—he tried to anticipate, and properly tried to anticipate, what I was going to say—that every justice of the peace is interested in the costs in a case and he has to decide it. If he was not, he would not be human. If a judge or if a jurymen were financially interested in that transaction, he would be prohibited from trying that case.

Mr. President, I think these gentlemen who are advocating this bill have overlooked one thing that is quite serious. They do not realize that a man of means, a man of property, will be sued on these transactions, and litigation will grow by leaps and bounds in Pennsylvania, because these damage cases, which they would take to members of the bar and which they could not recover on, will be brought in before a justice of the peace and judgment obtained before that justice of the peace, because of one thing and nothing else, and that is under the law of Pennsylvania when a judgment is obtained against you, and you do not satisfy it, you can not get another automobile license without performing conditions that almost nobody can perform, and the poor man who can not take an appeal, who can not give bond in double the amount of the debt, interest and costs, will have a restriction placed upon his right to obtain an automobile license. But back of all of this and away beyond this with me is the fact that we have never given the poor man with a small cause over to the control of unlearned judicial officers who have an interest in the disposal of those cases. You are taking and putting the poor man in a position where he can not pay the costs and if he is ignorant and the matter is small and he does not get a lawyer to take an appeal, they will have final judgment against him, and a few days after that a constable will levy on his furniture, and while under the law he is entitled to three hundred dollars exemption, I know from very sad experience that it is a very difficult thing to get a constable to set aside that three hundred dollars exemption when a poor man's property is levied upon.

Mr. President, this is a miserable bill, this is a bill that commits you to the custody of people with no training and no thought of what they are doing and with no possible way in which they can determine what the rights of people are. It is not only in connection with automobiles. Do you know, if by any stretch of the imagination a justice of the peace can tell you that you play your radio too loud or too soft, or that you have your sidewalk too slippery or not slippery enough, there will be an action against you for it.

I ask the members of this Senate how a justice of the peace will determine whether or not that ice on your sidewalk has been there long enough, or that the owner of the property knew or should know that ice was there and in bad condition. It is the general supposition in Pennsylvania that if you fall on a sidewalk, the owner or the city is responsible. That is not the law; that is justice of the peace law. It is only when the owner of that property has been guilty of negligence in failing to perform his duty, and it has stayed there so long that the owner should know, or did know or should have known it. Why, Mr. President, every word in this act of assembly is in the act of 1879; the wording of this act gives them this jurisdiction as in the act of 1879. The Legislature passed the act of 1879 and committed trespass of all kinds and descriptions to justices of the peace and aldermen, but the courts have held that they did not have jurisdiction. In 1929, the Legislature of Pennsylvania passed an act that in hundred dollar matters, when the bill of expenses, where the damages were liquidated, justices of the peace had jurisdiction and the language gives them jurisdiction, both in trespass and trespass on the case, but the courts of Pennsylvania are now holding, and the Courts of Dauphin County have held, that even though that language is that broad, a justice of the peace does not have that jurisdiction.

Mr. President, I am greatly obliged to my colleagues for allowing me to make these remarks. I do not expect to influence anybody's vote, but I do say this: that the poor man of Pennsylvania is entitled to have his damages fixed by a jury under instructions of the court, the same as a large suit is decided; he is entitled to have his case brought in a Common Pleas Court and have it a mixed question of law and fact, where the Court tells the jury what the law is and they apply it, and have the Court sit there to watch to see that those circumstances are taken care of. If an individual appears before a justice of the peace in such a case and if he has no money for a lawyer, there is no way before a justice of the peace he can get a lawyer but if he comes in to a Common Pleas Court or to a Court of Quarter Sessions and he is poor and has not the way to do it, the Court will take care of him and see that his rights are taken care of, and if they are not taken care of, he will take care of them himself.

Mr. President, we have spoken on this bill, all of us, as though the bill were on final passage, under allowance by the presiding officer, who has been very kind to us, and we have all probably transgressed the rules, but after we got into it, the Chair has been kind enough to allow me to follow the others.

I do say, Mr. President, to the members of the Senate that this is bad legislation, it is committing the poor man to a court where he can not get justice, and it is making a farce out of the administration of justice in Pennsylvania.

Mr. BECKER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Wilson.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from McKean permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BECKER. Mr. President, the Senator from McKean finds fault with the fact that before the minor judiciary these cases are decided by bricklayers and hod carriers. With the experience in trial work of which the Senator from McKean has spoken, I should like to interrogate him and ask him what does he do when he finds a bricklayer or a hod carrier on a jury panel before which he tries a case in a Common Pleas Court?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, the place for bricklayers and hod carriers, and the fellows who wheel wheelbarrows in the brick yards, is upon the juries of Pennsylvania, because when a man has a cause that he has to try, whether he is charged with murder or whether it is a civil case, the language of the old common law is that "he puts himself on his country," and when I have a jury trial I want bricklayers, hod carriers, bankers, doctors and dressmakers, the common people of Pennsylvania of all classes and conditions, because they are the people of Pennsylvania who have the right to decide these things, and Mr. President, when they decide them wrong when they decide them contrary to the evidence, contrary to the law, there still can be made a motion for a new trial, there is a motion to arrest judgment, there is a motion for judgment non obstante veredicto, under which the court regulates the decisions of the hod carrier and the bricklayer.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I submit that by virtue of these amendments, trespass on the case will be eliminated from the jurisdiction of the magistrates, justices of the peace and aldermen. In my opinion, if this bill passes, this will be a witch's brew that will kill the blind goddess of justice.

It is a known fact in Pennsylvania that most of the justices of the peace are not learned at law; some of them are gentlemen engaged in many pursuits, and they have many—I speak colloquially—chestnuts in the fire. Between their ignorance and between their desire to help the plaintiff, many people will be deprived of justice.

It reminds me of the good old times when polygamy was still allowed by the law. A middle-aged man had two wives, he had an older one and a younger one, and whenever he would come to spend an evening with his old wife, she would try to remove his raven hair, so that he would look older, and whenever he came to spend an evening with the young wife, she would try to remove the gray hair and make him look younger, so that between those two women, the man became baldheaded.

That is what is going to happen in this case. A man will appear before a magistrate or a justice of the peace, and judgment will be entered against him by a person who does not know the intricacies of the law governing trespass on the case.

The gentleman from Lebanon, Senator Becker, in a most elucidating exposition of the question, forgot to mention the difficult problem, like the application of a hind sight test and a foresight test, which has had plenty of volumes written on it; such persons as the late Justice Cardozo used to spend many months in trying celebrated cases, which were very complicated, and now you will appear in a God forsaken little place before a magistrate, and he will try to give you justice simply by deciding by rule of thumb, without any real knowledge of the law.

In a good many communities, when you enter you see a very interesting sign, "This is a speed trap". That means, if you appear before a justice of the peace, he will not listen to your case, he simply fines you, because he gets a certain percentage of the fines.

I believe, Mr. President, that if this law passes, many people who live in urban sections and who travel on the highways of Pennsylvania, will be exposed to the danger of having a quick hearing held without a delving into the problems of law. It is a most dangerous piece of legislation and if we pass it today it will haunt us for the next three years.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I just want to say one further thing to the Senate. There is a lot of phooey going on about this bill. There are no litigants in Pennsylvania who are here asking for this legislation. This is a bill to increase the pay, by the public, of the justices of the peace and constables; that is the only thing that is back of this bill. There are no litigants in Pennsylvania claiming they can not get justice or that it costs too much. The only persons who are back of this bill are justices of the peace and constables who want to get business and make some money.

Mr. President, a great many years ago we used to have assault and battery cases in Pennsylvania, and our courts were full of them until we gave justices of the peace power to dispose of those cases, and since then assault and battery cases in our Quarter Sessions Courts have been almost unheard of.

Back in these corridors here are some gentlemen who speak very softly or very persuasively, and they are the greatest proponents of this bill.

I can not agree, Mr. President, with the violent remarks of the gentleman from Fayette in regard to these people who come here and watch over us so solicitously for fear we might strike our foot against a stone, but I do agree with the remarks of the Senator who sits behind him and who looks at the Senator from Fayette with such admiring and idolatrous eyes, Senator Reed, when he spoke upon this floor in regard to those lobbyists who make up our poor fool simple minds on every subject that comes before us. They are the ones who want this bill, they are the ones that create the demand, and I have no doubt that when the roll is called, we will look at them—and over their shoulders at the votes back of them—and probably the bill will pass. But I do say this, I would like to be a member of the Legislature of Pennsylvania long enough that I would be allowed some time to make my poor stammering mind up myself, without the assistance of somebody standing behind me and leading me along gently, for fear I might not know what to do.

That is the argument for this bill, the justice of the peace and constable lobby, which wants this bill so that the people they represent can make some money. I am not speaking unkindly of men who come here to tell us what to do and to guide and look after us. Many of them are my friends, but they are the cause of this great enthusiasm for this bill—not the people of Pennsylvania.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the Senators, amendments were presented by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, the amendments to the section read, and the question now is, will the Senate agree to the amendments.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Somerset will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, have the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, been voted on?

The PRESIDENT. They were adopted.

The question now is will the Senate agree to the amendments presented by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, in connection with the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, may we have them read again.

(The amendments were again read.)

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STIEFEL. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, does the gentleman from Philadelphia have a copy of this section as it will read after the amendments are inserted? May we have that read, because my poor little mind does not grasp these amendments so well. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia have a copy of those amendments so that we may have the section read as it really is?

MOTION TO LAY AMENDMENTS ON THE TABLE

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, in line with the desire of the Senator from McKean to examine the amendments, may I move that the bill and the amendments be placed on the table.

I might say for the information of the gentleman from McKean I have no other copy of the amendments. If he desires, I can tell him just what the amendments do.

(The amendments were again read.)

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Roll call, Mr. President.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON and were as follows, viz:

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Lackawanna will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, since the beginning of history, yes, even before written history began, there was implanted in the human breast a divine spark, a desire to live life under better conditions, life with higher ideals, life with all the comforts that a person could secure.

Back in primitive days the cave man desired these comforts, and one of the very first things that afforded him this comfort was the building of an improvised chair, which gave him the opportunity to spend many happy hours in his hut. Since that period of time chairs have played an important part in world history and human relationships. History has been made, dynasties and nations built as the result of conferences held around comfortable chairs.

I think one of the most beautiful poems I have ever heard is the poem about mother, the last verse of which runs as follows:

"As he goes down the hill of life,
He in his daily prayer
Thanks God that all his boys were born
In that old bye-bye chair."

Recently, Mr. President, there appeared around the Hall of the Senate a new chair. That, under ordinary circumstances, would be an extremely unimportant incident, except that this chair happens to be the barber's chair. The barber's chair has played a very, very important part in the proceedings of the Senate of Pennsylvania.

Only the male of the species, the adult male of the species, will appreciate the ecstasy of relaxation in a barber's chair, while getting a haircut and a shave. Many of the most important bills in the history of the Commonwealth had their birth when some able Senator was sitting in the barber's chair doing nothing but thinking. Many of you men here who were here in the 1939 session will recall very vividly that in the early part of that session there were some things pulled off in the barber's chair, and it was not hair.

Mr. President, I have in my hand here an original poem, written by a poetic member of the Senate, who, I think has done a very, very fine job in this original composition, and I refer, of course, to the gentleman from Butler, Senator Carr. The proper way to get this poem across would be to sing it, because it is a parody on Joyce Kilmer's memorable tribute to the tree. I do not want to invade the field of Lawrence Tibbet and Crosby, so I think I better stick to speaking. That again reminds me, Mr. President, if I may be forgiven or permitted, to tell a short story of the fellow who thought he was a good singer, and who got a job as a song plugger in a local music shop, and one of his friends came to him and said, "How are you doing in your new job?" and he said, "I understand from the manager that business has increased thirty per cent, the sale of sheet music has increased thirty per cent the first week." and the friend said, "Well, how do you account for that?" and he said, "I understand from him that every time I sing 'My sister and I' they sell one hundred copies of 'Mexicali Rose'."

Mr. President, I do not want to be subjected to a similar rebuke, but I do want to read into the record, a tribute to the new barber chair—and I might say incidentally I think the Republican Party ought to take the old barber chair and put it in one of the state archives; because it played a very important part in the organization of the Senate of 1939.

Mr. President, I now read an original poem and I might say I am indebted to my good friend, Senator Carr, for the composition of this poem. Those of you who have listened to the rendition of the beautiful song "Trees" will follow me very closely.

"I think that I shall never care
 "To sit in any better chair
 "Than this that's trimmed in brilliant red
 "In which no Senator has bled.
 "This chair within the barber shop "Whose beauty none shall ever top,
 "Rhymes crop out beneath my hair:
 "It took some great guy to make this chair."

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I was much interested in the discussion of chairs, just given by the gentleman from Lackawanna. I like the barber very much, but I do not know anything about his chair. The other chairs that interested me in the discussion were chairs used by those who conduct conferences. The gentleman spoke about conferences being conducted from easy chairs. We have had conferences in and around the Hill here for some time relative to closing this session, and perhaps the chairs the conferees are using are the easy chairs that the gentleman referred to, and I would suggest, if that be true, that we take the chairs away from the conferees and make them operate standing up, and maybe they will come to a conclusion and we will get away from here.

CHANGE IN MEMBERSHIP CONFERENCE COMMITTEE, HOUSE BILL No. 481

The PRESIDENT. On behalf of the President Pro Tempore, the Chair announces appointment of the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Homsher, as a conferee on the part of the Senate on House Bill No. 481, in substitution for the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Kephart, who has resigned from the Conference Committee.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARTLETT. Mr. President, I request permission to address the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Northampton will proceed.

Mr. BARTLETT. Mr. President, when the Senate adopted concurrent resolution 118, which refers to obtaining certain information from the Department of Public Assistance, the Secretary of the Senate was requested to obtain that certain information from that department. The department has replied in a letter to me, and I ask to have this letter spread upon the record.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection, the request of the gentleman from Northampton is granted.

Mr. BARTLETT. The letter reads as follows:

"June 11, 1941

"The Honorable Charles A. P. Bartlett
Chairman, Committee on Welfare,
Public Assistance and Pensions
Senate of Pennsylvania
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

"Dear Senator Bartlett:

"At the meeting of the State Board of Public Assistance April 30, 1941, I read to the members of the Board Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 118, requesting the Department of Public Assistance to raise the permissible maximum face value of insurance of assistance recipients from $500 to $1000. The points in the resolution were discussed at some length by the members of the Board.

"The responsibility of the State Board of Public Assistance is quite extensive, since the regulations adopted by it establish eligibility for assistance and the nature and extent of such eligibility. This responsibility is placed upon the State Board of Public Assistance by Section 2504-A of Act No. 395 of 1937 and Section 6 of the Public Assistance Act. It was the opinion of each member of the State Board that a regulation allowing every member of an assistance family to have $1000 worth of insurance would raise a question as to the true assistance needs of such applicants or recipients. It was pointed out that many persons not receiving assistance do not have insurance in these amounts and are unable to leave estates of as much as $1000.

"The members of the State Board did recognize, however, that the existing insurance regulations were subject to legitimate criticism because they required persons who possess more than $500 worth of insurance to reduce their policies to that amount before they could become eligible for assistance. The Board agreed, therefore, that individuals might have any amount of insurance, and that such insurance need not be reduced to the permissible maximum if the insurance over $500 was assigned to the Department to cover assistance received. This means, on the one hand, that persons applying for assistance would not have to reduce their insurance coverage, since it might be difficult for them to replace it. It also means that they would not be required to buy types of insurance sold in amounts under $1000, which are generally not as advantageous as the larger policies. On the other hand, assignment (or making the Department beneficiary) would require that assistance be repaid from any insurance collected in excess of $500, the permissible maximum.

"There are several advantages to this new regulation. Persons who come on assistance for short periods only would not have their insurance coverage disturbed. When they leave assistance rolls, they could either allow the assignments to stand, or, by repaying assistance received, could have the assignments removed. If they allow the assignments to stand, assistance would not be repaid until the insurance was collected, and then only from amounts above $500, and never in excess of the actual amount of assistance received.

"Do you agree that the revised policy on insurance meets the main objectives of Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 118? The State Board will welcome your comments and the comments of the members of the Welfare Committee, as well as those of the sponsors of the resolution.

Sincerely yours,

FRANK A. ROBBINS, JR.,
State Board of Public Assistance."

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I have no objection to having the letter spread upon the record, but I would like to make a brief statement, so that the record may be kept clear. The letter that you now have on the desk, of which I have a copy, is very misleading, in fact it is false, because a portion of paragraph 2 of that letter reads as follows:

"It was the opinion of each member of the state board that a regulation allowing every member of an assistance family to have one thousand dollars worth of insurance would raise a question as to the true assistance needs of such applicants or recipients."

Now, Mr. President, that letter refers to a resolution that was passed by this body, introduced by myself and my colleague from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, and that resolution had no such wording, and I do not know how they arrived at that conclusion.

That resolution read that the aggregate sum would not exceed one thousand dollars for one or any member or members of a family, but they have issued a false statement, by trying to make us believe that the resolution read that each member might be permitted to carry the sum of one thousand dollars.

I want to keep the record clear. I have no objection but I would like to have my statement follow the letter as it appears in the Journal.

MOTION TO READ BILLS THE FIRST TIME

Mr. WADE, Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committees for the first time at today's session.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to make a brief statement.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cambria may proceed.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I noticed last week the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, introduced a certain bill and according to the time piece on my wrist, within seven minutes from the time the bill was introduced it went into committee, came out and received first reading. That, I believed was the record for 1941, at least I thought it was, but tonight that record has been broken by a minute and a half. We now have had a bill introduced, sent to the Committee on Appropriations, reported out and given first reading in five and one half minutes.

I am told we are about to adjourn this week, so I have one matter that is very important. In case it comes to a head, I will be compelled tonight to introduce a bill, report it out and have it read.

Therefore, Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Bartlett.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Northampton permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BARTLETT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Bartlett, is the chairman of the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions, is that correct.

Mr. BARTLETT. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Being Chairman of that important committee, may I ask the gentleman from Northampton whether he has any knowledge of any forth-coming bills that might be in his possession, pertaining to raising the assistance to the needy of our state.

Mr. BARTLETT. No meeting of that committee is scheduled, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, is the gentleman from Northampton aware of the fact that the Federal Government now has on the statute books legislation giving a grant of twenty dollars per month to those states which might match that with their own funds, to take care of the needy of our state who are above sixty-five years of age.

Mr. BARTLETT. I am not familiar with that Federal Legislation, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Does the gentleman from Northampton know whether or not the Federal Government makes any allotment to our Commonwealth now for the needy of our Commonwealth.

Mr. BARTLETT. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, what is the amount they pay, does the gentleman know, towards those receiving old age assistance?

Mr. BARTLETT. I can not answer that question, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. The gentleman from Northampton can not answer?

Mr. BARTLETT. No, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. I think first I might enlighten the gentleman from Northampton. We are today receiving the sum of fifteen dollars per month from the Federal Government, given to those who are above sixty-five years of age and are found to be needy, but we have on our statute books at Washington legislation giving twenty dollars to those states that will take advantage of it and match it with their own twenty dollars, therefore making it possible to pay the aged of our Commonwealth who are in need above sixty-five years of age, the sum of forty dollars. I was very hopeful possibly this session of the Legislature might enact legislation in conformity with the Federal Legislation, and the reason I interrogated the gentleman was because I was very hopeful that possibly he might introduce legislation to take advantage of the federal grant, but now he has informed me that we are not going to take advantage of it; is that correct?

Mr. BARTLETT. Mr. President, I have no knowledge of any bill providing such terms.

Mr. HALUSKA. Does the gentleman from Northampton know whether the administration has in mind any such bill?

Mr. BARTLETT. I am not familiar with any such bill.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, having just lost the world's record for putting bills in and out, as defeated champion of fast foot work I think the gentleman from Cambria is entitled to the slight observation that the relatively of time is not important. The oldest man in history lived 864 years, and he died, and he occupies three lines in the Testament; Christ lived but thirty-three years and occupies an entire book, so it is not a question of relatively of time; it is the relative importance of the bill itself.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, the remarks of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, might be humorous to him but whenever you consider that we are here to deal with very serious matters, matters dealing with the life of every citizen of this Commonwealth, he might view the proposition in a different light.

We have a system by which this Senate is run, and I might say I am a member of that Committee on Appropriations, and I know I did not attend any meeting of the Committee on Appropriations to voice my sentiment one way or the other on whether that bill should be reported out or not, and I resent it. I think I am entitled, as a member of that committee, to be notified when there is a meeting and to attend that meeting in the usual course and say whether I want to vote to report a bill out or not.

Now, Mr. President, there is another matter, too, that is in my craw at this time, and that is the letter which was read into the record by the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Bartlett. The last paragraph of that letter said:

"Do you agree that the revised policy on insurance meets the main objectives of Senate concurrent Resolution No. 118? The State Board will welcome your comments and the members of the Welfare Committee, as well as those of the sponsors of the resolution."

Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Northampton, Senator Bartlett.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Northampton permit himself to be interrogated?

* Mr. BARTLETT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, has the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions made any answer to the question propounded by the writer of that letter?

Mr. BARTLETT. No, Mr. President.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Have the sponsors of the resolution been given an opportunity to consult with the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions to formulate an answer, if they have an answer to make.

Mr. BARTLETT. No, Mr. President.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Thank you very much. Now, Mr. President, I want to agree with the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Haluska, that that letter is a fraud, a damnable fraud. They merely say here they are going to continue the policy that they had before the introduction of this resolution, serial number 118. They say in this letter they are going to do the same thing they were doing before we took action. The way they did it before was to require individuals to reduce their insurance to five hundred dollars, or else assign the difference to the Department of Public Assistance, and that is what they say they are going to do in the future, according to the terms of this letter; so they have thumbed their noses at us here, despite the fact that we gave them life and tomorrow if we see fit we may abolish the Department of Public Assistance, but nevertheless they have no consideration for this body and they are going to continue to do what they were doing before any resolution was adopted or before anything was said in this Senate.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. CHAPMAN. I ask permission to make a short explanation, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Warren will proceed.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I want to explain the action of the Appropriations Committee. I might say that a committee of three has been appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and those three were consulted on every bill that has been reported out by that committee.

RECESS

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for a half an hour.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

SENATE BILL No. 1215, ON FINAL PASSAGE CALLED UP

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I now call up Senate Bill No. 1215, on final passage, postponed, on page 21 of the Calendar.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1215, entitled:

A Supplement to the act, approved the sixteenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (Appropriation Acts, 12A), entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive, Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt and the support of the public schools for two years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-one, and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-one."

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I am glad we have had an unanimous vote on this bill. I was about to explain, after the bill was read, that this is a bill which will be a supplement to the general appropriation bill which at present carries but two items, the general appropriation to the Department of Public Instruction and an amendment carrying an appropriation to the Department of Property and Supplies for the Soldiers and Sailors Home at Erie. It is expected that this bill will be amended in the House to include appropriation items which were cut from the general appropriation bill and whatever other items may be necessary.

I might also say at this time, Mr. President, we deeply regret the delay and inconvenience caused the members of the Senate, but we think it has been time well spent because we are finally in accord to such an extent we believe without any question we can get out of here and end the session by Saturday of this week.

If there are any questions in connection with any of these matters I shall be glad to answer them if I can; if not I am about to propose that we adjourn.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Wednesday, July 9, 1941, at 1:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 11:59, p. m., Eastern Standard Time, until Wednesday, July 9, 1941, at 1:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, July 8, 1941

The House met at 12 m.

The SPEAKER (Elmer Kilroy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Donald McFall offered the following prayer:

Our God and Father, we pray for the state and for the world. We know that all forms of exploitation, of discrimination of caste or color, of violence and war, of deception and hypocrisy in our national and international life are an abomination to Thee. We would help to bring peace in our time, O Lord. We ask for strength to be calm, reasonable, and slow to anger in days of tension and strain in international affairs.

Bless and guide the President of the United States.

Endue him with wisdom, truth, and goodness that he may govern well and serve the cause of justice and peace. Help each of us to be good citizens of Thy Kingdom, and of our State and Nation. We pray this in the name of Thy Son, Jesus the Christ. Amen.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CORDIER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I hold in my hand an editorial from the Johnstown Democrat pertaining to a question which is pertinent to a matter of vital interest that is now before the General Assembly. This editorial was written by a former Member of this House who I am sure we all know was one of the ablest Members of this General Assembly when he served here. This particular editorial is headed "Fire the Communists," and I quote from that editorial as follows:

"Some Pennsylvania teachers have been kicked out of their union because they are Communists. Unions have the power to expel when members go sour on their Americanism. Teachers who are kicked out of their unions because they are Communists should be kicked out of the schools because they are Communists. The people of Pennsylvania do not want Communists, "fellow travelers"—potential traitors—doing the teaching. The Commies, however, grin and say they are protected by the Teacher Tenure Act. The school boards are finding the Commies have the Teacher Tenure Law on their side.

"The Teacher Tenure Law should be amended to give school boards the right to fire instructors who run to subversive teaching. The teachers reply that they shouldn't be subjected to possible school board bigotry and narrow mindedness." Who are these teachers who have such a monopoly on patriotism that they can turn up their educated noses at school boards? When it comes to determining what is and what is not subversive teaching we should rather trust the school boards than the teachers. And we don't think so much of some school boards.

"There are bills in the possession of the House which, if enacted, would permit the various school boards to fire the Communists.

"It is argued that you can't tell what a teacher thinks and that teachers should not be dismissed unless they commit an "overt act"—throw a bomb or something like that. Perhaps you can't tell what a teacher thinks, but it is sometimes easy enough to tell what a teacher teaches. When a teacher's teachings ARE subversive the place for that teacher is out.

"Who is to tell whether a teacher's teachings are subversive?" asked the theoreticians. Right there is the nub of the whole business. The Communist teachers argue they are the ones who should pass judgment on their own teachings. Real Americans, however, would probably prefer the finding of the school board to that of the subversive teacher.

"But," say the teachers, "if the school boards are given the opportunity they will persecute innocent teachers, they will engage in witch hunts, they will do all manner of improper things." Again we ask, who are these teachers? By what right do they say that school boards are wicked—or so dumb—while they are so pure and so wise?

"The Republican minority in the House favors the enactment of some bill—any bill—which will make it possible to drive the Communists out of the schools. The Democrats—so far—have been standing with the Communists. The Democrats in the House are making a mistake. A party that is afraid of a few Communist teachers isn't a party the people of this State are likely to trust very far or very long. The people are a bit touchy about their schools. And the people don't like Communists.

"The folks back home should tell their members of the General Assembly to amend the Teacher Tenure Act with sufficient vigor to make it possible for school boards to fire teachers who are Communists, and who never should have been hired in the first place. Democratic members of the House should force the hand of the House. If they decline to do so, the Republican Members should act.

"No Democratic or Republican Member of the General Assembly who refuses to vote in favor of kicking the Communists out of the schools should ever again be permitted to hold any public office in Pennsylvania. If the Democrats line up with the Communists they are creating a campaign issue that will lick them—and they will deserve to be licked."

Mr. Speaker, I think that editorial is very concise and very pertinent to a question of vital concern to the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania now before this Session. As I utter these words there are within the walls of this House a great sprinkling of members of the Communist party who have come here and received all the benefits of democracy and all of the benefits provided for in the Constitution of the United States. Yet they believe in a philosophy that will provide for the overthrow of that form of government by the very Constitution that gives them the opportunities that they have under this democracy. I say that the vast majority of citizens of the Commonwealth are looking to this Legislature with anxious eyes and they are asking each Member of this General Assembly to stand up and be counted. They are insisting that we do something about this question and that we once and for all rid this state of the great scourge that has infested it and has foisted itself upon the clear thinking people of this Commonwealth.
